IL DUCE DRAFTS ALL BOYS OVER 8 FOR ARMY DUTY

Seeks to Instill 'Love for War.'

ROME, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Italy's little boys turned tonight from marbles to machine guns. Premier Mussolini ordered compulsory military training for all the nation's males above the age of 8.

The order—intended to make the Fascist land an "armed nation"—prescribed schooling in warfare for every Italian older than 8 and younger than 33, more than half his normal span of life.

Tonight Italy's newspapers hailed with huge headlines this "revival of the spirit of the ancient Romans," asserting unanimously that more and better trained material would be provided for the country's high speed war machine.

Farmers to Be Regimented.

Simultaneously it was made known that Italy's farming industry will be brought into strong national organization under the corporative state system, to be inaugurated Nov. 10.

The working class will be welded together in one group and the owner-manager class in another. The two classes will be united in the central corporations.

Two major national coördinating bodies have been created for the separate groups. These are the Fascist Confederation of Agriculturists, for the owner-managers, and the Fascist Confederation of Agricultural Workers.

Their function is to coördinate the aims of the class they represent, give it strong central representation for matters of collective interest, and establish principles for collective working agreements.

Getting Ready for War.

With regard to the military training decree, "the functions of the citizen and the soldier are indivisible in the Fascist state," Il Duce and his cabinet proclaimed. The decree is believed to be the most sweeping peace-time mobilization in history.

Last month at Bologna, Mussolini, warning that the "idea of war is floating in the air," told Italy to get ready for war. Today he took decisive, determined steps to see that the nation obeys.

Compulsory military training, the council said, is an "integral part of the national legislation."

Henceforward "it begins as soon as a boy is old enough to learn and continues as long as a citizen is able to carry arms in defense of his country."

Three Categories of Training.

Three categories of compulsory military training were created in the new order. They are:

1. Preliminary—Beginning at the age of 8 years.

2. Military—Starting at the age of 21 years.

3. Post-military—Continuing for ten years after the military phase ends.

The Balilla—the young Fascisti—may not shirk their military school work.

Students cannot be promoted to higher classes or receive degrees "without having followed the military courses with profit," the decree set forth.

Seeks to Fan Love of War.

As to the youth of Italy the cabinet proclaimed:

"Boys from the time they are 8 years old until they are called to arms at 21 will be prepared spiritually, physically, and militarily by the civil organization of the Fascist Balilla and by the Fascist Youths of Combat.

"Thus when they enter the armed forces they can dedicate themselves exclusively to warlike professional and specialized training in arms.

"The youth training is divided into two sections: First, 8 to 18; second, 18 to 21."

The cabinet's move, it announced, was intended to fan the love of war in Italy's youth.

Creates "Liaison Body."

"The purpose of the first stage of compulsory pre-military training," it said, "is to give boys a passion for military life through frequent contacts with the armed forces, whose warlike glories and traditions will be revoked."

A liaison body between armed forces and all organizations coöperating in "the formation of an armed nation" was instituted, with an army corps general at its head. This body answers directly to Mussolini.

The purpose of the second stage of pre-military training, the cabinet explained, "is to perfect the spiritual, physical, and military training of a young man so as to form a soldier physically and technically prepared as an individual and to prepare the specialized element of which the armed

An Embezzler Learns a Lot About Women

It required only ten days for an attractive, 42 year old brunet to prove to Clifford F. Smith, alias Paul Davidson, that illicit romance is a delusion and a snare, and that the wages of crime is the double cross.

Smith, who is 40 years old, fled from New York on Labor day. With him he took the brunet, whose real name is believed to be Mrs. Dorothy Rainey, and $35,000 belonging to the Long Island railroad, for which he was cashier in the Pennsylvania station. Behind him Smith left his wife and two children.

The fugitives came to Chicago. They disappeared. But on Monday officials of the Long Island railroad received a letter from Smith. It was written last Saturday and contained a confession of his crime.

Woman Departs with $25,000.

In substance, Smith declared that he and Mrs. Rainey had lived together as Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davidson in the Barry apartments at 6724 Cornell avenue from Sept. 4 to Sept. 13. On the latter date, he said, Mrs. Rainey left him, taking $25,000 he had entrusted to her. The railroad company could send their representatives to three safe deposit vaults in Chicago, rented under the name of Davidson, and get back nearly $6,000, he wrote.

"I have been double crossed," he added. "I have made a mess of things. Now I am setting out for Niagara Falls, and when I get there I am going to jump in the gorge."

The letter was sent to the Pinkerton detective agency in Chicago, and the aid of the police was enlisted in a search for the couple, and in particular for Mrs. Rainey. Detectives Edward Dooley and Donald Coakley were assigned to visit the Barry apartments. There they found William T. Barry, the owner.

Barry Remembers Them.

"Yes," he said, "I remember them. Mrs. Davidson did all the talking and transacted all the business. She was very shrewd. Said her husband was under treatment for a nervous breakdown. She paid cash down for six months' rent, but only on the agreement that we'd take $5 a month less than we had asked.

"Davidson stayed in his room all the time and drank a lot. Mrs. Davidson left on Thursday and Davidson on Saturday."

In New York it was learned that Smith, before he fled, had sent $4,000 in paper wrapped packages to his relatives. The relatives, puzzled as to the source of the funds, took the packages to the police, and investigation showed that Smith was the sender.

The railroad company officials, although they admitted Smith handled perhaps $100,000 daily, said that he was only $5,514 short in his accounts. The public disclosure of the $35,000 theft was not made until the detectives were given the despondent letter of the fugitive.

No clew to the present whereabouts of Mrs. Rainey has been found. The same is true of the money. Examination of the safety deposit boxes showed they were empty and the police suspect that she looted them of their contents when she told her romance good-by.

A WOMAN SPURNED GETS EVEN; STAYS DAY IN PHONE POLE HOLE

Camden, N. J., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elsie Barnable sat with her feet in a hole in front of her house for 26 hours, beginning at 1 p. m. yesterday, in silent protest against the Public Service and Gas company. Workmen had taken down an old telephone pole and after they refused to give it to her for fuel she retaliated by putting her feet where the workmen wanted to place the new pole.

She resisted efforts of the foreman on the job to cajole her out of the hole. When dinner time came, she called to her sons, who were delightedly watching her from the house, to prepare food and bring her a raincoat.

Today the Public Service and Gas company appealed to police to oust her but they said they could not do it unless the company swore out a warant against Mrs. Barnable for disturbing the peace.

CHICAGO BOUND AIR LINER LANDS WITHOUT WHEELS

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Circling the St. Paul airport helplessly for an hour and forty minutes a Northwest Airlines passenger ship, en route to Minneapolis and Chicago and carrying five passengers and two pilots, landed safely here tonight without the use of its wheels.

Only slight damage was done to the ship and none of its passengers injured as the plane skipped to a stop on the field lined with ambulances, fire department trucks, and spectators.

After taking off, Melford B. Freeburg, veteran pilot, and his co-pilot, John Woodhead, noticed the retractable wheels were stuck and would not open up for a landing as he neared the Minneapolis airport, so he headed back for St. Paul, ten miles away.

Freeburg circled the local airport for an hour and a half before determining to make a landing. He then emptied the gasoline tanks, and brought the ship to a virtual three-point landing. The end of the propeller was bent and there were a few dents. That was all.

S. L. Rinehart of Chicago, one of the passengers, had only one regret—that there wasn't another plane to Chicago tonight. Told he could not go on by air tonight, he exclaimed:

"O, that's too bad!"

'Arson Queen' Confesses Fire Fatal to a Boy

Mrs. Bertha Warshovsky, 57 years old, the pudgy grandmother whom the police call an "arson queen," confessed to state's attorney's investigators yesterday that she started an incendiary fire in which an 11 year old boy lost his life in 1928. The fire swept a butcher shop and apartments above it at 1200 West Taylor street.

As a result of the confession Thomas Falone, who operated the butcher shop at the time of the fire, was arrested on a warant charging murder. Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall Kearney, Gordon Nash, and John Boyle planned to seek murder indictments today against Falone and Mrs. Warshovsky.

Boy Victim of Blaze.

The victim of the incendiary blaze was Joseph Pecori, who lived with his parents. Trapped in a third floor apartment, the boy was badly burned before he leaped from a window. He died shortly after the fire from the burns and the injuries incurred in his desperate leap.

Three families lived above the butcher shop and several narrow escapes were reported. Only the bravery of firemen, prosecutors said, kept the flames from claiming other victims. A terrific explosion that smashed windows in adjoining buildings preceded the blaze in the butcher shop, which occurred early in the morning of Aug. 11, 1928.

Mrs. Warshovsky confessed to investigators that Falone paid her $175 to set the butcher shop afire. Falone is said to have collected the full amount of $11,200 insurance. Since the fatal fire, prosecutors said, Falone has prospered and is now the owner of five markets.

First Arson Murder Case.

The case is the first in which a murder charge has been made since the opening of the investigation into the activities of arson rings. It is the second case, however, in which death has resulted from the activities of arsonists.

True bills were reported voted yesterday against Louis Oliff, owner of a second hand store at 22 North Halsted street, and Jack Nasanov, alias Jack Brown, alleged incendiary, who is a son-in-law of Mrs. Warshovsky. The men are charged with arson in connection with a fire in Oliff's store, then at 24 North Halsted street, on Dec. 11, 1930. In this fire Nasanov's brother, Lionel, who acted as the incendiary, was burned to death.

Jack Nasanov said he became ill on the day the store was to be burned. His brother was sent to do the job, the confession said, and paid with his

NRA THREATENS PRINTERS WHO TALK TO PRESS

Jail and Fine Hinted; Publicity Opposed.

An attempt by threats of "possible legal difficulties with the federal government" to impose a gag on business men who complain to newspapers of the unfairness of NRA codes was discovered yesterday in a bulletin issued to his trade by S. Frank Beatty, a code authority executive.

Mr. Beatty is director of the graphic arts code for the Chicago area. One of the most important sections of the code which Mr. Beatty is engaged in enforcing is that guarding the freedom of the press. Its essential language, virtually identical with that of the corresponding section which was inserted in the daily newspaper code only over the most violent objection by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and other NRA leaders, is as follows:

"In submitting or assenting to this code the establishments do not thereby. . . waive any constitutional rights, or consent to the imposition of any requirements that might restrict or interfere with the constitutional guarantee of the freedom of the press."

Code Bulletin Carries Warning.

Mr. Beatty's statement, entitled "Will Publicity-Seeking Printers Who Desire to Become Recalcitrants Please Read This," is published in "Galley Proof," a bulletin of code enforcement news which he gets out over his signature for the graphic arts trade.

By implication the statement makes it a crime for printers, [governed by the graphic arts code] to give communications of the code authorities to newspapers for publication, since it states that by so doing they "automatically turn over their cases of alleged code violations to the United States government for handling." This implication is strengthened two paragraphs later by recital of the possible penalties for code violation—six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Audit Threat Is Bluff.

Although they naturally did not use that term, Mr. Beatty and other NRA officials admitted last night, in effect, that the threat is a bluff. The code contains no provision of a penalty for giving information to the newspapers and the only offenses, technically, at least, for which an offender may be jailed or fined, are actual violations of the code.

Harry M. Rostoff, legal adviser to the code authority, even said:

"I am in favor of freedom of the press—to a certain extent."

Asked to what extent he favored it, he replied:

"To the extent that it is not injurious to the public."

"Let Newspapers Judge."

He hastened to add, however, that the newspapers alone could be the judges of the possible injury to the public.

Mr. Rostoff added that Mr. Beatty had undoubtedly been actuated in issuing the statement by the charges of T. J. Cullen, president of the United States Printing company, which specializes in printing briefs for lawyers, that his competitors were using price fixing provisions of the graphic arts code in a conspiracy to ruin his business.

Mr. Cullen has been "found guilty" by the zone control board of the legal printing division of the code authority of printing briefs for 80 cents a page, a rate lower than the schedule fixed under the code.

Pay More Than NRA Scale.

In defense he has stated that he pays his employés 37 per cent more than the code minimum, observes the hourly limitations on their work and makes a fair profit at the lower price.

When John E. Cassidy, then state NRA director, attempted to quiz Mr. Cullen in private, the latter refused to answer questions unless newspaper reporters were admitted. When this was refused, he walked out, characterizing the hearing as "an un-American, star chamber proceeding." He suffered a fire and a bombing at his printing plant at 2817 North Halsted street within 24 hours.

Call Publicity "Harmful."

"The publicity which was given the Cullen case has been detrimental to effective enforcement of the code," declared Mr. Rostoff.

The full text of Mr. Beatty's statement follows:

"A few publicity seeking printers, subject to the graphic arts code [whether they assent to it or not], have discovered that Chicago newspapers will feature stories of printers' defiance of federal and state laws.

"Such printers should remember that they automatically turn over their cases of alleged code violations to the United States government for handling when and if they send communications from the code authority to newspapers for possible news pur-

13 Day Tieup Ends; Prices to Be Higher

WALTER CROWLEY.

A number of the city's 104 plants resumed operation in the afternoon, and all of them will be running overtime today to take care of business accumulated during the shutdown.

The fruits of the agreement that ended the tieup were a general increase of prices to the public for cleaning services and the unionization of all the cleaning plants in the city. Walter Crowley, president, and Frank Harscher, executive secretary of the Chicago Cleaners and Dyers' association, issued a statement thanking the public for its patience in doing without cleaning service for nearly a fortnight, and predicted that the new setup in the industry would end price cutting and payment of low wages to employés.

Cleaning Prices Raised.

The new cleaning prices are 85 cents for garments called for and delivered and 69 cents for cash and carry work. Before the shutdown members of the association charged 75 cents for cleaning and delivering a garment, while prices of some of the cash and carry chain stores ran as low as four garments for a dollar.

The tieup began on Sept. 5, when association members called a lockout of their employés. They pointed out that they were all paying union wage scales, two to three times as high as the minimum levels set by the NRA cleaners and dyers' code, and asserted that they could no longer meet the price cutting competition of nonunion plants paying the NRA minimums. On the first day of the lockout the unions in the industry picketed and closed the plants of five chain store concerns, all except one of which employed nonunion labor.

Chains Enter Peace Parleys.

These five chain concerns are the Becker Cleaners, which was unionized, and the Sanitary-Sterling, Peacock, Michigan-Checker, and Abarbanell chains. Their owners joined conferences with the association members which went on for more than ten days on the subject of a price fixing agreement for the industry.

More or less general accord was reached on such an agreement, but the tieup did not end until the drivers' and inside workers' unions had succeeded in unionizing the chain plants. The last of these concerns to accept a union agreement was the Michigan-Checker, storm center of previous cleaning and dyeing wars. Its proprietors signed up Monday night, and the chain's stores were all open yesterday. The other four chain concerns had reopened Monday.

Sign New Union Contracts.

Before the association members reopened their plants all of the employers in the industry signed new labor contracts with the unions yesterday afternoon. The contracts were identical with those negotiated in August between the association and the unions.

The new individual contracts were adopted, it was explained by Jean Frank, business agent of the Laundry and Dyehouse Drivers' union, to prevent an employer withdrawing from the association and then asserting that by his withdrawal he was no longer bound by the labor contract.

DEMOCRATS TOP PRIMARY VOTE IN WISCONSIN

La Follette, G. O. P. Tickets Even.

BULLETIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19 (Wednesday).—(AP)—For the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, 1,417 precincts out of 2,916 in today's primary election gave: James M. Callahan, 24,383; Francis E. McGovern, 20,327; Charles E. Hammersley, 16,293; William D. Carroll, 12,156; Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, 10,865.

For the Progressive senatorial nomination, 1,069 precincts gave Senator Robert M. La Follette (unopposed) 42,582.

For the Republican senatorial nomination, 1,052 precincts gave John B. Chapple (unopposed) 36,128.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—Returns from yesterday's primary elections, with approximately one-third of the precincts reported, indicated that the La Follette-Progressive party was receiving about 30 per cent of the total vote cast, the Republican party 30 per cent and the Democratic party 40 per cent.

If this proportion is maintained when the total vote is counted, the splitting of the normal Republican vote by the La Follette withdrawal under the Progressive banner may mean the continuance of the state in the Democratic column in November, in the opinion of practical observers. However, it was pointed out that the La Follette strength is in country precincts not among those counted so far.

Big Democratic Vote.

In the Democratic primary 1,106 out of 2,916 precincts gave Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman, seeking renomination as the state's chief executive, 49,040; William B. Rubin, 11,151, and Richard Lehmann, 3,837.

In the Progressive race for governor 960 precincts gave former Gov. Philip La Follette 38,999; Henry Meisel, 1,927. For the Republican gubernatorial nomination 947 precincts voted: Howard T. Greene, 21,260; Fred R. Zimmerman, 16,064, and James M. Tittemore, 2,834.

Senate Race Close.

For the Democratic nomination for senator, in 943 precincts, the count was: John M. Callahan, 15,113; Francis E. McGovern, 12,552; Charles E. Hammersley, 9,876; William D. Carroll, 7,618; Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, 6,906.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, who with his brother has approved New Deal policies while running in a party with a family tradition, was unopposed for renomination. John B. Chapple had no opposition for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Gov. Schmedeman is the first Democratic governor who has sought renomination since the days of George W. Peck, who was elected in 1891 and repeated in 1893.

Rubin Milk Pool Aid.

Rubin, his nearest opponent in the early returns, was counsel for the Wisconsin milk pool during the farm strikes last spring. It was recalled that Gov. Schmedeman received only 58,000 votes in the primary two years ago, but had 590,000 in the election.

On the early returns the Democrats were receiving an average of 58 votes a precinct, the Progressives 42.4 votes, and the Republicans 42.6 votes.

McGovern, former Republican governor of Wisconsin, deserted the Republican party to support Roosevelt and the New Deal.

The Socialist party had a full ticket in the field, but there were no contests for any of the offices.

Test of Radicalism.

The vote cast is expected to give some kind of a basis for determining the relative extent of radicalism in Wisconsin. The Republican party will unite the conservative constitutional vote. The rest will be divided among the New Deal Democrats, the newly named La Follette Progressives and the Socialists.

A determined effort is expected to follow by each party to gain control of the Wisconsin delegation to Washington. Traditionally Republican, the ten places in the last congress were divided: five Democrats, four of them victors of the landslide of two years ago, and five Republicans, of whom four were La Follette supporters.

To Make Legal Platforms.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Political party candidates chosen in a state-wide primary election today will meet here Oct. 2 to formulate official party platforms for the campaign leading up to the election Nov. 6.

The State Law Provides that only after the primaries may nominees of Republican, Democratic, Progressive and Socialist parties meet in the state capitol at the same time, each organization in a separate room, to deliberate on platform planks.

Thus the Republican platform made at a state convention at La Crosse, has no legal standing nor can the persons' platforms published by United States Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr., or his brother, former Gov. Philip F. La Follette, serve as the Progressive party platform.

Bilbo Leads in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Bidding to regain his political leadership in Mississippi, former Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo took a commanding lead late tonight over United States Senator Hubert D. Stephens in their seesaw contest for the senatorial nomination in today's Democratic runoff primary.

Early returns brought Bilbo a lead of 2,000, which speedily was cut down. With about two-thirds of the precincts in, Stephens was 2,000 votes ahead.

The trend then turned again to place Bilbo in the lead. In 1,434 precincts out of 1,641 in the state Bilbo had 84,464, Stephens 83,676.

ADVISES LESS LOOSE TALKING ON COMMUNISM

An admonition to Americans to do more straight thinking and less loose talking about the joys of Fascism, Nazism and communism, if they wish to preserve representative government, was delivered last night by Prof. Ralph E. Dennis, dean of the school of speech at Northwestern university.

Prof. Dennis spoke at a meeting of the Chicago Dental society in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel. He related his observations of communism gained as a visitor in Russia when Lenin and Trotzky overthrew the Kerensky government, for a year afterwards, and on trips there since then.

"It is our heritage to be loyal to the liberties for which our forefathers fought," said Prof. Dennis. "We know nothing of poverty compared to Russia. Under the conditions existing there one wonders what keeps the people going. The answer is force. There is no freedom of speech, of press, of assembly or of the ballot, and the loss of these things is the price paid by the Russians for communism and by the Germans and Italians for dictators."

STRIKE FEARS BRING RISE IN CLOTH PRICES

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Buyers of cotton cloth are becoming apprehensive as to future supplies unless there is an early settlement of the textile strike, it was declared in textile circles today.

Spot goods are much in demand, and in practically all grades there have been advances in prices ranging as high as 1 cent a yard.

Morton Grove Ex-Official Freed from Debt Cell

August F. Poehlman, 65 years old, former president of the village board of Morton Grove, who was jailed Monday for failure to satisfy a $10,000 judgment against him, was released from a debtor's cell yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. Poehlman won his release on presentation of an insolvent debtor's petition. The judge ordered him to make bond of $2,500 by the end of the week and set a hearing on the petition for Oct. 2.

88 Year Old Victim of Mystery Attack Is Dead

Mandel Wittman, 88 years old, 1228 North Leavitt street, who was the victim of a mystery attack Sunday evening, died early today in the Lutheran Deaconess hospital. Neighbors told the West North avenue police that Wittman was standing on his back porch when an unidentified man struck him on the head with a club or a metal bar. The slugger fled after the attack.

DICKINSON SPIKES FARLEY BOAST OF DEMOCRATIC GAIN

Patronage Boss Here on Farm Belt Tour.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Postmaster General James A. Farley put out a Democratic claim yesterday that in the November congressional elections the Democrats will increase their strength in the house and will gain at least six seats in the senate.

At Republican headquarters Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, western chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, reiterated his forecast that the Republicans will regain 50 to 75 seats in the house and will more than hold their own in the senate.

Mr. Farley, patronage dispenser of the administration, was in Chicago several hours on his way to Rockford, where he made an address last night at the Shrine temple. This trip he is on a midwest circuit.

Speaks in Iowa Today.

He is to address a convention of Nebraska and Iowa postmasters this afternoon at Council Bluffs, Ia., and tonight he will speak in Omaha in behalf of Edward R. Burke, Democratic nominee for senator. Mr. Burke defeated Gov. Charles W. Bryan with the aid of Arthur Mullen of Omaha, who was floor manager for Franklin D. Roosevelt in the national convention in Chicago two years ago.

Thence Mr. Farley goes to Sioux Falls, S. D., to make an address tomorrow, and on Friday he will be in Minneapolis and St. Paul to dedicate two new postoffices. In Minnesota he will be somewhat on a tightrope, as Senator Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, has been a friend of the New Deal, while Congressman Einar Hoidale, Democratic nominee against Shipstead, is regarded by Minnesota Democrats as having a chance to win.

Both Shipstead and Hoidale were much in evidence on President Roosevelt's train on the recent transcontinental trip from Portland to Washington. Both were said to be present by invitation and many a glowering look was passed from Devil's Lake, N. D., to Rochester, Minn.

On Saturday Mr. Farley is to be in Fargo, N. D., and Sunday night he will be in Chicago two hours on his way to the New York state Democratic convention in Buffalo Sept. 26 and 27. He will be back in Chicago Sept. 28 for the opening of the new postoffice, and for a Democratic rally at night in the Stadium.

Claims Fealty to Roosevelt.

With him are traveling Ambrose O'Connell, his executive assistant, and Emil Hurja, assistant chairman of the Democratic National committee, who grew up in Crystal Falls, Mich.

"I've been in every state," remarked Mr. Farley, "and everywhere the people are with Roosevelt. In the senate the Democrats will gain better than six seats. I'm not giving the list as yet. In the house we do not admit the chances of losing any, while we expect to pick up between ten and twenty seats, old time Republican seats. Two years ago, thirty Republican congressmen were elected by margins of less than fifty for each thousand votes cast in their several districts.

"A campaign was never won in October, and the time is too limited for the Republicans to do anything. The trend is all Roosevelt. For example, in Michigan an old Republican stronghold, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican, who is running for reëlection, is so much afraid of the popularity of the New Deal, that he is not going to fight it. Thus he is out of step with his own party.

"The Maine election was a magnificent expression of the success of the New Deal.

"From a political standpoint, the Maine election was nothing less than another nail in the coffin of the Republican party.

Farley Defends Party.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, declared tonight the New Deal is for the constitution. His address in part was interpreted as a defense of the administration from the onslaught upon encroachments on constitutional guarantees under the New Deal made by James A. Reed, former senator from Missouri, at the Constitution day celebration Monday at the World's Fair. Mr. Farley held that Thomas Jefferson still is patron saint of the Democrats.

"Charges have been made," said Mr. Farley, "that the Democratic party has taken away the liberty of the people. Truly that is a ridiculous label to place upon a party to which human liberty has always been a cardinal tenet. One hundred and forty years ago Thomas Jefferson first enunciated the liberal doctrines that took form as the Democratic party organization. That party has survived.

"Lives Through Wars."

"It has lived through one domestic and four foreign wars. It has lived through economic depressions. It has lived through periods of prosperity.

"The Democratic party stands today, more than ever before, protector of the rights of the many as against privilege for the few. Woodrow Wilson used to say the reason for the virility of the Democratic party is that it has a heart under its jacket. The people will decide whether they care to trust their sacred liberties to the reckless crew of pirates who ran riot in the Hoover period of quicksand prosperity, or whether they will trust their destiny to the understanding leadership of President Roosevelt.

"It is my prediction that after the November election the Republican membership in the senate will sink to the lowest numerical level it has reached since James Buchanan was President seventy-five years ago."

SLUG TRUCK DRIVERS WHO DEFIED ORDERS TO JOIN TEAMSTERS

Trouble between rival factions of teamsters was blamed for an attack by sluggers yesterday on twenty-four drivers of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., four of whom were injured seriously. After repeated attacks on drivers near the company garage at 716 West Kinzie street, W. E. Riggs, chief special agent of the company, appealed for protection to Police Commissioner James P. Allman.

The 750 company drivers are members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and an unaffiliated teamsters' union. According to Riggs and A. C. Dahlgren, superintendent of the garage, where 250 drivers are employed, those beaten were members of the latter organization.

The attacks began about 6 a. m., Dahlgren said. The "sluggers" would leap from cars and beat a group of drivers near the garage, then circle the block, and pick out several more drivers for assault.

Those seriously injured were: Arthur Retelny, 40 years old, 3158 North Marmora avenue, taken to St. Luke's hospital; Charles Jackson, 60 years old, 8254 South Sangamon street, who may lose the sight of one eye; Charles Jesse, 40, 4331 North Kedzie avenue, and August Miller, 44, 548 North Troy street.

BALLOON RACERS LOST IN SEA MUST SHIFT FOR SELVES

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Balloonists from many lands entered in the annual Gordon Bennett race, starting Sunday, tonight shivered at the prospect of coming down in the chilly Baltic sea.

A south wind, which has been blowing steadily here for two solid weeks, would carry the 17 balloons straight toward the Baltic, the temperature of which by late September slips close to the freezing point.

Any competitor so unfortunate as to fall into the sea more than likely will have to shift for himself, Col. Bohdan Kwiecilski, organizer of the race, indicated.

"It was impossible," he said regretfully, "to arrange for protection of competitors out at sea."

AUTO MEN ACT TO END PRICE FIXING IN CODE

Organized to work toward elimination of the used car price fixing provision of the NRA retail automobile code, the National Automobile Dealers' Code Revision association held its first meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Some 25 dealers from the central west were present.

"The attempt to maintain fixed prices on used cars under the code has proved a complete failure," said R. R. Kriesel of St. Paul. "Dealers everywhere, directly or indirectly, are violating this provision, which is unenforceable and economically unsound."

'QUEEN OF ARSON' CONFESSES FIRE FATAL TO BOY, 11

life for his ignorance of the proper way to use fuses and gasoline bombs.

Trials to Start on Monday.

As another development in the arson investigation yesterday sixteen defendants, already under indictment, were warned by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court that their trials would open Monday and continue until the docket is cleared of such cases.

Scheduled for trial Monday are Nick Basuris, owner of the Metropolitan Press at 3811 West North avenue, and Joseph Brown and Rudolph Pisani, alleged professional incendiaries.

Brown and Pisani were caught red handed as they fled from Basuris' printing plant last June after lighting a fuse that led to a gasoline bomb. One of the men was found to be carrying a contract in which Basuris agreed to pay 10 per cent of his insurance to those who fired the plant.

Confession Leads to Arrests.

A confession gained from Pisani led to the arrest and indictment of more than 40 persons as members of a ring that collected a part of more than $1,000,000 in fire insurance.

As yesterday's 16 defendants were arraigned before Judge Miller it was learned that Harry Brown, an insurance adjuster indicted as a member of the ring, was not present. His bond of $10,000 immediately was forfeited by Judge Miller.

At the same time a bondsman, apparently nervous over the magnitude of the ring's operations, surrendered to the court Harry Siegel, a defendant, for whom he had furnished $10,000 bond.

Investigators yesterday added another to the growing list of those seized in arson plots with the arrest of Peter Magris, 5510 South Ashland avenue. Magris is alleged to have hired members of the arson ring to burn his restaurant, then at 300 North Western avenue, on May 27, 1930, for $3,500 insurance.

SULLIVAN OPENS NEW ARBITRATION HEARING ON YARDS DISPUTE

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday opened hearings to determine whether the Union Stock Yards and Transit company has lived up to the terms of an arbitration award which he made after the close of a strike last November by yards employés belonging to Locl 517 of the Live Stock Handlers' union.

The union struck again July 24, charging that the company had violated the terms of the award. The strike was settled Aug. 4 and one of the provisions of the settlement was that Judge Sullivan should construe his previous award.

Attorney John D. Black appeared for the company yesterday and Attorney Redmond S. Brennan of Kansas City for the union. The first point taken up was that of pay for overtime. The original award provided that employés should get time and a half for all work over 48 hours a week. The union is asking that overtime be figured on a daily basis, with time and a half for all work over eight hours.

Judge Sullivan suggested a compromise, to which both parties agreed. This was that the provision for overtime pay for all hours worked over 48 a week be retained and that in addition the men receive time and a half for all work in excess of eleven hours a day.

A point which remained unsettled at the close of the hearing yesterday was the demand of the union that its business agent, Thomas Devere, be permitted on the property of the stock yards company.

STRIKERS START BACK TO WORK AT LEVER PLANT

Workers were returning to the Lever Brothers soap manufacturing plant at Hammond, Ind., yesterday after reaching an agreement with company officials Monday night which ended the strike begun Aug. 6. Fifty men were at work, and Bruce Vernon, plant manager, reported that the rest of the 400 would be back at their jobs by the end of the week.

The agreement, it was announced, met most of the workers' demands: no discrimination about re-hiring strikers, recognition of the union, and granting of seniority rights. The question of higher wages, one of the original demands, was left to arbitration between the company and union representatives. The workers, however, agreed that no strike would be called at least for another year.

LIGHT PLANT AT DES MOINES IS CLOSED BY STRIKE

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 19 (Wednesday).—(AP)—The main plant of the Iowa Light and Power company and the Des Moines Electric Light company closed down at midnight tonight when a strike declared by leaders to affect 90 per cent of the 150 mechanical department men of the organizations went into effect.

Power to part of the city of Des Moines was being furnished at midnight by an auxiliary plant in the heart of the city. Lights were out in a large part of the residence district. All hospitals, newspapers, and buildings where electric current was vitally necessary were being supplied, heads of the Des Moines Electric Light company said.

All landing field lights at the Des Moines airport were off, according to United Air Lines officials, and field attendants were preparing flares for incoming planes.

CONDUCTOR SLAIN BATTLING ROBBER ON A STREET CAR

Hugh Golden, 50 years old, 417 South Kilbourne avenue, a conductor for the Chicago Surface Lines, was shot and killed early today in a struggle with a robber at 58th avenue and Roosevelt road, Cicero.

Joseph Kopkowski, 38 years old, 1540 North Ashland avenue, told the Cicero police that he was waiting at the corner to board the car and that as it approached he saw the conductor and a man struggling on the rear platform. The battle ended with the firing of two shots. Golden fell, fatally wounded, and the gunman fled on foot.

The conductor, who had been struck in the abdomen and the chest, died soon after reaching the Frances Willard hospital. He was a veteran of twenty-four years' service with the surface lines.

Wisconsin Man Found Dead on Railroad Tracks Here

The body of a man about 21 years old, believed to be that of Homer Boiteau of Jim Falls, Wis., was found early today beside the Chicago and North Western railway tracks near the Rosehill cemetery. Apparently the man had been killed when a train struck him.

SCOTT W. LUCAS VOTED RAINEY'S PLACE ON DEMOCRATIC BALLOT

Carrollton, Ill., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Scott W. Lucas of Havana, chairman of the Illinois tax commission and judge advocate general of the Illinois National Guard, was nominated here today as the Democratic candidate for congress from the Twentieth district to succeed the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey.

Though three others also were under consideration, Lucas was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 27,666 of the 39,889 votes cast. The convention consisted of the chairmen of the ten county Democratic committees in the congressional district. Each chairman cast as many votes as were recorded by his party in his county at the last primary.

The other candidates were former State Senator Walter Manny of Brown county, C. C. Worth of Calhoun country, and William Hairgrove of Jacksonville.

In his acceptance speech, Lucas pledged himself to follow the principles of Speaker Rainey and to abide by the leadership of President Roosevelt. In the Nov. 6 election he will be opposed by Warren Wright of Jacksonville, Republican nominee.

Lucas' nomination was regarded as a downstate victory for the administration of Gov. Henry Horner, with whom the nominee has been closely identified. The governor recently appointed him judge advocate general of the National Guard. He previously had been national judge advocate of the American Legion.

Two Policemen Suspended After Shooting in Station

Detectives Joseph Hoban and Ray Griffith of the Chicago avenue police station were suspended by Police Commissioner Allman yesterday shortly after they had a quarrel in the station during which Desk Sergeant John T. O'Malley was shot in the leg. Griffith shot twice at Hoban without hitting him, and O'Malley was attempting to disarm Griffith when he was wounded. The detectives will be taken before the civil service trial board.

We've heard that said about Wear-Weev a good many times in the past ten years—it has wearing ability to a fault. But that doesn't begin to cover the story of a Wear-Weev suit. Among its other notable assets is its ability to keep young and up with everything new in the way of color, cut and pattern. This fall, with rough-finished suitings heading the list of what to wear, Wear-Weev comes into its own—likely to be taken for an imported fabric and certainly to be looked upon enthusiastically by the shrewdest judges of style.

UNION PREPARES FOR NEW BID TO END TEXTILE WAR

Gorman Proposes Election Throughout Industry.

BULLETIN.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Two men were wounded by bayonets when National Guardsmen and a crowd of civilians clashed at Belmont tonight.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—A second bid for peace in the giant textile strike probably will be made by union leaders tomorrow.

Francis J. Gorman, strike leader for the United Textile Workers, revealed today that in the "near future" the strikers will propose that the national labor board conduct an industry-wide election among all textile workers to select collective bargaining representatives who would negotiate a strike settlement with employers.

The proposal may be advanced in a public address which Gorman is seeking to arrange and in which, he promised today, "our message for the future will be set forth."

May Call Out 120,000 More.

While he hinted at suing for peace, however, the radical strike leader laid definite plans for pushing the strike into new branches of the cloth weaving industry. He sought and obtained from the executive council of the United Textile Workers today power to call a strike of 120,000 workers in related textile industries at will.

"The council," a formal announcement issued late today said, "has voted power to the strike committee to call out all allied groups. The dyers will be given opportunity to clean up and leave their plants in good shape to avoid any possible damage to goods."

Besides all dyers, the new strike call may include rayon and synthetic yarn workers, carpet and rug workers, and several other related groups. Gorman intimated that he would not wield his new power immeditely, but that he probably would call the walkout over the week-end unless employers agree by that time to the unions' demands.

Holds Threat Over Owners' Heads.

Gorman may hold the threat of the new sympathy strike over the heads of employers in an effort to make them accept his forthcoming proposal for an industry-wide collective bargaining election under the supervision of the national labor board.

Such an election, if held, would be the first industry-wide poll of workers ever taken by the board. Whether Gorman will insist that the election be plant by plant or for the industry as a whole is not certain. Employers are certain to balk at the proposal of any election in which the results are counted for the whole industry instead of for each plant.

Short of direct intervention by President Roosevelt no peace plan other than Gorman's proposed election is in sight here. The President is known to be reluctant to involve himself in strike negotiations, and he will not act in this case until his special textile board, headed by Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire, submits a report of its findings. Winant indicates that he hopes to complete this report within the next day or two.

Ordering of Election.

An election such as Gorman suggested could be ordered by the national labor board without the consent of the employers. It would determine the workers' representatives for collective bargaining purposes, and the employers would be bound under the NRA to meet with them.

The labor board, however, is believed to be reluctant to order a poll while a strike is in progress and is especially hesitant about acting while the Winant board, which has been given special jurisdiction over the strike, is in existence.

Tension remained high in the strike stricken areas today and both sides prepared to cope with any crisis that may develop. The strike front was punctuated by minor disturbances only, however.

Sixty Mill Owners Organize.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—A number of minor disorders in which several persons were slightly injured occurred in Philadelphia and scattered sections of the state today as textile manufacturers prepared to take some concerted action in the controversy.

Asserting that "we feel that the time has arrived for definite action against the strike," representatives of more than 60 wool, cotton, and silk mills in the metropolitan area united in a campaign to force a showdown of the issue.

Col. Millard Brown, president of the Philadelphia Textile Manufacturers' association, was named to lead the employers in their campaign. He declared that most of the persons not working are being kept from returning to their jobs by agitators.

Police Disperse Passaic Mob.

Passaic, N. J., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—The first real clash between textile strikers and law enforcement officers in this area occurred here today when 50 policemen clubbed their way through a crowd of 300 silk strikers and forced the mob to disperse.

The strikers, who had come from Paterson, had attempted to picket the Botany Worsted mills here. No one was reported hurt, but three men, including Eli Keller, general manager of the Associated Silk Workers, were arrested.

1,200 Back to Work.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Under the muzzles of National Guard guns 1,200 persons returned to their jobs in nine plants in Gaston county today as North Carolina's largest textile center opened its campaign to break the grip of the textile strike.

No disorder developed as the guardsmen, equipped with machine guns and tear gas, patroled the area and held pickets back from the mills while the workers entered. Most of the mills announced they would attempt to operate with only one shift.

A number of the other mills which have resumed operations in the last few days continued to function with reduced forces. It was disclosed that a number of plants had quietly reopened yesterday, bringing the number of operating mills in North Carolina to 303. In South Carolina 106 plants are operating.

Mob Attacks Sherif.

Belmont, N. C., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—A mob of pickets attacked Sherif Clyde Robinson of Gaston county today, but he escaped serious injury when National Guardsmen rushed to his assistance. The sherif was riding in his car when he was set upon by the strikers.

Shouting threats that they planned to beat him, the crowd halted the car, threw open a door and dragged the sherif out. However, before he could be harmed the troopers arrived on the double quick, their bayonets fixed. The pickets scattered before the charge.

Work Under Martial Law.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Several thousand more textile workers returned to work in this state today under the protection of Gov. Eugene Talmadge's martial law decree. Two additional companies of National Guardsmen were placed in the field to reinforce the first troops called out.

About 130 strikers who were arrested yesterday by military "flying squadrons" were still interned in a barbed wire inclosure here. Adjt. Gen. Lindley Camp said he had no idea how long the strikers would be kept prisoners, but asserted they would be held until all strike troubles in Georgia have ended.

RETURN OF BLUE EAGLE EXPECTED BY GOLDBLATTS

Expecting the return of their Blue Eagle within a few days, Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., owners of several large department stores, agreed yesterday to a consent decree issued by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan restraining them from violation of the NRA fair practice act. The Blue Eagle was taken away from the company Thursday.

Assistant United States District Attorney Austin Hall, in his petition, charged that the company in many instances resorted to inaccurate advertising and selling methods. In its answer, the company stated that any violation was unintentional and only because of the size of their organization. More than 6,000 persons are employed by the company which grosses an annual business of $22,000,000.

G. O. P. REJOICES OVER SUCCESS OF FAIR RALLY

Reports $125,000 Certain for Party Coffers.

BY PARKE BROWN.

There was rejoicing among Chicago Republicans yesterday over the success of Constitution day Monday at the Fair.

Not the least of several causes for a glow of satisfaction was a tentative assurance that the celebration produced about $125,000 for the party's county campaign fund. Until this plan of raising money had gone over there was doubt whether the jobless G. O. P. could raise any substantial amount for its preelection expenses.

Final figures will not be available even to the leaders for some time but they have been told that the amount realized will exceed the $100,000 for which they had hoped. The additional days—continuing today, Thursday and Friday—on which the concession coupons of the special ticket books will be accepted at the Fair will cost considerable, but the outlay is regarded as justified as the means of allaying the discontent among ticket holders unable, because of Monday's crowd, to get into their favorite shows.

Idea of Republican Minds.

Republican minds conceived the idea of celebrating Constitution day at the Fair and carried it to fruition. Their story is that their original plan was for a paid admission pageant at Soldiers' field. Action on an application for use of the field on Sept. 17 was postponed for ten days and then the applicants were told that arrangements had been made for a free display of the "Drama of Chicago on Parade" on the night of Sept. 16.

Facing this prospect, the Republicans saw they would have no chance to sell tickets for a pageant on Constitution day. They say the Democrats saw the same thing. There is controversy over the existence of purpose or its absence in the Soldiers' field dates, but the Republicans shifted their scene of operations to the Fair.

Julius H. Miner, chairman of the campaign finance committee of the Republican county committee, arranged for buying admissions to the Exposition at wholesale rates. Then he bought up twenty-two concessions for the day by paying them their average receipts on previous Mondays. Then the ticket selling drive was put on through the rank and file of the party organization, each precinct committeeman receiving 25 cents commission on each $1 ticket sold.

326,000 Special Tickets Used.

From the remainder left after the deduction of this commission and the wholesale price of Fair admissions, there must be subtracted the amounts paid the concessionaires and expenses such as printing and advertising. This will leave a residue of about 40 cents a ticket, it is said, that will go to the campaign fund. There were 326,000 of the special tickets taken in at the Fair on Monday.

But in addition to the financial coup, and some say these points are much more important, the G. O. P. is gleeful over having made the voters "constitution conscious" and of having given their precinct workers an easy opportunity to make the equivalent of house to house canvasses and discuss the "Stick to the Constitution" slogan which has been adopted as a counter to the Democratic "Stick to the President."

One ward organization alone is reported to have sold 30,000 tickets. This, say the county committee leaders, means that the constitution was talked about to fully 90 per cent of the voters in the ward.

CHURCH TO QUERY HAYS ON AIMS FOR CLEAN FILMS

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Vincennes presbytery, governing body of the Presbyterian church in this area, today moved to inquire of Will Hays, head of the motion picture producers and distributors of America, concerning "his powers in the motion picture industry and his exercise of the same for its purification."

Members of the session of Hays' home church at Sullivan, Ind., of which Hays is a deacon, were directed to obtain the information "if possible within the next sixty days."

The action followed a request from the San Francisco, Cal., presbytery that Hays be asked if he cannot "bring about better moral conditions" in the industry and "if it is not incumbent upon him as a Presbyterian elder to resign from the industry and cease to use his influence to defend it."

The local presbytery also had before it a resolution from the Sullivan church expressing "trust and faith" in Hays. The question of Hays' influence for clean motion pictures was raised by the First Presbyterian church of Oakland, Cal., in a petition concurred in by the San Francisco presbytery.

FIND ONLY 60% OF VOTERS ON POLLING LISTS

Survey Shows Status of Registration.

Republicans and Democrats find a spur for activities on registration day, Oct. 9, in a survey issued yesterday showing that at the time of the primaries last April the registration books contained only 60 per cent of the eligible voters in Chicago.

The computation, made by the City News bureau, seeks to shed light on what proportion of the eligible voters register and how much of the registration actually votes. It is estimated that at the presidential election in 1932, when a record vote was cast in Cook county, more than one-third of the total eligibles in Chicago failed to vote, although the total vote cast was 95 per cent of the registration.

2,749,411 Eligible to Vote.

The survey estimates that this year Chicago has 2,326,336 eligible voters and the Cook county towns 423,075, a county total of 2,749,411. The total number of eligible voters in Illinois is estimated at 5,040,220. The total vote in Illinois in November, 1932, on president was 3,408,196, an indication of the number of nonvoting eligibles.

In Chicago the registration of 1,498,314 for the great vote of 1932, the survey figures, was only 69 per cent of the total eligible vote.

One of the tables indicates that in the November, 1930, election—the last "off year" election—1,103,158 votes were cast in Cook county, but 1,267,911 eligible voters failed to vote. The total vote itself that year in Chicago was 74 per cent of the registration, but only 46 per cent of the total eligible voters.

Same Situation in 1932.

Similarly in the presidential election in 1932 the vote cast in Chicago was 95 per cent of the registration, but only 65 per cent of the total eligible voters.

When the voters do vote, many of them do not vote on all offices. This is an old political phenomenon. In November, 1932, for instance, 210,000 more votes were cast for president than for United States senator, and 57,000 more persons voted for president than for governor.

Similarly in the 1930 election, 234,490 more votes were cast for United States senator than for state superintendent of public instruction. The vote on state treasurer was 219,000 fewer than on the senatorship.

GERMANY SEES NAZI TREND IN U. S. RIOT CAMPS

Hitlerites Say Roosevelt Is Fascist "Fuehrer."

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—Huge banner headlines in the German press informed the German public today concentration camps are being established in the United States for strikers and insurrectionists, and that men and women, whites and Negroes, are being confined in the same camps near Atlanta.

Germans Are Pleased.

The headlines fairly shouted the grim satisfaction which Germans take in the fact that the United States, whose President has already been hailed in some circles as the first Nazi fuehrer of America, has taken another leaf out of the Nazi book, thereby sanctioning Nazi practices by imitation.

In this connection some Nazis recall that Alfred Rosenberg, head of the foreign political office of the Nazi party, said only a few days ago that "Germany is decades ahead of the rest of the world." These Nazis are convinced that the social unrest in the United States, as manifested in the numerous riots there, will force America more and more into the Fascist direction.

Frown on Experiments.

President Roosevelt's experiments in trying to solve economic difficulties by tinkering with the currency are condemned by the Nazis as futile and dangerous, but his increasing expansion of government control over business through the NRA and similar institutions are viewed as adaptations of Nazi practices that fall short of success only because they lack the foundation of the Nazi doctrine, compelling blind obedience and subordination to the fuehrer. The United States, these Nazis hold, must and will go through the same preparatory training period as did Germany before it is ripe for Nazism.

What Should One Pay for a Good Suit this Fall?

This question is difficult to answer as it largely depends on a man's means and his idea as to what is quality. In this establishment a man can purchase a splendidly styled and finely made suit for $45.00.

FINCHLEY clothes are priced according to the woolens and linings employed in their making, otherwise, all clothing is tailored in the same careful manner over the same style charts, regardless of price.

The selections of patterns and woolens can be compared to the offerings of the best custom tailors, and FINCHLEY styles are obviously influenced by those now being shown by the most fashionable London tailors.

Before buying your suit or topcoat for Fall, it will be well worth your while to spend a few moments in the Finchley establishment, where skilled and polite salesmen are at your service.

RUSSIA, VOTED SEAT IN LEAGUE, PLEADS PEACE

Vote to Admit Soviet Is 39 to 3.

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Soviet Russia came triumphantly into the league of nations tonight with solemn assurances that it will work diligently "for the diminution of threats of war."

The favorable vote of 39 nations against 3 that allowed Russia's membership came just after Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, reporting for the assembly's political commission on Russia's qualification, beckoned invitingly toward the United States.

"I hope the great American republic, whose coöperation is so essential to us, will add to that element of universality which is still necessary for the very existence of the Geneva organization," he told the packed assembly hall.

Pledges to Work for Peace.

Invited to the rostrum by Richard Sandler of Sweden, president of the assembly, who welcomed Russia "into the great family of nations," Maxim Litvinov, soviet commissar for foreign affairs, pledged his nation to work through the league for world peace.

Declaring flatly that Russia would give up no attribute of its social system, Litvinov warned the assembly that "peace and security cannot be organized on the basis of shifting sands and verbal promises."

It should be established, he said, "that any state is entitled to demand reasonable security from its near and remote neighbors." This, however, should never be interpreted as distrust, Litvinov added.

Praising his own nation as a kind of league of nations in which 200 nationalities "co-exist in peace while enjoying their own cultures and languages," he said. No war can be localized and any war will be the first of a series.

Sees Need of Central Aim.

He said "in this effort for peace soviet Russia will occupy a responsible place and will make its voice heard."

Nations who are members of the league have been needing some dominating central aim in order to achieve the organization's practical universal objectives, Litvinov said.

This common aim has been achieved during the past few years in the universal need for peace. This fact, he said, explained why Russia—though differing internally from other nations of the league—is "glad to enter the league body."

Meanwhile, Litvinov warned, Russia intends to demand "reciprocal noninterference in internal political and economic affairs."

Some delegates took that to mean Russia does not intend to give blanket guarantees for the religious and political freedom of aliens, as was recently requested by President Eamon de Valera of Ireland.

Cannot Abolish War.

Turning again to the question of peace, Litvinov said the league, its powers limited, "can by no means abolish war, but if all its members are determined we can greatly reduce the menaces of war.

"We must realize that no war of the proportions of modern warfare can be localized," he said. "Sooner or later, every war will bring misfortune to all countries, whether they be belligerents or neutral. The effects of the last war are still being felt by all of us. To some countries it has meant a return to medievalism."

GANG COMMITS SIX ROBBERIES WITHIN AN HOUR

CRIMINAL COURT.

Ina Davis, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Marin Randell, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the women's prison at Dwight; Francis Sandiford, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge John C. Lewe.

Four shotgun bandits, believed to be the surviving members of the "Sunday gang," two of whose members have been slain, raided four theaters, a filling station, and a beauty shop within an hour last night. They obtained nearly $400.

Clarence Ware, 3613 Palmer street, manager of the Palmer-Central Park filling station at 2260 North Central Park avenue, was their first victim. Two of the gunmen robbed him of $30.

At the Karlov theater, 4048 Armitage avenue, their next stop, the robbers got between $50 and $75. Moving on to the Manor theater, 5609 North avenue, the bandits threatened patrons near the box office and fled with $100, taken from Miss Mildred Morris, 4046 Wilcox avenue, cashier.

The last robberies, with the amounts taken, were at the Portage theater, 4050 Milwaukee avenue, $20; the Rose theater, 2860 Milwaukee avenue, $106, and the Larene beauty shop, 3155 North Linder avenue, $50.

MACHINERY WEIGHING 390 TONS HAULED OVER ANDES BY AIRPLANE

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 18.—The converted Pan-American-Grace plane that has been carrying mining machinery from the railroad at Cuzco to the Huanacopampa minehead in the Cotobamas gold fields has returned to Cuzco after an overhauling, ready for the last phase of the work.

The first phase consisted in eighty-four trips, carrying 120 tons. In the next eighthy-eight trips 270 tons were transported, leaving 270 tons to be carried to complete the job.

Heretofore it has been impossible to develop the Cotobambas gold fields because heavy machinery could not be transported overland through dense jungles and across unbridged rivers and ravines. The air route from Cuzco crosses the Andes at 15,000 feet.

SENATORS HEAR FOREIGN FUNDS ARM GERMANY

Letter Tells of 20% Plane Factories' Subsidy.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Looking into further information that Germany has been arming, in defiance of the Versailles treaty, the senate munitions committee today heard evidence that as long ago as August, 1933, the United States took cognizance of sales of airplanes by American manufacturers to the Hitler government and manifested displeasure.

The committee also was given evidence that Germany was using impounded foreign funds to subsidize German aircraft manufacturers to the extent of 20 per cent against non-German competition.

That information was revealed in a letter written Dec. 4, 1933, by the International Engineering Company, Inc., to the United Aircraft Exports, Inc.

Questions Use of Funds.

"This fact should be known to American firms, as we have recently noted that the foreign funds impounded in Germany are now used in financing such subsidies," the letter stated. The letter was put into the record.

"Did you know that foreign funds, impounded in Germany, were being used for the purchase of military equipment?" Committee Chairman Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.] asked C. W. Deeds, treasurer of United Aircraft.

"We had only this report," replied Deeds.

The reference to impounded funds was interpreted as referring to recent German action in refusing to pay foreign holders of German securities in dollars, pounds, or other foreign currency. The government announced it would not permit transfer of its money outside Germany.

Nevertheless, United Aircraft had no difficulty in collecting for the $1,445,000 worth of airplane engines sold in Germany this year.

The state department's view of violations of the Versailles treaty in the sale of aircraft equipment to Germany was shown by a letter of Joseph C. Green, state department munitions expert, to John Dewey Hickerson, assistant chief of the division of western European affairs.

Sees Breach of Treaty.

The letter stated that all importations of war material into Germany were prohibited by the Versailles treaty and such importations would be a violation of Germany's treaty obligations to the United States.

Green acted after the department of commerce had informed him that twenty airplane engines had been sent to Germany in the six months prior to August. Evidence before the senate committee indicated those shipments actually were much larger.

"Should the occasion arise," Green wrote to Hickerson, "it [the government] would make every effort to dissuade airplane manufacturers from exporting military airplanes to Germany, and it is probable that such measures would prove effective."

Donald L. Brown, president of the Pratt & Whitney company, a subsidiary of the United Aircraft and Transport company and previously revealed as having sold engines and planes to German concerns, declared that in the permission granted by the United States army and navy to his company to sell engines abroad there was nothing preventing their sale to Germany.

"We have felt we had a right to export our engines and if there was any question about shipments into Germany it seems the army and navy releases should have specified all countries except Germany," Brown said.

Denies Military Knowledge.

Chairman Nye said the committee had evidence that United Aircraft had at least six business representatives in Germany last April at the time the corporation was making greatly increased sales of airplane motors to Germany.

Deeds denied his company had any knowledge those motors were to be used to rearm German air forces.

"Isn't it true Germany is equiped to build and equip 100 airplanes a month?" Nye asked.

"I don't know," Deeds answered.

"Haven't you heard it said that Germany at the end of this year will have 2,000 airplanes?" Nye persisted.

The witness replied that he had no information about that. But later he admitted that motors his company was shipping to Germany easily could be synchronized for machine gun use and otherwise readily altered for military planes. However, he insisted the equipment was intended for commercial use as far as his company was concerned.

13 MASONIC LODGES DISSOLVED BY NAZIS; NO REASON IS GIVEN

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, issued a decree today dissolving 13 Masonic lodges.

No reason was given for the action except the statement that it was done under the law of Jan. 8, giving the government the right to disband lodges.

Nazi leaders consider German freemasonry inimical because, they have said: "It is controled by international Jews and is useless in the third reich."

The lodges dissolved were in Soldin, Stettin, Minden, Halle, Frankfurt-on the-Oder, and several other cities.

NEW STEINMETZ HIGH IS OPENED WITH CEREMONY

Mayor Kelly Urges More School Revenues.

Mayor Kelly, speaking at the dedication of the $2,500,000 Steinmetz High school yesterday, called on the board of education and members of the state legislature to launch a drive for added revenues for the state public schools during the coming winter.

"The need of more school revenue has been repeatedly demonstrated," he said. "At present real estate carries too much of the load, and it is impossible to suppose that additional burdens can be placed on such property. The schools need added revenues and the legislature should provide a plan to secure them."

2,800 Students Parade.

Mayor Kelly was chief speaker in opening ceremonies conducted on the school campus and in the new Steinmetz building. Thousands of parents watched the 2,800 Steinmetz students pass a reviewing stand and pass into the building, officially opening the school. The parade was led by the Lane Technical High school band and Reserve Officers Training corps, and was followed by flag raising ceremonies on the grounds.

Other speakers at the ceremony were William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools; James B. McCahey, president of the board of education; Daniel F. O'Hearn, principal of Steinmetz, and John Howatt, school engineer.

The new Steinmetz, at Barry and Melvina avenues, is one of five new schools built by the present board of education at a total cost of $13,235,000. The new Lane was dedicated Monday, and an addition to Senn High school was opened Monday without ceremonies. Two other new schools, Wells and Phillips, will be completed Dec. 15.

Mayor Recalls School Days.

The Steinmetz dedication recalled old school days for him, Mayor Kelly told the students and parents yesterday. "I'd like to go back," he said, "and you students probably would like to be through school and out in the world. Let me tell you that it will be a hard fight then, but it will be worth it. Remember that the friends you make now will count most out in life. So help the other fellow now; remember to be unselfish, and in the end you will be happier."

Supt. Bogan described the new type of education as exemplified in the Steinmetz school. "The trend today is to subjects that will suit the needs of the people," he said. "In the task of advancing the new type of education the Steinmetz High school will have an important part."

2 COURTS UPHOLD 7 PCT. TAX CUT; HALT COLLECTION

City Plans Fight for Additional Relief.

Action developed on two fronts yesterday to give small Chicago taxpayers an average of 7 per cent reduction in 1933 taxes recently granted to railroads, utilities, and other large corporations in their successful litigation to knock out certain levies.

Circuit Judge Denis J. Normoyle granted a temporary injunction restraining County Treasurer Nash from collecting any 1932 taxes imposed under the levies declared illegal. Up to this time the accepted practice has been to collect such levies from all taxpayers except those who actually joined in the suit.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki issued a blanket order extending the 7 per cent reductions to all taxpayers who have not yet paid their 1932 taxes in full, irrespective of whether the taxpayers have protested or will protest the taxes brought under the voided levies.

Observe Court Rulings.

Other incidental developments of the day were:

1. Announcement that the city hereafter will not include in its tax rates any levies the Supreme court has held to be illegal.

2. Assurance that the city law department will draft a law for presentation to the legislature, either at its fourth special session in November, or at the regular session opening in January, providing for credits on future tax bills for whatever amount a taxpayer may already have paid under the voided levies.

The actions before Judge Normoyle were filed Monday under sponsorship of J. Souse Warterfield, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, in behalf of Miss Irene Obergfell, owner of a small flat building at 2921 Logan boulevard, and John P. Kane, owner of a home at 6843 South May street. The injunction is applicable to the west park and south park taxing districts.

County Will Fight Case.

It was indicated that the county treasurer will ask a hearing on the merits of the case at an early date, that he will oppose a permanent injunction, and that he will move as soon as possible to obtain a favorable ruling in the higher courts.

Judge Jarecki's order of yesterday is an outgrowth of his recent ruling that the Chicago Real Estate board might file representative protests against the illegal 1932 levies, thus making it unnecessary for individuals to make objections.

It does not afford relief to those who have paid their 1932 taxes in full, since, under the law, tax money paid in cannot be refunded.

Rule at Budget Parley.

The city's decision not to tax on voided levies was made at a budget conference attended by Mayor Kelly, Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee; Judge Jarecki, Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, Assistant State's Attorney Hayden Bell, in charge of tax matters, and Frank H. Canfield of the council finance committee staff.

One of the levies to be eliminated from the 1933 and 1934 tax rates is the one for refunding bonds and interest, ruled illegal by the Supreme court because it is a duplicate levy. Judge Jarecki has ruled that the "loss and cost" levy of 10 per cent was too high, and scaled it down to 4.6 per cent. If the Supreme court upholds him this levy also will be reduced for 1933 and 1934, it was announced.

Other taxing bodies are expected to make announcements similar to the city's.

Tax Money Distributed.

Tax collections of $984,202 were distributed yesterday by County Treasurer Nash. Of the total, $347,500 was 1932 tax money, of which the city received the largest share, $150,000. Of the remainder, $382,000 in taxes and penalties for 1931 and prior years, was distributed among country towns and $254,702 from the same source was divided among park districts and other taxing bodies within the city.

Mr. Nash said other substantial distributions will be made later in the week.

2,800 EMPLOYES' PAY DELAYED BY NEW PARK SUIT

District Is Unable to Sell Tax Warants.

Payment of more than $900,000 in back salaries to 2,800 employes of 22 park units superseded by the new Chicago park district has been indefinitly delayed by the filing of a petition for rehearing of the park consolidation case, Robert J. Dunham, president of the district board, said yesterday.

The petition was filed with the Illinois Supreme court on Monday by Floyd E. Thompson, attorney for the smaller parks merged under the act, and seeks to set aside the court decision upholding the consolidation.

Warant Sales Held Up.

"Mr. Thompson's action throws us back to the old status quo," Mr. Dunham said. "With litigation still pending it would be useless for the district to attempt to sell its tax warants so that back salaries can be paid up. The plans for the warant sales had been progressing nicely until this action intervened.

"It's over four months now that litigation has held us up and I think that the whole park system and the city is suffering tremendously. We cannot now meet pay rolls, and the delay is also costing taxpayers money because it prevents us from eliminating duplication of expenses and from putting into effect the economies we had planned."

Halts Transfer of Records.

The petition for rehearing is also expected to halt the transfer of records and properties from the old park units to the new district, Mr. Dunham said. "We hope to adjust this difficulty by stipulation and have ordered our attorney to confer with Mr. Thompson on a plan whereby the park records can be transferred. We hope this can be done, since the court is not likely to act on the petition until in October."

Three smaller parks, old Portage, Irving, and Jefferson, have already transferred records and properties to the new district, J. Frank Lyman, secretary to the district board, said yesterday. Three others, Norwood, North Shore, and Calumet, have indicated they will make transfers next week.

The park district will continue its work on a single municipal code to replace the varied rules and ordinances of the 22 districts, Mr. Dunham said. It is expected this work will be finished within ten days.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SHOWS GAIN OF 3,531 OVER 2D DAY OF 1933

Enrollment in the Chicago day schools yesterday gained 19,836 over the total for the school opening Monday, and was 3,531 above the second day total in 1933.

Yesterday's 459,329 total was reached despite a loss of 6,334 in the elementary division, as compared with the second day last year. A gain of 4,817 students in the high school division and an estimated registration of 5,000 at the three new junior colleges offset the loss. All of the 5,000 who enrolled in advance are not yet in the junior college classes, however.

The elementary school enrollment was 333,343 yesterday, as compared with 339,677 in 1933. The high school student body totaled 119,600 yesterday. There were 114,783 students on the same day in 1933.

Takes Wrong Train, Falls to Death from Embankment

Amos W. Douglas, 60 years old, 9909 Charles street, assistant superintendent of telegraphy for the Rock Island railroad, was killed early yesterday in a fall from the Rock Island station embankment in Joliet. Douglas, who had attended the World's Fair Monday night, apparently had boarded the Joliet train in the belief that it was a train for Beverly Hills. Alighting at Joliet, he turned in the wrong direction and plunged from the 20 foot embankment to the street.

BUYERS' QUERIES GO UNANSWERED AT COAL HEARING

NRA Official Does Most of Talking.

With F. E. Berquist from NRA headquarters in Washington holding the floor most of the time, the hearing into price fixing as it is being practiced by the Chicago retail code authority proceeded in desultory fashion here yesterday. Representatives of consumer groups seldom obtained explanations as pertinent as the questions they raised.

Mr. Berquist is chairman of the review board of the research and planning division of NRA. Frequently when a question was asked of the code authority representative, Mr. Berquist, who is presiding as chairman at the hearing, stepped in and undertook to explain the situation himself. He discoursed at length on the ideal intents of so-called "cost determination"—price fixing.

Continue Hearing Today.

It was decided to continue the hearing, which is being held in the Hotel La Salle, for another day. One coal daler declared that nothing was being accomplished, although he said the cost of the sessions could be computed at $10,000 a day, taking into account the time of the hundred or more business executives who were present.

Charles R. Simmons, chairman of the Cook County Consumers' council, a branch of the National Emergency council, raised the question of whether the "costs" are overloaded with overhead.

Chairman Berquist explained that "while some things might be done to reduce the total cost of doing business, they might be detrimental to public interest." He said the burden of overheard has been shifted under the code so that "the domestic consumer has tended to get somewhat of a break."

Question Remains Unanswered.

"Do I understand from what you said that 'costs' to small consumers have been reduced below what they were previously?" demanded Cranston Spray, attorney for the Building Managers' association and the Chicago Real Estate board.

Mr. Berquist replied that he was "getting a little ahead" and the question remained unanswered.

Actress Seeks to Divorce Baron

BARONESS ETHEL VON RISCHLAWY (Betty Linley).

Charges Desertion

Baron George von Rischlawy of Poland, former technical motion picture director in Hollywood, was sued for divorce in the Superior court yesterday by his wife, Ethel, appearing in a play at the Harris theater under the stage name of Betty Linley. The baroness, who is staying at the Ambassador hotel, charges her husband with desertion. They were married June 24, 1918, in New York, and the baroness was deserted Sept. 15, 1926, she alleged.

CODE THREATENS PRINTERS WHO APPEAL TO PRESS

poses. Also, such printers should consider the following facts:

"The functions of the zone control board of zone No. 17, operating under the graphic arts code, are prescribed by United States laws and government regulations.

No Trials in Newspapers.

"There is no law or rule which requires the zone control board to try its cases in and through the columns of newspapers, and the code authority of this zone [A-1, graphic arts code] does not expect nor intend to carry on public debates with recalcitrants.

"Legal provisions under which the code authority is authorized to proceed are defined and published in the National Industrial Recovery act, in the graphic arts code formulated and published under that act, and in NRA regulations issued under the act. Any seeker after facts is referred for further information to those published laws and regulations, for they are open and above board documents, published according to law.

Quotes Recovery Act.

"Two paragraphs of the National Industrial Recovery act, enacted by the United States congress in the manner prescribed by the constitution [consequently the law of the land until it expires or is repealed], are here quoted:

"'Section 10 [a]—The President is authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this title, and fees for licenses and for filing codes of fair competition and agreements, and any violation of any such rule or regulation shall be punishable by fine of not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both.

"'Section 3 [c]—The several District courts of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdiction to prevent and restrain violations of any code of fair competition approved under this title; and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, under the direction of the attorney general, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent and restrain such violations.' [The Illinois industrial act provides for taking NRA cases into the state courts for trial].

Presidential Approval Cited.

"President Roosevelt, in his executive order approving the graphic arts code [approved code No. 287], under date of Feb. 17, 1934, authorized the functions of the several code authorities provided for in the code [including that of zone No. 17], used these words:

"'Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, pursuant to the authority vested in me by title 1 of the National Industrial Recovery act, approved June 16, 1933, and otherwise, do hereby adopt and approve for report, recommendations and findings of the administrator and do order that the said code of fair competition be and it is hereby approved.' See graphic arts code for full text].

"It is our suggestion to printers who have ambitions to become publicized as recalcitrants in the daily newspapers that they read all NRA laws—national and state—before they take steps which may involve them in possible legal difficulties with federal authorities."

Mr. Beatty, asked about the implied threat of prosecution of those business men who complain to newspapers, gave a further explanation last night of what he meant.

"Ordinarily a code violation is handled by the code authority, composed of members of the industry," he said. "Only if they are unable to effect an adjustment is it reported to the NRA compliance division.

"But if a story appears in the newspapers about a case being handled by the code authority, the attention of the NRA [compliance division] is called to it immediately. That stops the code authority from acting."

"Practical Rather Than Legal."

This stoppage on code authority action, he said, is "practical," rather than legal, since under the law the code authority is required to exhaust every effort to compose the difficulty before reporting it to the compliance division for revocation of the code Eagle or possible prosecution.

Mr. Cullen agreed with Attorney Rostoff that it was his action in telling the press of his troubles which had caused Mr. Beatty's statement. He charged that the introduction of the penalty clause of the NRA in the warning was obviously for the purpose of making printers believe that they may suffer those penalties if they give information to the press.

CLAIMS PRESIDENT FAILED TO SIGN CODE; ATTACKS NRA SUIT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Claiming that President Roosevelt has failed to sign the code of fair competition for the graphic arts industry, the W. F. Roberts company, a local printing concern, argued today in the District Supreme court that the code is, therefore, not in effect.

The United States attorney, Leslie C. Garnett, had sued the company, charging that it had failed to comply with the maximum wage and minimum hour provisions of the code.

A photographic copy of the original executive order recommended for approval by Gen. Johnson is attached to the answer filed today, revealing the absence of the President's signature. The NRA claims, however, that the President's signature was merely put in another place. An appended statement was signed by Mr. Roosevelt, and the NRA holds, it is understood, that this constituted the required approval by the President.

HOUDE FIRM DEFIES U. S. AGAIN; REFUSES TO GIVE UP BLUE EAGLE

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Ordered to give up its Blue Eagle, the Houde Engineering corporation of Buffalo flatly refused today.

This was its second defiance to the federal government. Recently it refused to obey the order of the national labor board to recognize the American Federation of Labor union in its plant as the sole employé agent. It claimed the right to treat with a minority group of employés who voted for a company union.

The company wrote Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, it had been informed "the code authority still finds that we are complying" with its regulations.

PAGEANT FLOATS PARADE 40 MILES THROUGH CITY

Seven of the historical floats which were used in the "Drama of Chicago" at Soldiers' field Sunday night were paraded through south, west, and north side streets yesterday morning. The other floats in the pageant could not be in the line of march because their size prevented their passing under viaducts.

The parade began in the Court of Honor at A Century of Progress at 9:30 a. m., where it was reviewed by Mayor Kelly. It then proceeded 40 miles through the city, disbanding at South Park way and 31st street.

Barnet Hodes, secretary of the Keep Chicago Ahead committee, which planned the pageant and parade, said that, although it had been found a complete parade was not practical, the seven floats gave to thousands an idea of the purpose of the celebration.

"MISS CHICAGO" CROWNED; GETS JOB IN FOLLIES

Miss Alice Jaglowski, 19, Wins Title.

Miss Alice Jaglowski, 19 years old, of 1740 West 18th street, took her bows as "Miss Chicago" yesterday on the Lagoon theater stage at the World's Fair. While several thousand Fair visitors and the cast of the Ziegfeld Follies looked on, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, representing A Century of Progress, tied a blue ribbon across her coat which proclaimed her winner of a beauty contest judged by Sunday visitors at the Fair.

The blonde queen, who attended Holy Family academy and the Harrison Technical high school and took a pre-legal course at Lewis institute, then signed a year's contract to appear in the Follies. The crowd laughed and applauded when she read the contract before signing.

Winner's Parents Introduced.

Later her mother and her father, John Jaglowski, insurance broker, were introduced. Miss Jaglowski won the contest by receiving 99 more votes than Miss Evelyn Maierhofer, 6557 Winchester avenue. Miss Eunice Ruder, 6210 Patterson avenue, was third.

The World's Fair took a rest yesterday after Monday's record breaking crowd, which was found to have totaled 359,671 when all receipts were tabulated yesterday morning. Yesterday's attendance was comparatively small and visitors were able to use their bargain concession tickets with ease.

Eighteen concessions have agreed to the extension of the bargain rates of Monday. Until midnight Friday night the special coupons on the ticket will be good for admission in those concessions. However, the ticket is not good for admission to the Fair itself.

The following concessions will honor the coupons: Sky Ride, Sky Ride observation towers, Fort Dearborn, Wings of a Century, Lincoln group, Italian village, Bowery, Frank Buck's Jungle camp, Lagoon boats, Motordrome, Tunisia, Ferris Wheels, Giant Slide, Cyclone Coaster, Dutch village, Lindy Loop, Hey Dey, and the Irish village.

Children Enter for Dime.

The extension became necessary when, due to the crowds of Monday, many persons were unable to get into the concessions for which they had tickets. A great many of the visitors returned to the Fair yesterday. At midnight the attendance was 65,065.

At 8 a. m. yesterday the new low admission price of 10 cents for all children under 18 years of age went into effect. Attendants estimated that several thousand boys and girls came to the Fair, but due to classes, this rate will have little effect on attendance until Saturday and Sunday.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

The first of ten giant passenger locomotives, built for the Northern Pacific railroad, has been added to the Wings of a Century display, where it will remain for three weeks. This new monster will then be put in operation on the run from Jamestown, N. D., to Missoula, Mont.

Jimmy [Schnozzle] Durante will be an honor guest at the Fair today. He will arrive at the 14th street gate at noon and will be met by the Fair band and officials. Jimmy will be host of the day at the Italian Village and will be the guest of honor at the last performance of the Ernie Young revue in the San Carlo restaurant.

After Monday's record breaking crowd workers of the Fair refuse and cleaning section removed 72 rubbish trailers, 137,200 pounds of waste paper and 1,072 thirty gallon cans of garbage.

Recurring thefts of napkins from the William Tell inn in the Swiss Village were solved yesterday when Fritz, a mountain goat that provides atmosphere in the restaurant, was caught in the act of devouring a napkin.

The art of dining through the ages was reviewed yesterday by Mrs. Laura Henderson Jackson, clubwoman, author, and historian, in a talk at the Illinois Host House. Mrs. Jackson urged the return to old-fashioned hospitality which makes dining, she said, not only a privilege but one of the greatest of the arts.

Trowbridge Sebree, Central Airways pilot, loaned to the Braniff Airways, will make three daily air mail pickups from a floating raft in the South Lagoon starting today. Sebree will make the pickups at 2, 4, and 6 p. m. Mail posted in the loop and marked air mail from the World's Fair, and all air mail letters posted on the grounds of A Century of Progress will be routed through these pickups. There is no extra charge for this service.

Religion and welfare recovery day will be observed tomorrow when a program between 4 and 7 p. m. will show the advances made in religious and welfare work.

FIGHT GOES ON FOR PROTECTION OF CONSTITUTION

Voters Urged to Guard Liberties at Polls.

With the theme of preservation of the constitution sounded at A Century of Progress and throughout the nation on Monday, civic societies in Chicago and the vicinity were continuing the observance of Constitution week yesterday. Speakers at four luncheons reiterated warnings that the inherent guarantees of liberty and security are being usurped by a government acting contrary to the provisions of the constitution.

The speakers were Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten, president of the Chicago Rotary club, who addressed the club at its luncheon in the Hotel Sherman; Senator L. J. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], who spoke at the Hamilton club; Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, who talked at the Lions' club in Wheaton; and Attorney Thomas J. Norton, authority on constitutional law, who addressed the Trafic Club of Chicago at the Palmer house.

Cites Football Fundamentals.

Maj. Griffith said that the violation of constitutional rights had been made easy by the class of people who are willing "to be fed from a spoon or led by a hand." Drawing an analogy from football, he declared that the country must get back to fundamentals of "blocking and tackling and not try to discover a miraculous, easy way of winning games, which cannot be done."

"We must not put the blame for our predicament on some one else," Maj. Griffith asserted, "but must fight our own way out of difficulty. In a neighboring state in a recent election 70 per cent of the registered voters did not cast ballots and in another state 92 per cent of the voters did not appear. If we won't block and tackle, in other words, if we won't carry out our assignments as citizens, what right have we to blame the system under which we have been playing?

"Today it is being suggested that the constitution has outlived its usefulness, and, by implication at least, the idea has been advanced that the time has come for us to adopt a government of men or government by a man. For 2,000 years before the adoption of our constitution men were considered servants of the state. This constitution decreed that the state was to be the servant of the people.

Discusses New Deal Ideas.

"The antagonists of the constitution now ridicule the idea that has been expresed as rugged individualism. They talk vaguely about production for use and not for profit. They suggest that capitalism has failed and propose that the state own and control private property. The state confiscated private property in the form of gold.

"The gold that was deposited with the government belonged not to the government, but to the individual depositors. There are other ways of confiscating property, however, than by direct means. Private property can be confiscated indirectly by exorbitant taxes levied against the property of the individual while living and against his estate when he is dead."

Maj. Griffith pointed out that government intervention in business is destroying free competition and that collectivistic theories tended to destroy the private initiative embodied in constitutional principles.

A Lesson from Poker.

"I have often wondered whether those who coined the expression, 'the New Deal,' were thinking of life as a game of poker," he said. "If they were I recall that it isn't the man who holds four aces who wants a new deal, but rather the chap who tries to fill a straight open in the middle.

"If I were playing poker I would like to know that the men who deal the cards at least know how to shuffle them, and then I would like the opportunity of cutting them now and then.

"The capitalistic system maintains the right of every person to engage in business or in any character of legal employment and to enjoy the emoluments arising therefrom. Those of the school of collectivism would end this by substituting public ownership and operation of the principal instruments and agencies for the production of our wealth. They would take away our rights to fight for ourselves and to achieve."

DICKINSON'S ADDRESS

Senator Dickinson, in his address, urged the voters to elect representatives to congress who would take away many of the powers delegated by the previous congress to the executive branch of the government.

"Only then have we a chance to survive," the senator declared, "and we can build up industry in the proper way. We must beware of wrecking the constitution, for that pillar of liberty cannot be rebuilded.

"People voted for a change in 1932, but they are now finding out that they were shortchanged all along the line. Legislation now goes from the White House to the other end of the avenue not for deliberation and consideration but only for the purpose of having the people's representatives fall in line and vote 'aye.'

"This delegation of power is the basis for the destruction of the constitution. The representative has nothing to say about how Secretary Ickes spends millions on projects. No engineers can be found to approve these projects, but the spending goes on just the same.

Answer to the President.

"President Roosevelt has asked the question: 'Aren't you better off than you were a year ago?' The answer to that is contained in the story of the man who made a large loan and then proceeded to buy clothes for his family and furniture for their home. But he could give no reply to his son when the boy asked him: 'Who will pay back the loan?'

"The government has tampered with our monetary standards. Banks are now nothing but revolving agencies to handle government securities issued from day to day and they will continue in that position as long as this program lasts."

Senator Dickinson then quoted a poem epitomizing the situation:

N R A me down to sleep.
I pray the Lord my code to keep.
And if I bust before I wake,
The burocrats my plant will take.

GEN. CLINNIN SPEAKS

Gen. Clinnin in his talk to the Lions' club urged the importance of the study of the constitution and the taking of a pledge to preserve it.

"Does this constitutional system," he asked, "consist of executive officers who are vested with extraordinary powers beside which the prerogatives of constitutional monarchs shrink into insignificance? Does it consist of a judiciary armed with power over life, limb, and property?

"Does it consist of legislatures that may be enabled through fealty to party to forge chains of legislation with which to bind the freedom of their fellow men, contrary to the spirit and letter of the basic law? Does it consist of a piece of paper upon which may be traced certain words and figures?

The Answer Is No!

"No! Our constitution consists of the application of the eternal principles of justice to the relation of men to each other under our social compact.

"Raids upon the constitution are not organized or made by any one of our political parties, but by minority groups which, for convenience sake, ally themselves to one or the other of the dominant parties and by insidious propaganda and aggressive activity seek to change our constitution to conform to their theories of social and economic government.

"There are false prophets in our midst seeking to array class against class, creed against creed, labor against capital. They spread seeds of discord to harvest power derived from a people divided."

Urges Government of Laws.

Attorney Norton emphasized in his talk that a government to endure must be one of laws and not of men.

"Government should do nothing in the life of man except protect his rights," Mr. Norton said, "and those rights were inherently his before government was instituted and before constitutions which guarantee them were written.

"We must attack those who would rob us of our heritage. Else we will drift toward socialism, confiscation, burocracy and consequent tyranny. We must meet all transgressions of constitutional law and principle quickly and without apology. We must employ in standing up for the United States the means which have been employed against it—the radio, the press, and the platform."

MARY AND FAIRBANKS REUNITE FOR PHOTO AFTER BOARD MEETING

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Doug Fairbanks and Mary Pickford were photographed together today for the first time in several years, but after the picture was taken they went separate ways to separate appointments.

The couple, whose family break has never been announced as healed, met at a board of directors meeting of United Artists Film corporation, and, as good directors, Doug and Mary helped vote each other neat dividends. At the meeting it was announced that Charlie Chaplin, another organizer and director of the United Artists, begins work tomorrow on a new movie film.

BROOKS CHARGES NEW DEAL BACK IN TOWN CRIER DAYS

Says Nation Befuddled by Swift Changes of Law.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Princeton, Ill., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Foibles and failures of the New Deal have so befuddled the citizenry of this country that they cannot know their own laws, C. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for congressman at large, told four audiences today.

He was campaigning through that part of Central Illinois peopled by farmers, miners, industrial workers and shopkeepers, an average cross section of the state's population. It is also Brooks' home territory. He was born here in Bureau county 36 years ago and his father preached in little village churches in this vicinity.

This was before "Curly" Brooks went to France with the marines to be shot and decorated and honored, but the folks here know all about that, too, and they are proud of him. So it was with much more than passing interest that they came to hear him today. But they remained for something more than homage to a home town boy. Brooks was giving them a new slant on what their government is doing and has done, and it struck home.

Hammer Burocrats.

At Henry, Depue, Spring Valley and Princeton, Brooks and his running mate, Milton E. Jones of Williamsville, hammered away at the Washington burocrats.

"They," said the young lawyer, "are doing for you what the dictators did for Europe scores of years ago in the French villages I saw. The town crier called the people to the square each morning. When all had come he read them the rules of their government for that day. He told them what they could and could not do. You people have been taken back to the town crier days. You cannot know definitly the rules of your government until you read in the newspapers what Gen. Johnson said last night.

"The New Deal has added 10,000 pages of new and complex laws in one year. The statute books for the preceding 146 years contained only 7,000 pages. No longer can you take confidence in the old saying that things will pick up when congress goes home, for then we will know our laws.

Different Now.

"Now it is different, for the last congress didn't come home; they left their authority in Washington. The executive gave control of business to the general, control of the currency to the secretary of the treasury, control of public works to the secretary of the interior and the right to tax to the secretary of commerce.

"All the power of congress is centralized in the hands of a few. Our constitution vested power in the legislative, executive, and judicial arms of the government. And that was really a new idea. Dictators, kings, and queens are as old as the world itself but a free nation is new. It is only 147 years old. Whether it becomes 148 years old depends upon you.

"George Washington could have become a dictator if he chose but even then, when the country was making its first steps toward unity, and throwing off the yoke of Europe and dictatorship, he warned against such usurpation.

"At present the only things growing in this country are unemployment, the national debt, and uncertainty. Only through election of Republican members to congress can the wild wave at Washington be checked."

BIG FOUR FLYER HITS TRUCK AND DERAILS; 1 KILLED, 2 INJURED

Lawrenceville, Ill., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—A railroad fireman was scalded to death and two other men were injured early today when the south bound Egyptian Flyer on the Big Four railroad struck a transport truck at a grade crossing here on U. S. route 50.

The locomotive and three baggage cars were derailed and the truck was destroyed by fire which followed the collision.

The fireman, George Mobley, 55, of Danville, was killed as a result of the bursting of a steam line.

That the Public May Know!

The Management of the Chicago Motor Coach Company wishes publicly to express its appreciation to the citizens of Chicago for their continued patronage throughout the depression and throughout the trying times to date.

These trying conditions have recently been greatly and unnecessarily magnified by the wholly inexcusable and unwarranted methods employed by the Amalgamated union to "force" its way into a situation where it is unwanted and where it has no business—legal or otherwise—either under the law of the land or under its own Constitution and General Laws.

The loyal support the Management has received during the past, as attested by the thousands of congratulatory and complimentary messages received from the general public by mail, telegraph and telephone, has been a revelation, and, naturally, has been most encouraging.

These messages from the public have, more especially, been most commendatory of the staunch and unwavering stand taken by the members of this organization for what they deem to be their inalienable right under Section 7a of the National Industrial Recovery Act to have "representatives (truly) of their own choosing."

In the interest of maintaining law and order, the Management of the Chicago Motor Coach Company has, from time to time, offered the following rewards:

1. $2,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those who conspired in the bombing last June of the company's Rosemont Avenue garage.
2. $1,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who conspired last May in setting fire to coaches of this company while in service.
3. $100 in each case for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who may be guilty of placing stench bombs in coaches or on company property, or of maliciously tampering with the equipment or property of this company.
4. $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who may be guilty of assault upon passengers or employes by the use of slingshots and missiles of various kinds.

The foregoing rewards will continue in effect until all those guilty of any of these acts are apprehended and convicted. If requested, all information furnished in this connection will be treated as strictly confidential.

AND NOW THE MANAGEMENT OFFERS THIS ADDITIONAL REWARD

One thousand dollars ($1,000.00) to any official or member of Local Division 241 (Street Railway), Local Division 308 (Elevated) or Local Division 1022 (so-called) who can prove that as many as ten (10) per cent of the 1,260 persons IN THE EMPLOY of this company on the day BEFORE the so-called "strike" (August 15th) actually responded to the call for such so-called "strike."

Various statements made by irresponsible union officials that this company is now employing, or has employed, strike-breakers are as absurd and ridiculous as the assertions made from time to time in this controversy that all the way from 340 to 700 men went out on "strike."

We challenge proof of these statements.

ITALO-SERB ROW MENACES DUCE'S PACT WITH PARIS

Breach Between Belgrade and Rome Widens.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 18.—The breach between Italy and Jugo-Slavia appeared to be widening to such an extent today as to menace the possibility of an understanding between the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs' chief ally, France, which was supposed to be cemented next month with the visit here of the French foregin minister, Louis Barthou.

For the last couple of days the Italian press, apparently under orders from the ministry of press and propaganda, has been calling attention to the danger of 2,500 Austrian Nazis harbored by Jugo-Slavia on the border. It is intimated that there is a new plan afoot for another Nazi putsch which Jugo-Slavia is not trying to prevent.

Duce Is Exasperated.

Premier Mussolini's propaganda agency today published a whole page in the semi-official Il Giornale d'Italia under the signature of Virginio Gayda to explain why Il Duce last week suddenly prevented the Italian delegation from attending an interparliamentary congress now in session at Belgrade.

According to Gayda's article, Mussolini was exasperated last week when his attention was called to an article printed in the Belgrade newspaper Vreme ridiculing the "heros of Caporetto." The article said the Italian army did a marathon race in record time from the Tagliamento river to the Po river. This article, Gayda admitted, was provoked by an article in an Italian paper in Zara attacking the Serbs.

Gayda, who is generally Mussolini's mouthpiece on political questions concerning Serbia, devoted several columns to refuting the Serb charge, and giving documentary proofs of Italy's excellent war record.

France Seeks to Calm Row.

French diplomacy tonight is occupied, it is understood, in trying to calm down the Italians and the Slavs. Their row has upset conversations which were going on between Ambassador Marquis de Chambrun of France and Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Fulvio Suvich of Italy to pave the way for Franco-Italian understanding.

27 BOMBS EXPLODE IN HAVANA; FEAR REVOLT BREWING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Sept. 18.—Climaxing a day of apprehension caused by rumors of an impending revolt against the government Havana was shaken tonight by a series of bomb explosions. Twenty-seven detonations were reported up to 10:30 o'clock tonight. Six persons were injured in panics caused when five tear gas bombs exploded in crowded theaters. Six bombs damaged establishments owned by Chinese in the Chinatown area of Havana.

Soldiers tonight raided the National Labor confederation and arrested about 200 persons, whom they charged with "conspiring to overthrow the government." These prisoners will be the first to be tried in the new emergency courts tomorrow.

Following a conference with Secretary of State Cosme de la Torriente, American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery left for Washington. A reliable source said Caffery wants to consult with President Roosevelt on the imminent possibility of a revolt. One report said the deposed President Machado had sailed for Cuba from Santo Domingo at the head of a strongly armed expedition.

ROME RECEIVES MUNDELEIN; SEES POPE NEXT WEEK

Vatican Prepares to Honor Chicagoan.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 18.—Cardinal George Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, arrived tonight in Rome, where he will celebrate the 25th anniversary of his episcopal consecration on Sept. 25.

Cardinal Mundelein, who came by train from Paris, where he had spent two days, was greeted at the station by Father Breslin of the American college here, Father O'Neill of the Paulist Fathers and various seminarians and members of the American Catholic colony here.

The cardinal was ushered from the train through the royal exit and waiting room. In accordance with custom the Vatican had no representatives at the station to receive him.

Appears in Excellent Health.

"I had a good trip down from Paris and will be here until Oct. 9," Cardinal Mundelein said.

The Chicago churchman appeared to be in excellent health. He recalled that it had been three years since he had visited Rome.

The cardinal, wearing his long black robe and his purple hat, proceeded to a hostelry in Via Vittorio Veneto, where he always stops. He was accompanied by his two secretaries. The cardinal's suite in the hotel includes one room arranged as a chapel.

Cardinal Mundelein's titular church in Rome is situated in Piazza del Popolo, one of Rome's busiest squares. His portrait is placed in the church over the main altar. Ceremonies incident to the celebration of the 25th anniversary of his becoming a bishop may take place either in this church or in the American college.

Will See Pope Next Week.

Tomorrow or Thursday Cardinal Mundelein will pay an official call on the cardinal secretary of state. He will have an audience with the pope some time next week.

Among the institutions to which he will devote many visits during his stay in Rome will be the new college of propaganda fide on Janiculum hill, to finance the building of which Cardinal Mundelein was largely instrumental.

The cardinal will return to the United States on the Italian liner Rex, sailing on Oct. 9. The official celebration of his jubilee year as a bishop has been fixed for Nov. 20 in Chicago.

SPECIAL TRAIN OF EXPERTS TO HONOR RUSSIA'S 'BURBANK'

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Sept. 18.—A special train filled with soviet officials and scientists will leave here tomorrow for Michurin, 300 miles southeast of Moscow, to celebrate the 80th birthday of the "Luther Burbank of Soviet Russia," Ivan Vladmir Michurin, world famous horticulturist, for whom the ancient town of Koslov was renamed.

The day also will mark the 60th year of productive work by Michurin, who still is actively directing a 20,000 acre experimental garden. The delegation from Moscow will be joined by other scientists who will bring with them new fruits which M. Michurin has devised—a strange blend of apple and cherry from Siberia, oranges and grapefruit from the "soviet Florida" now being developed on the Black sea coast, and apricots from just below the arctic circle.

Most of M. Michurin's work has been devoted to developing fruit plants giving a more abundant yield, standing shipment better, and especially enduring the cold which reigns over much of the soviet union's territory. Thus by creating new and hardy strains he has extended thousands of miles to northward the zone wherein fruits can be successfully grown. M. Michurin uses electricity to speed up the mutuation process through which he has produced new species and strains.

forces have so much need—especially the navy and air force."

At 18 the Italian is obliged to bear arms, the cabinet decreed, although he remains under the jurisdiction of the Fascist organization; at 21 he comes under the jurisdiction of the army.

The system for intensively training Italy for war is completed in provisions for post-military spirit and to keep men of the specialized division instructed in the use of new materials and tactics.

"Post-military instruction," it was decreed, "is obligatory for men up to the tenth year succeeding that on which they were dismissed from the army."

Employers were warned not to obstruct their employés in reporting for instruction, to be given Sundays, holidays, and during the annual recall to arms.

War Courses in Schools.

All high schools and colleges will be required to institute courses in military culture. The explanation:

"The general culture of students who are destined in the future to constitute the middle and ruling classes of the country will thus be completed by adequate military cultural preparation which will permit the best utilization of each one in the officers' rank of the state armed forces.

"The military rank with which each young man will be furnished by the time he begins his military service will permit him to devote the little time available to the exclusively practical part of his training."

The military cultural training, starting with the scholastic year opening two weeks hence, will occupy 20 hours of each year, and will cover military history [particularly Italy's part in the world war], constitution and purpose of armed forces, military characteristics of terrain, Italian frontiers, topographical maps, and the armed forces of principal nations.

SOFIA RAILROAD STATION AFIRE; CALL OUT ARMY

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

SOFIA, Sept. 18.—The Central railroad station here was destroyed tonight by fire, which at midnight was still raging and spreading.

Fourteen tank cars of gasoline exploded, alarming inhabitants of the capital and of surrounding villages.

The whole army garrison was called out to help the fire department. Several cabinet ministers are at the scene. The damage is already estimated at $500,000.

Investigation by police seems to indicate the fire was set by Macedonian revolutionaries in protest against the arrest or exile of their leaders.

Japan Asks U. S. and Britain to Join in Anti-War Treaty

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 18.—The newspaper Asahi today says it understands Foreign Minister Koki Hirota is striving for a United States-British-Japanese peace understanding. He is said to fear that a breakup of the 1935 naval conference through the refusal of the United States and Great Britain to accept Japan's demands, is likely to affect the political relations of Japan with these nations.

The newspaper says Hirota has instructed Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador in London, to sound out the British government and the United States ambassador to England.

Foreign Minister Hirota is desirous of having political relations unmarred by the navy parley's failure and is convinced that world peace can be maintained if the United States, England, and Japan agree not to engage in war. He feels that a tri-power political agreement, even if temporary, would go far toward stabilizing the world situation.

Minister of Navy Mineo Osumi was host to members of parliament last night, when he said that even if the Washington naval treaty is scrapped and fortifications are built in the Pacific ocean, where they now are forbidden, Japan would be able to defend itself if it obtains the right to build a fleet of the type of ships it chooses.

He added that he does not think there is any likelihood that two nations will combine to attack Japan, despite the fact that Japan is more or less isolated from the world.

THOUSANDS OF CHINESE TRAPPED IN FLOOD AREA

TAOKOW, China, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A stream of bedraggedled refugees from the region flooded by the Yellow river, their homes and livelihood destroyed, poured into Taokow today.

Government officials were considering a drastic proposal to transfer many of the refugees from the river valley to unsettled territories in Suiyuan province for rehabilitation.

It was reported that thousands, clustered together like frightened sheep, still occupy high spots in the Yellow river valley. Some still virtually live in tree tops. The walled city of Changyuan has become an island, swirling flood water surrounding it. It was estimated that 70,000 are homeless at Yutien.

Crew of Greek Freighter Mutinies Off Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The master of the Greek freighter Aliki, bound from Rosario, Argentina, to Buenos Aires, wirelessed tonight that the crew had mutinied. An armed marine patrol left here tonight to meet the freighter at sea.

"GOOD MORNING, MR. THOMPSON, IT IS 7:30---AND---"

Then the cheery voice across the wire, "Shall I have your breakfast sent up?"

No wonder Commodore guests never get-out-on-the-wrong-side-of-the-bed nor nurse a morning grouch. We dare you to feel doleful when the gentle tinkle of your bedside 'phone awakes you as you lie luxuriously between soft, spick and span Commodore sheets—when you've reveled in your morning shower (or tub) abetted by big, fluffy towels—and when you've capped the climax with a famous Commodore Breakfast, served in your own room—or in the Commodore Bar and Cafe—then you're all set for another big day in the great metropolis. RELIEF RACES TO NOME TO BEAT WINTER FREEZE

Two Eskimos Die in Fire That Ruined Town.

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Dire need in the face of approaching winter harassed the populace of Nome today. Every building except the government wireless station, one hotel, a section of the Lomen Commercial company waterfront warehouses, a few residences in the northern part of town, and some outlying log houses were destroyed in yesterday's fire.

Albert J. Lomen estimated the property loss at $2,000,000. Most of the town's 1,500 people were made homeless and their food supplies were burned in the grocery stores. John W. Troy, governor of Alaska, reported that $5,000 is available at once for relief expenditures along with enough food supplies to last a week.

Two eskimos were killed by the dynamiting with which firemen had tried to cut off the fire. The eskimos remained in a building which the authorities thought had been vacated.

Harbor Icebound in Six Weeks.

Eskimos, some of them drunk, others frightened, ranged through the ruins of Alaska's famous gold rush city. Many were arrested and placed in jails improvised from log houses to prevent possible looting.

Temperatures today dipped near the freezing point. In six weeks or less the arctic ice and winter night will close in, leaving Nome isolated until next summer.

The earliest relief came from sourdoughs who left their gold dredges in outlying areas to bring in what food supplies they could spare. The next is expected from the United States Bering sea patrol, the cutters Northland, Shoshone and Chelan which will reach here probably tomorrow night. At the direction of the National Red Cross at Washington, the eight chapters in Alaska are making up relief consignments.

Supply Ship Due Sunday.

The steamer Victoria was enroute from Seattle to Nome with regular supplies when the fire started. It carries about 700 tons of foodstuffs and will arrive next Sunday. The steamer Dellwood will sail from Seattle Saturday with 5,000 tons of foodstuffs and building materials. A second ship will leave Seattle Monday chartered by Ralph Lomen. At Washington Secretary of Interior Ickes said, "We might be able to assist in rebuilding by financing the construction out of public works funds."

The radio station today was flooded with messages from anxious relatives in the states and reassuring answers. Civic leaders manned a community kitchen today and all those whose household possessions escaped the fire shared them with the unfortunate.

EDDIE ROSENBERG TOO PERSISTENT; HIS HEAD ACHES

Eddie Rosenberg, younger brother of the late Moe, west side politician, is a persistent man, and as a result he was nursing a lump on his head at the central police station last night.

EDDIE ROSENBERG.

Two weeks ago Police Captain George O'Connor learned that Eddie had opened a handbook in a basement room at 334 South State street under the cheery name of "Rialto." Capt. O'Connor took some policemen there, broke up the furnishings, and warned Eddie that gambling was taboo in his district.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. O'Connor learned that Eddie had reopened. With a patrol wagon full of policemen, Capt. O'Connor visited the "Rialto," broke open the locked doors with axes and made kindling wood of the interior. Above the noise of the breaking tables, blackboards, windows, and other equipment, Eddie could be heard insisting: "Everything is O. K. What's the idea?"

Then Eddie attempted to rush Capt. O'Connor, who is a short but agile man. Picking up a small clock Capt. O'Connor smote Eddie on the head and took him with sixteen other inmates to the station, where they were charged with disorderly conduct.

DUCE DISPLEASED BY APING OF NAZI "HEIL" GESTURE

ROME, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The order from Secretary Achille Starace of the Fascist party that all official and private letters from one Black Shirt to another end with the phrase, "Viva Il Duce" has displeased Mussolini. This was learned tonight.

The premier had the order withdrawn. The phrase was to have been substituted for the more conventional endings, "Yours respectfully," or "Your devotedly," or even "Fascist regards." These terminations, it was said in the press which printed Starace's orders yesterday, are "unworthy of the new Fascist man."

Some commentators pointed out that the order seemed to copy instructions issued in Germany to use the phrase "Heil Hitler!" At the close of letters. Mussolini gave no reason for canceling the order. It was the first time any of Starace's Fascist reforms or established régimes had met Il Duce's open ill-favor.

MAYOR PUTS LID ON GAY RESORTS IN NEW ORLEANS

Orders Halt in Vice and Gambling.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—New Orleans, which for generations has boasted that it is the city care forgot and that it is wide open as it is broad-minded, is tonight wearing a look of dazed sanctity.

The click of the dice is hushed in the gambling houses, the red lights of the darksome channels are doused, and the principal activity is the hurrying hither and yon of the police patrol cars, on raids bent.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley and Senator Huey P. Long have between them made New Orleans as pure as the driven snow—at least for a time.

Walmsley Gets Even.

It was a week ago that Long snatched the election from the old regulars, headed by Walmsley, on an anti-vice platform. Walmsley pooh-poohed the platform and the senator's chances.

He claims, and the election returns bear him out, that the vice districts went largely for Long. Still smarting from his drubbing, the mayor, to get even with the deserters from his ranks, called captains and the lieutenants of the police force before him and laid down the law.

If there is enough vice in New Orleans at the end of five days, he said, to cause the slightest shudder, then off goes the head of the officer in whose bailiwick it is found.

Chief of Detectives John Groesch, acting superintendent of police in the absence of Supt. George Reyer, immediately appointed a vice squad, and the fun began. The police handed out eviction notices like handbills, and the resort district began to empty itself.

Some of the residents boarded trains for Memphis, St. Louis, and Chicago. Those with slimmer purses hiked out for Texas, principally Houston.

Gamblers Move to Long Territory.

The gamblers moved their household goods to the adjoining parishes of St. Bernard and Jefferson, controled by Senator Long, where the purification lightning has not struck, and are preparing to open on a magnificent scale.

Mayor Walmsley today called a caucus of 75 of his principal leaders and department heads and told them he had been elected by the people and was going to stay in office, regardless.

This was in reply to the reports that Long is going to have Gov. O. K. Allen call a special session of the legislature, address Walmsley and the other officials out of office, and put in John Klorer, his candidate for mayor early in the year, as city manager. Walmsley said Long stole the election.

Clergymen of New Orleans were astounded today when shown a report of a radio speech delivered by Senator Long in which he declared that vice and corruption of New Orleans "extends even into the bench of the city and I might add even to the clergy."

HITLER SETS HIMSELF UP AS OVERLORD OF THE GERMAN CHURCH

STUTTGART, Germany, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler caused publication of a statement tonight which made plain that he has assumed the functions of church overlord.

The statement concerned the appointment of Bishop Krauss as bishop of Wuerttemberg in place of Teophil Wurm, who was removed recently by Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller.

"Hitler has decided in response to an appeal presented by Bishops Hans Meiser and Teophil Wurm that the reichsbishop's actions were entirely legal," Bishop Krauss was quoted as having said in Wuerttemberg newspapers.

[Bishop Meiser of Bavaria has recently been severely criticized as an opponent of Mueller, and his removal was regarded as only a matter of time.]

BARES STAVISKY SCHEME TO FAKE HIS OWN DEATH

PARIS, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Serge Stavisky, shortly before his death, planned to fake evidence that he had died, authorities were told today by former Lieut. Rene Piglagio.

Stavisky, whose career of financial manipulation, while he was head of the Bayonne municipal pawnshop, wrecked three governments and rocked all France, planned to have himself counted among the dead in the Lagny train wreck in which 200 lives were lost last Christmas eve, the lieutenant said.

Two children and their governess saw Stavisky after the wreck, and the plan was dropped.

The Stavisky investigating committee, defying Minister of Justice Henry Cheron, voted today to publish in full the report of the secret police investigation into the death of Judge Albert Prince.

Judge Prince, who was about to give testimony concerning the financial operations of Stavisky, was found dead on railroad tracks under circumstances leading police to believe he had been slain. The investigating committee voted 19 to 8 to publish the police report, despite Cheron's insistence that such action would be illegal.

Woman Stenographer, 55, Hangs Self in Her Room

Miss Ruth Curriden, 55 years old, for many years employed in the stenographic department of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, committed suicide by hanging last night in her room at 5951 Midway park. The body was found by Miss Myrtle Rea, a roomer, and Charles Jex, proprietor of the rooming house. Miss Curriden underwent an operation three months ago after a nervous disorder.

Earl Houston, State Official, Hurt in Crash

Macomb, Ill., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Earl Houston, Springfield, an assistant attorney general, was believed dying in Phelps hospital here tonight after an auto crash near Macomb in which two other men were injured. They were John Kasseanan, Springfield, also a member of the attorney general's staf, and a third man identified only as Herring, who was driving the car in which the other two were passengers. Herring struck a car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lundstrom, Blandinsville, who escaped without injury. Gov. Henry Horner left Springfield for Macomb immediately.

DUTCH MENACE 3 LEGISLATORS WHO JEER QUEEN

Ten Carloads of Reds Try to Break Up Parade.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, Sept. 18.—Scenes unparalleled in the history of Holland's staid parliament marked the throne speech of Queen Wilhelmina today. Several communist interruptions culminated at the end of the speech with cries of:

"Away with the queen." "Down with the Colijn government." "Freedom for the East Indies."

The shouts were drowned by cheers and calls of "long live the queen" and singing of the national anthem.

Detectives swooped down on three communist members, knocking them down. One communist was bleeding profusely from the nose. Police, fearing an outbreak of violence as the temper of the throng about the parliament building grew in hostility, led the men to the palace of justice by a secret route. The Reds were later released.

Disappointed About Juliana.

It was the first time in the history of the Netherlands that members of parliament were arrested in the course of a session.

The disturbance was the culmination of a disorder outside as the queen was approaching to open parliament. Ten automobile loads of demonstrators tried to break up the royal parade, but they were fought off by police.

There was general public disappointment over the failure of the queen to announce the betrothal of her daughter, Princess Juliana. Nevertheless rumors persist in usually well informed circles that Juliana's engagement to Prince Charles of Sweden will be proclaimed before the year's end.

The communist demonstration caused the league for national reconstruction to protest against the weakness of authorities in combating the bolshevist danger. The league points out that a large soviet flag was flauntingly affixed opposite the royal palace.

Money for Warships.

Queen Wilhelmina in her speech announced that her government will retain the gold standard for currency and although Holland is gravely affected by the world crisis, there will be no increase in taxes. The depression was blamed to a large extent on unsettled conditions in the United States and Germany. The queen announced her government is reluctantly compelled to follow the example of other countries and strengthen her armaments.

It was disclosed tonight that the government proposes to spend 12,000,000 guilders [about $8,240,000] on new ships for the East Indian navy and 3,000,000 guilders [about $2,065,000] on the navy in Holland.

WOMAN MAY CHANGE HUSBAND'S MIND, TOO, CANADIAN VERDICT

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 18.—(AP)—A woman, it has often been said, may change her mind, but the appellate division of the Supreme court has ruled that she may also change her husband's mind.

W. Fraser, Bonnyville farmer, traded his cow for a buggy and took the vehicle home. Mrs. Fraser objected to the deal, and he marched back to his neighbor, with whom he made the trade, and left the buggy and took the cow.

Charged with theft of the cow, Fraser was fined $1 by a magistrate. However, when the appellate division heard all the facts it ruled that under the circumstances there was insufficient evidence to support a theft charge and quashed the conviction.

AUTOISTS' JOKE CLAIMS LIFE OF BOY ON BICYCLE

Another Child, at Play, Is Killed by Truck.

Frank Fern, 11 years old, 1935 North Monticello avenue, died yesterday in the county hospital of blood poisoning resulting from an injury he incurred Aug. 25 when five men jestingly pushed their automobile against his bicycle.

The boy was riding the bicycle at Lawndale avenue and Cortland street when the men drove up behind him. Joking with the boy, the driver gave the bicycle a push with the car and young Fern was thrown onto the fender of a parked car, injuring his knee. Four days later infection developed and he was taken to the hospital. Shakespeare avenue police last night began a search for the men.

Boy Killed at Play.

Lawrence Schumacher, 7 years old, 1114 Glenlake avenue, was struck and killed by a truck yesterday as he played with his twin brother, Burton, in an alley at the rear of 6133 Winthrop avenue. The boys had been sent home at noon because of the crowded condition of the Swift school, which they had entered Monday. The driver of the truck, Walter Becker, 5838 North Mulligan avenue, was not held by police.

Adolph Luksander, 56 years old, 3231 North Hamilton avenue, was killed and four men were injured early today in a collision of two automobiles at Lawrence and Ashland avenues. The injured are Adolph Luksander Jr., 24 years old, son of the man killed; John Allwart, 44 years old, 3434 North Leavitt street; Adolph Kussy, 49 years old, 2232 Addison street, and George Gordon, 31 years old, 4832 North Central Park avenue. Gordon was alone in one of the cars and the others were all riding in the second, driven by Allwart.

The deaths of the Fern and Schumacher boys, Luksander, and three other persons increased the Cook county motor toll for 1934 to 856. The other victims

Francis Chambers Jr., 5 years old, 1406 Cleveland avenue. Died in the Augustana hospital of injuries received Monday when he fell beneath the wheels of a truck driven by his father.

Olive Gadbery, 5 years old, colored, 314 North Fairfield avenue. Died in Provident hospital of injuries incurred Sept. 3, when she was struck by a truck at Fairfield avenue and Fulton street.

Frank Marek, 42 years old, 4242 Cullerton street. Fatally injured last night when he was crushed by a truck he was cranking at 62d street and Melvina avenue. He had left the truck in gear. Marek died at the Holy Cross hospital.

Schoolboy Critically Hurt.

John Bruce Scott, 6 years old, 1418 East 54th place, was critically injured by an automobile yesterday as he returned to his home for lunch after his first day at the Ray school, 57th street and Kenwood avenue. The boy ran behind a street car, which had stopped to discharge passengers at 55th street and Blackstone avenue, into the path of an automobile driven by Mrs. Ella Gesell, 24 years old, 5439 Kenwood avenue.

The body of a man who was killed by an automobile Sunday at 83d street and Exchange avenue was identified yesterday as that of Francis Perz, 50 years old, 8929 Escanaba avenue.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Ram Tries Ramming.

Sept. 18, 1934.

AN old Shropshire ram here on the farm stirred up plenty of excitement yesterday. He spent about half an hour trying to knock down a fence and a big gate while the boys stood around wondering if they would have to reinforce all the fortifications around this rambunctious critter.

The ram has been a quiet, peaceful resident on the farm all this season. He has been down in the pasture with the rest of the sheep every day. Not one fence had he gone after with the idea of demolishing it.

But yesterday the Shropshire was separated from the rest of the sheep. He was placed in a small lot by himself. The old boy didn't like this solitary confinement idea. A few minutes after the gate to this pasture had been locked the ram swung into action. He backed away from the gate about ten feet. Down went his head. Then he rushed at that gate and—wham!

Into it he went with all his might. You would have thought this one crash against the wooden gate would have given him an awful headache, but it didn't. He got set again like a full back for line smash and tore in. Finally the old boy gave it up as a bad job. Today he is quieter, but his temper still is a bit touchy.

Clarence Thurow, farm manager, has obtained 15 gallons of sweet cider from the apples picked in his orchard. This golden colored drink which one always associates with the first crisp days of autumn has been stored in a cool corner of the cellar.

Now that this cider has been made, Clarence's mother has a new task because she is going to make apple butter in the old fashioned way. She had to wait to put up the apple butter until the cider was made, because the preserving process calls for cooking apples in cider.

If Hereford steers could smile the entire herd of 117 being fattened here on the farm would grin from ear to ear this week. The reason for registering satisfaction on the part of these steers is the fact that th daily ration of green corn for the animals has been increased from 17 pounds a day for each animal to 20 pounds. Clarence Thurow is pleased with the condition of these steers. They are in fine shape and are gaining in weight every day.

The herd has learned what the sound of the wagon coming to the pasture means. Just as soon as the animals hear this chow wagon approaching and then the loud call, "Oh-ee-eeeee," from the driver you ought to see the Herefords step on the gas. No matter how widely they are scattered nor how far they may be on the sides of the green hills overlooking the woodland pasture, every white face comes arunning.

Some of the boys on the farm had an early dinner yesterday noon in order to hurry over to a neighboring farm and help fill a silo. This neighbor plans to return the call within a few days when the new 80 foot silo here on the farm will be the center of activity. Everybody on the place is looking forward to the big time of cutting corn and putting it into this skyscraper silo, which should be finished within a day or two.

GIRL SHOT; HER ESCORT SEIZED AS ASSAILANT

Abraham Eisenberg, 44 years old, an architectural engineer with offices at 14 West Washington street, was booked on a charge of assault to murder last evening after he had shot and seriously wounded Miss Sally Wierima, 24 years old, a manicurist. Later he was released on $5,000 bond.

The shooting occurred early yesterday in front of Miss Wierima's home at 4909 Sheridan road after she and Eisenberg had returned from a tour of taverns. At the Lake View hospital, where she was treated for a bullet wound in the jaw, Miss Wierima told police that the shooting occurred after she had slapped Eisenberg to halt his advances.

Eisenberg, who lives at 1653 Morse avenue with his wife, Edith, and his daughters, Joy, 11 years old, and Vivian, 8, told police that he remembered nothing of the circumstances leading to the shooting. His wife visited him at the Summerdale police station and said that she "would stand by her husband."

CHILDREN GIVE HELP TO TWO TRIBUNE FUNDS

Two groups of children have given a last minute boost to THE TRIBUNE Free Ice and Camp Algonquin funds.

In Des Plaines several playmates presented their version of the play, "Red Riding Hood," and earned $1.68 for the Free Ice fund. Those taking part were Royanna Stellman, Sylvia Stellman, Doris Louise Ahbe, and Marjorie June Brand.

From two enterprising sisters, Ruth and Lois Truelich, came $1.50, which they wished to be divided between the two funds. They spent several busy days collecting newspapers from their neighbors and sold them for 50 cents. To this their grandmother added a dollar.

The two gifts give the Free Ice fund a grand total of $6,713.94 and the Camp Algonquin fund a total of $6,278.01. Additional contributions will be welcome and should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

60 CIRCULATION MANAGERS HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Sixty circulation managers from newspapers in nine central states, meeting in convention at the Congress hotel yesterday, were told that character building should be the principal objective in training newsboys. Ray South of the Indianapolis News declared that the "psychology of handling boys should be to build up natural qualities of each tending to goodness." A study made by the census bureau for the newspaper code authority revealed that less than 500,000 selected boys were employed as carriers, and that their total earnings were $100,000,000 a year, Howard Stodghill of the Louisville, Ky., Courier told the delegates.

100 MILE SPEED TRAINS PLANNED BY SEVEN ROADS

Start Laying New Type Track in Few Weeks.

Immediate improvement of railway equipment throughout the country to insure safety at a sustained speed of 100 miles an hour was foretold yesterday by Elmer T. Howson, president of the Roadmasters and Maintenance of Way association. Mr. Howson, who is editor of the Railway Age of Chicago, spoke before 300 members of the organization at the opening of the forty-ninth annual convention at the Stevens hotel.

"The era of high speed tracks is here," Mr. Howson told the convention. "The job of putting in more new tracks that will enable a safe speed of 100 miles an hour will be started right after the close of the World's Fair.

Seven Plan High Speed.

"The Union Pacific will install the high speed system from Chicago to the Pacific coast. The Burlington will run 100 mile an hour trains from Chicago to St. Paul; the Boston and Maine from Boston to Bangor, Me.; the N Haven railroad between New York and Boston; the Baltimore and Ohio from New York to Washington, D. C.; the Illinois Central from Chicago to St. Louis, and the G. M. & N. between Mobile and Jackson, Tenn."

H. R. Clarke, engineer in charge of maintenance for the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy, affirmed Mr. Howson's statement and said that trains averaging from 90 to 95 miles an hour would be in operation by spring. He said that the Burlington planned to schedule such a train, streamlined and powered by a Diesel motored engine, between Chicago and St. Paul.

Motorists Present Problem.

"Our biggest problem in making such speeds possible," Mr. Clarke said, "lies in educating the motorists to respect railroad crossings. At the present time motorists who halt for stop signs announcing well traveled highways pay no heed to the railroad crossing."

Mr. Howson, in his speech opening the convention, recalled the test run on the Burlington between Denver and Chicago as an example of the possibility of high speeds. The average speed of the run, he pointed out, was 78 miles an hour, but at times reached 112 miles an hour.

"Overnight Run to New York."

"High speed is practical and has been tested," he said. "The railroad bed is much the same as the highway for the automobile. It is necessary to have a special roadbed for the higher speed, and I personally look for an overnight ride between Chicago and New York.

"Speed competition means a high speed, safe service all over the United States. Freight trains also are being speeded up. There is no such thing as a slow freight any more. We have freight trains that make 60 miles an hour."

Speed Steps from 20 to 60.

Increasing of speed of passenger trains, Mr. Howson said, marks a cycle in railroad development that will revolutionize railway transportation.

Average train speed a century ago was 20 miles an hour, Mr. Howson said. This was increased to 40, then to 60.

Other addresses at the convention were by Harry G. Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives; J. E. Armstrong, president of the American Railway Engineering association, and C. S. Heritage, president of the American Railway Bridge and Building association.

Board of Du Page County O. K.'s Courthouse Plans

Plans for the new Du Page county courthouse at Wheaton were approved yesterday by the county board of supervisors. A referendum on a proposed bond issue of $590,000 at 4 per cent to cover a federal public works administration loan will be submitted to the electorate Oct. 15. A PWA grant of $193,000 will supply the remaining funds for construction.

It is the Only Oil THAT CUTS DOWN Starting Wear!

ENGINEERS say that in cars lubricated with high-quality, straight-mineral motor oils, 50 per cent of all motor wear occurs during the first five minutes after you start! Such oils drain away from cylinders and bearings when the motor is idle. When you start, those parts make several thousand revolutions without proper lubrication before oil is pumped to them from the crankcase!

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the only oil that cuts down costly starting wear! It actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. This penetrative oil is Conoco's "Hidden Quart that Stays Up In Your Motor and Never Drains Away"! It is on duty from the first touch of your starter, protecting vital parts from destructive wear.

Continental research scientists developed and patented the process that gives New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil this unique characteristic. The value to you of their work was proved on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway where New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil was matched against five nationally-known oils. The motors were driven to destruction. (AAA Sanction No. 3002). This proved beyond a doubt the superiority of this oil.

Cut down starting wear in your car by filling with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil at any of the 18,000 Conoco Red Triangle Stations in 40 states.

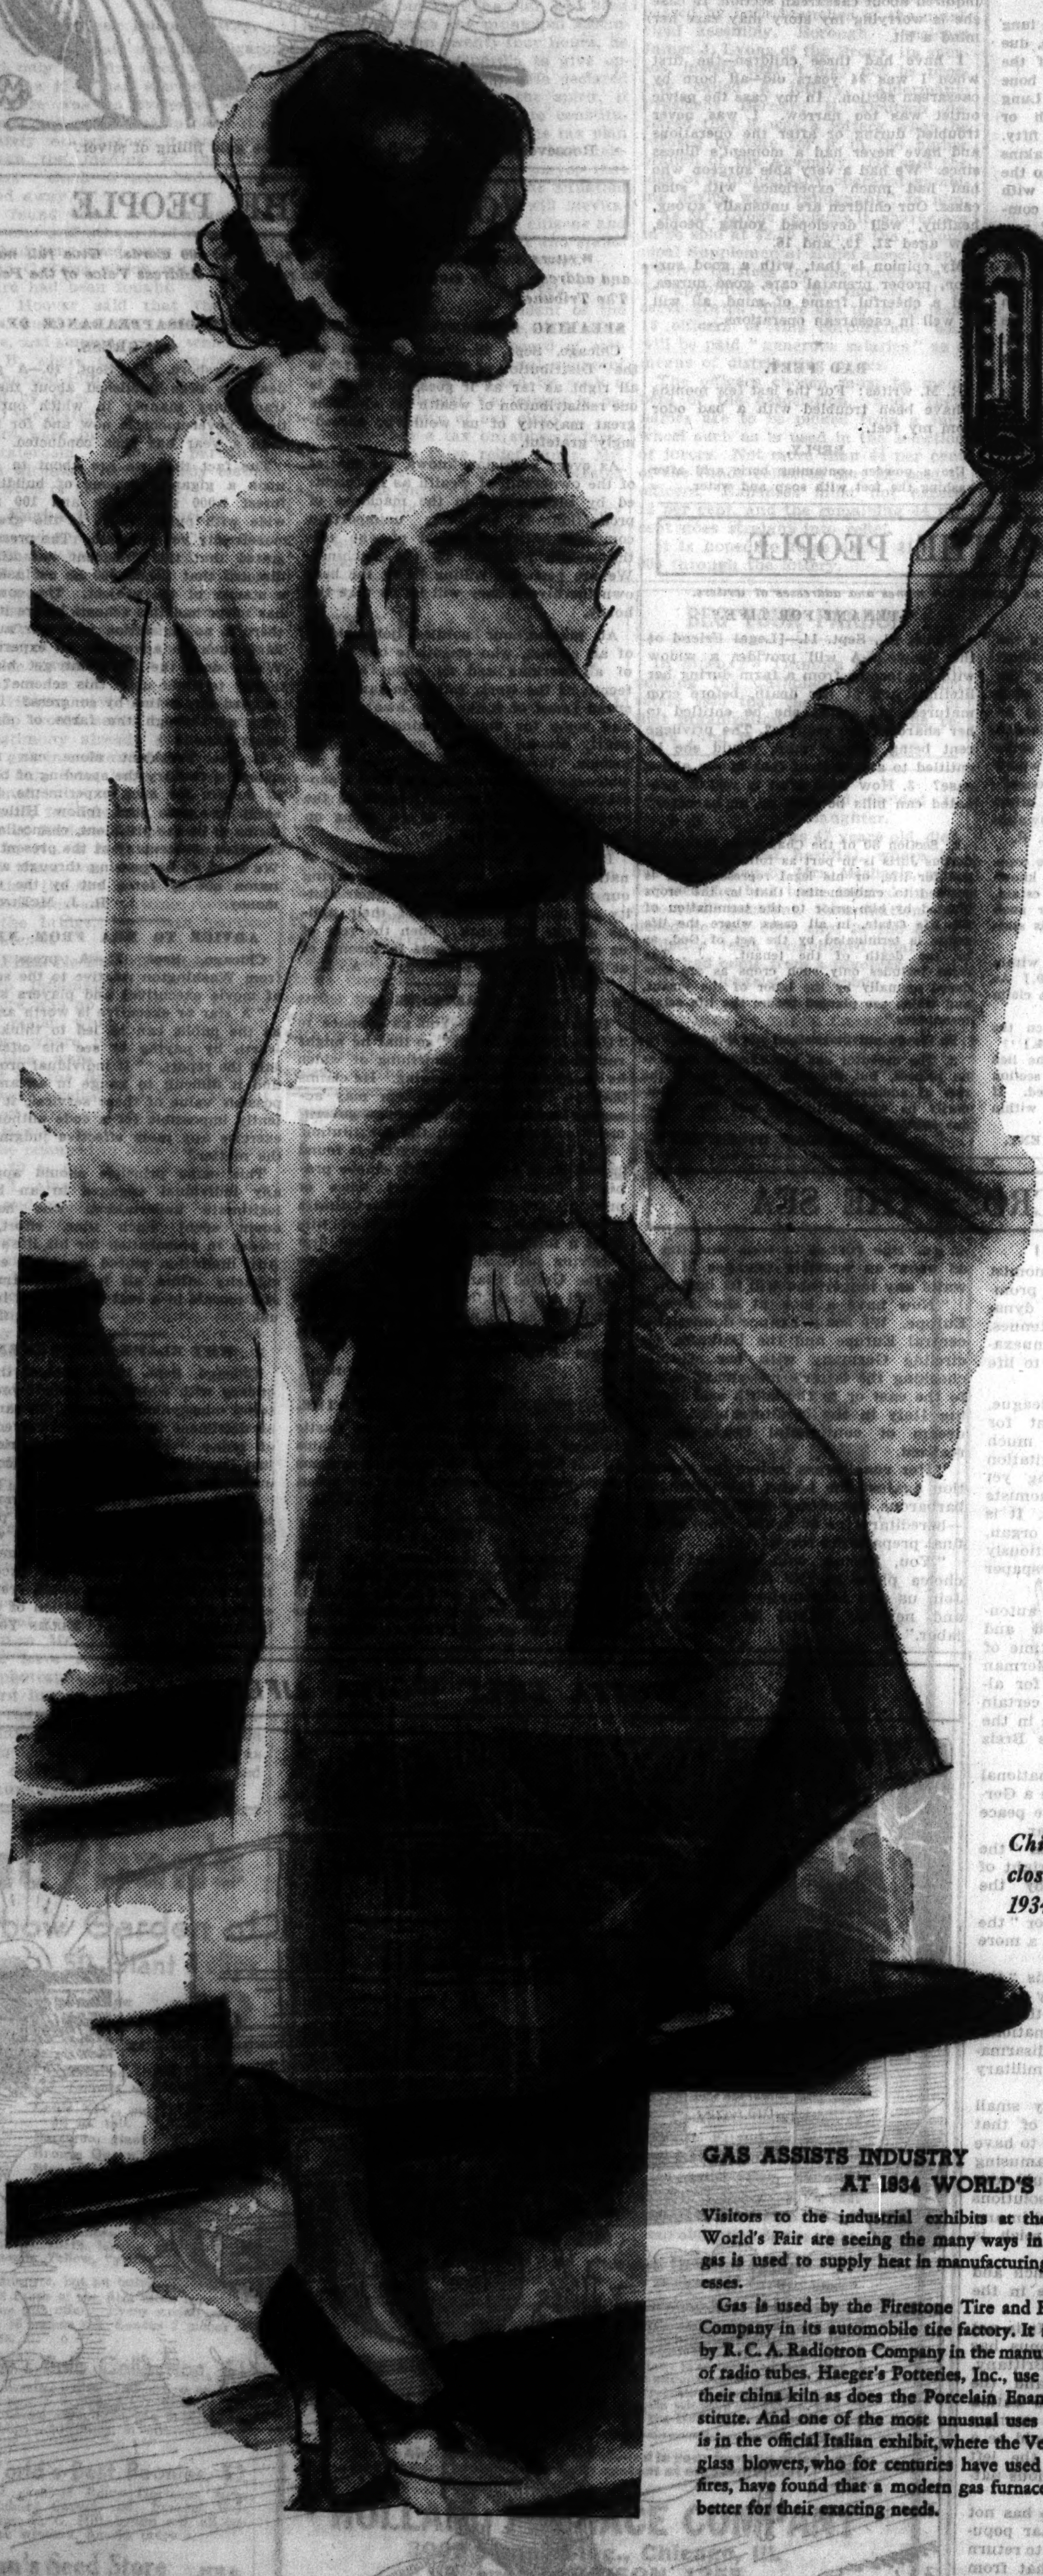
tending the furnace in a Gas Heated house



Gas Heat ends all furnace grime, labor and drudgery

To prove that every home can afford to heat with gas . . . we will install it at our expense and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

GAS heat is this easy and simple! You don't need to go near the furnace. No shoveling coal, no hauling ashes, no setting dampers. No fuel supply to run low in zero weather. One touch of the thermostat controls your heat perfectly, day and night.

But perhaps you say, "Yes, of course, I know gas heat is the perfect heat. But it costs too much."

New low cost for gas heat

Then here's good news for you. Drastic reductions in rates for gas heat—now less than half of what they were a few years ago—make it more than ever practical. A wonderful convenience, now within your reach.

To prove it—and we take the full burden of proof—we'll install it in your home without your making one cent of investment. Then you'll know from your own personal experience whether you can afford gas heat or not. And if we're wrong and you decide you don't want it—out it comes. We remove it at our expense.

While you are trying it you pay only a small rental during the nine heating months—only $3 a month for the burner in the average home. This charge will be included with your gas bill. And if for any reason during the first year you want it removed, we take it out and the rental charge stops immediately. Further, we replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. If you decide to keep it, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price.

Automatic gas heat promotes better health. No ups and downs of temperature which may start winter colds and coughs. No dust or grime to inhale. No odor. Gas heat saves cleaning bills and endless housework. Walls and paper stay clean year after year. Hangings stay up all winter long. There's no greasy smudge. No dirt-tracked stairs and rugs.

Get the facts today

Take advantage of our offer and let us install gas heat now. It is an offer we do not hesitate to make because we know the great difference gas heat will make in your home—your comfort—the health and contentment of your family. GAS ASSISTS INDUSTRY AT 1934 WORLD'S FAIR

Visitors to the industrial exhibits at the 1934 World's Fair are seeing the many ways in which gas is used to supply heat in manufacturing processes.

Gas is used by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in its automobile tire factory. It is used by R. C. A. Radiotron Company in the manufacture of radio tubes. Haeger's Potteries, Inc., use gas in their china kiln as does the Porcelain Enamel Institute. And one of the most unusual uses of gas is in the official Italian exhibit, where the Venetian glass blowers, who for centuries have used wood fires, have found that a modern gas furnace is far better for their exacting needs.

YOU INVEST NOTHING

To Try Gas Heat

Gas heat can be installed without your investing one cent for equipment. To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. Accept this startling offer. Phone your nearest gas office TODAY.

THE NEW DEAL COME TO JUDGMENT.

The federal administration in Washington concedes the inevitability of greater necessities on the public charge this winter than ever before. The relief administrator anticipates an increase in the number of persons who will be obliged to take refuge in the public lists. There is also an increasing percentage of the unemployable, so that the aggregate strain is becoming ever greater. It is not diminishing.

Two years ago in the November elections there was a political accounting. The Hoover administration had endeavored to meet the emergency requirements of the previous year and a half or two years and was attacked on the score of incompetence and even of ill disposition. The verdict was that the administration had been unable, if not unwilling, to do the things necessary in the crisis. A change of government was based on this popular verdict and the Republicans retired discredited.

The change was made effective in March, 1933, and new policies of government will have been in effect a year and a half by the November elections. The new administration did not waste any time. It has had no legislative opposition to speak of and no policies as yet have been stopped by a judicial decision. The New Deal has had a proving time of sufficient duration to show results or prospects of results. Another period of political accounting arises and the inventory should show results.

Administrators undertaking the execution of the revolutionary New Deal did not ask in advance that they be given as much time as they have had. The predictions made for the NRA are well remembered. Unemployment was to have been reduced, say by a third or a half, some time ago. Confidence was to have been restored; capital was to have been at work; the burden of debt was to have been reduced, production stimulated, and the product carried into a sustaining consumption. Farm prices were to have rescued the farmer, and he was again to be in the market for goods offered by factories before idle.

There are now less than two months before election and a government which then has had responsibility for a year and a half is put to an accounting. If the measures of administration so confidently and even recklessly adopted and applied nearly a year and a half ago were good, where is the proof to be found? The administration has moved in all directions to accomplish its purposes. It has been given all the money for which it asked. The largest peacetime appropriations the country ever knew have been passed. Congress has adopted virtually every measure recommended to it by the President. The national debt has been increased until prudent citizens fear the effect on the national credit and the national currency. The dollar has been devalued. The public works program has been inflated to the extreme administrative possibilities of the government.

Subsidies have been freely granted. Loans have been made to nearly every political unit and uncounted individuals. Agricultural theorists have had free swing and dictatorial powers. Acreage has been reduced; crops have been plowed under; live stock has been slaughtered; taxes levied, and subsidies paid. Every scheme which unrestricted theorists could conceive, operating with the treasury behind them and no restraint of law to retard them, has been tried. Industry and finance have been put under the control of such regulations as the New Dealers anticipated would promote recovery, stimulate the investment of capital, restore confidence, and fill the wants of the people.

Now two judgments are to be made. First, the most important one, although one which may prevail least in the opinion of the people at the present time, were these measures adopted and applied with due consideration for the permanent well-being of the American people? Were the ultimate results of policies which necessarily violated constitutional rights and impaired cherished liberties of the people wise in the long view of the American future? Were they permissible, even as emergency methods?

The prudent, conservative answer is no. That answer is more justified because the revolutionaries say the general policy of government is no longer one of emergency but one of permanence. The taint of even temporary measures disregarding fundamental rights would have been a serious thing because governments do not readily throw off tendencies they have acquired when misguided by excitement and emergency. Prudence will say that the first question is to be answered in the negative, but distressed people may not care so much for that side of the question just now. The regrets would come later.

The second question, and it is of immediate importance to the people concerned, is how the emergency measures, regarded as emergency measures, fill the bill. What is the present relation of the results to the promises? What has the country to show in betterment for the extraordinary doings of the social planners in Washington?

To that question the answer must be that the distress is growing, the uncertainties were never greater, confidence never during the depression had less hold upon the general expectations, disorders were never greater, discontent never more violent, and the predicament of the government was never more evident.

Complaints against the course of events arise in increasing volume in Washington itself. Administrators are blaming everybody but themselves for what is taking place. They naturally refuse to confess the fact that their methods have not succeeded in producing the promised results, and they avoid the conclusion that not only has failure attended the new processes but that these new processes in themselves have completely blanketed the efforts of the citizens as citizens to recover on their own initiative. The New Dealers have destroyed one thing and have not created another.

If this is denied, let proof be offered to the contrary. It will not be found in the increasing numbers of American citizens who, unable to support themselves, will look to the relief agencies of the government for the living they have been unable to earn under any of the codes, agricultural agreements, wage and hour fixing laws, price and production regulations, currency and financial manipulations, or other devices of an administration which cut itself loose from all restraints, from all American principles of government, and has gone free handed, prodigally supplied with money, into every attempt at social economic control its theorists could devise.

A year and a half of this demands an answer from the men accountable. They can no longer ask for time. They have had both time and money. Neither law nor man has stopped them. They substituted their mechanisms for the natural course. The present is of their own creation. The condition of the country is their responsibility.

WOLF IN THE FOLD.

The arguments for admitting Russia into the league of nations were quite simple. So were those who believed them. The arguments were based upon a theory that the soviet attitude toward the rest of the world had undergone a miraculous change in the last year. Those in favor of allowing Russia a seat in the league argued that Stalin and his companions would thereby be obliged to aid in the preservation of world comity. They pointed out that Russia in an official answer to a league question had said it was distinctly in favor of world comity. They asked: Would you doubt the official word of a great nation like Russia?

A number of nations did doubt the official word, but their objections were overruled. The league accepted Russia with almost open arms. In so doing its members indicated that they, like most of their countries as individuals, were prepared to believe anything good of the soviet and to forget anything bad. The members closed their memories to statements by Lenin and Stalin that the proletarian revolution must be promoted all over the world. They ignored the evidence which has been uncovered from time to time of communist revolutionary propaganda in almost every nation on the globe. They forgot Stalin's handsome gesture in raising funds for the widows and children of communists slain while inciting riots in Vienna. They winked at Russia's army of 16 million men, the largest in the world. They assumed Russia's huge fleet of bombing planes [there are more than 3,000 military airplanes in Russia] was built for purely defensive purposes.

Five nations very wisely tried to block Russia's entrance into the league. They are Portugal, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, and the Argentine, and they are to be commended. Other nations must have seen that entrance into the league is simply a step in Russia's cunning progress toward a world revolution effected from the inside, but they alone refused to sacrifice integrity for trade expediency.

A PROFESSOR SUPPLIES A PLATFORM.

Harold M. Groves, professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin and principal brain truster for the La Follette radicals, advises those who want socialism that they can get more of it from the Progressives than they can from the Socialist party.

The latter, he says, are revolutionists who prefer no bread to half a loaf. The Progressives agree with the Socialists that there must be fundamental economic changes, he continues, but will take what ground they can win from year to year rather than wait 25 years in the hopes of acquiring it all in one fell swoop.

The La Follette spokesman, who is a candidate for the state senate, explained that in a debate recently with his Socialist opponent. His argument, in summary, is that the Progressives and Socialists have almost identical aims, but that the Progressives have a more practical plan of accomplishment. The leaders from whom the Progressives of today borrowed their title, T. R. for example, would have indignantly denied the parallel, but what's in a name nowadays?

The Wisconsin professor has supplied for the voters what the managers of the new party have withheld, a party platform. Up to a week before the primary the only definition of principle by La Follette candidates for office has been: Leave it to us.

Even if he were a Progressive spokesman of less authority Prof. Groves would have little difficulty in convincing voters that he speaks the truth. The reason the Socialist candidate for President in 1932 received fewer votes than Debs did more than 10 years before, he says, is because the people felt they could get more practical socialism through Roosevelt than through Norman Thomas.

There is no one in Wisconsin to dispute Prof. Groves that the La Follette party is practically more radical than the Socialist, and if it were to win greater power would be more immediately mischievous to American institutions. This applies, of course, to politicians in other states who share the La Follette ideas, though running for office under other party names.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE RACES between the Challenger and the Rainbow are too slow. But for those among us who like international yacht races and are still a good deal bored, here's a grand idea for a race that will have more action and zippity zip to it than the boat races. Let's have a race between the great Hallett Glacier out in Rocky Mountain National park and the Eliot Glacier in Oregon. Let a silver cup be offered to the one who finishes first in a fifty mile dash. Each one of these glaciers travels about two inches a year, so it will be some time before the race is ended. But that's a good thing, for think of the long time we can stay excited and the great opportunity offered to stand by the side of our favorite glacier and wave our hats and cheer and yell, "Come on, you Hallett!" "Attaboy, Eliot; keep a-goin'!" and things like that. There ought to be a big lot of betting; if people will bet on an international yacht race they ought to go plumb crazy over a glacier race and sling their money all over the place at all kinds of odds. My favorite is the Eliot Glacier, because the summers are warmer in Oregon than up in the mountains in Colorado. One buck against a pair of used suspenders that Eliot wins the great national glacier race! Are you on? Bets will be paid when the fifty mile route has been traveled by the first glacier that pokes its icy cold snoot under the wire. Bets usually are paid to the winner, but in this case the money goes to the survivor or his heirs just the same as in international yacht races. Make your bets, ladies and gentlemen; make your bets. THOUGHT ON APPROACHING OCTOBER.

October is a name for trees that turn
To wind-blown fountains flinging golden spray;
It is a name for maple boughs that burn
With ruddy brands the cool autumnal day;

A name for unimagined beauty fanned
To sudden blazing by a frosty breath,
For amber stillness heavy on the land.
October is a glamorous name for death.

IN THESE SAD, DREAR DAYS of fall house cleaning and getting ready to move in October a few old fashioned superstitions should be brought to mind. Even those who are not superstitious would do well to get that way these days. For instance, it is unlucky to go up on a rickety stepladder with a pail of hot suds to wash the woodwork over the door or hang a picture. The superstitious will also tell you that it's bad luck to leave a wet bar of slippery soap on the stairway or the middle of the floor. And it's a bad sign if you sit down in a chair in which a painting or two and three or four glass covered pictures have been parked. Another old time superstition that ought to be brought out and dusted off these days is the one about peeking down into the empty can with a lighted match to see if there is any kerosene left in it. Good gosh! That's a sign of bad luck for the rest of your life. If any.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND GALLONS of the best American rye whisky which was shipped to France during the late guerre for the American soldats has turned up in Paris. The armistice came so quickly the whisky was never distributed. I've always thought that war ended too soon. Wonder if there's any chance of getting it started up again? War is an awful thing, but one hundred thousand gallons of rye waiting to be sopped up! Come on, fellers, let's go!

OUR BLUE BOOK PEERAGE down East is all stirred up because they fear that something young John Jacob Astor III. is reported to have said to his young bride, Mrs. John Jacob Astor III., indicates a rift within the lute that might lead to Reno. Young Mr. Astor III. is reported to have jumped up from a table in the dining room at a Providence, R. I., hotel and rushed away from Mrs. Astor (III.) with the remark: "No, damn it, I won't." Both Mr. Astor (III.) and Mrs. Astor (III.) deny that any such lamentable incident occurred and the parents and friends of both the young Astors (III. and III.) deny it passionately. But what of it? It all depends. Among the Blue Book peerage the exclamation "No, damn it, I won't!" might be considered horrifying beyond measure. On the contrary, many wives would consider such a remark as a mere pleasantry and part of the day's work. Some lady might think her husband was peevish at her if such a remark were made and another would not believe that husband was really cross unless he threw the card table at her, bounced her out through the window into the alley, or gave her a swift poke in the jaw. Of course, if these last unfortunate episodes happened almost any lady wife would have a right to the opinion that her husband was somewhat displeased with her.

You came to your fruition, Emily,
Alone and loving loneliness. To gird
Your mind in secret armor was your life
And then to send it battling for a word.

You loitered in a universe that stretched
From earth to heaven and from life to death,
Considered and rejected all of love,
Invoked the angels when you ached for faith.

You built your house of reticence and pain,
Admitted beauty, brevity, restraint;
With these you shut the door and wove your art,

WHEEZY BREATHING.

INDIVIDUALS who breathe with difficulty are often said to be asthmatic. Their breathing difficulties appear to lie in the effort that must be made to expel air from the lungs.

There is a condition, known as emphysema, that is characterized by a permanent stretching of certain air sacs of the lung. Because of this stretching the lung tissue has lost much of its elasticity, and a powerful effort must be made by the muscles of respiration to squeeze the air out of the lungs. The result of this effort is the characteristic wheeze that accompanies expiration.

Under normal conditions air leaves the lungs by means of the contraction of the chest cavity, thus lessening the space occupied by the air. Whenever the air sacs become overdistended—that is, permanently stretched—the amount of air that remains within the lungs, not expired, is increased. In order to make room for this leftover air the diaphragm is pushed downward. This has the effect of protruding the abdomen and causes a marked increase in the circumference of the waist.

It is well known that decreased lung capacity occurs with advancing age, due to the loss of muscular control of the ribs and to increasing deposits of bone in the flexible portions of the ribs. Lung capacity may decrease one-fourth or more between the ages of thirty and fifty.

In a recent article Jonathan Meakins and Ronald Christie call attention to the breathing difficulties of the patient with emphysema, and note that he is compelled to overwork the muscles of respiration, inasmuch as many of the air sacs are useless because of overstretching. As a result the blood is poorly supplied with oxygen. This means an increased demand for air and, at the same time, a decreased ability to bring air into contact with functioning lung cells.

To remedy the situation, at least in part, Meakins and Christie suggest the use of a strong binder that will increase abdominal pressure, raise the diaphragm, and support it during respiration. In their experience this relieves the patient of a considerable amount of muscular effort. Through its use many patients have a consciousness of easy breathing.

A French writer, Louis Moinson, attributes the improvement resulting from the use of the abdominal binder in cases of emphysema to the restoration of the normal position of the abdominal organs and to the relief of load on the weakened abdominal muscles. He notes, on observing the act of respiration by means of the X-ray screen, that the diaphragm was almost motionless during in-breathing; that when the patient was asked to take a deep breath and repeat this a few times he soon became out of breath and the heartbeat was markedly increased. Moinson says that the amount of air taken into the lungs is sometimes nearly doubled by wearing the abdominal belt.

The routine wearing of abdominal girdles may be an important factor in decreasing the incidence of emphysema in women.

CAESAREAN OPERATION.

A. S. V. writes: Recently J. F. M. inquired about caesarean section. In case she is worrying my story may ease her mind a bit.

I have had three children—the first when I was 34 years old—all born by caesarean section. In my case the pelvic outlet was too narrow. I was never troubled during or after the operations and have never had a moment's illness since. We had a very able surgeon who had had much experience with such cases. Our children are unusually strong, healthy, well developed young people, now aged 21, 19, and 16.

My opinion is that, with a good surgeon, proper prenatal care, good nurses, and a cheerful frame of mind, all will be well in caesarean operations.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What is the maximum amount of time that can elapse following the completion of a job and the filing of a labor lien therefor? Can lien still be filed if property has been sold or deeded in meantime? Does a lien claim come ahead of a mortgage in a case where lien is filed after foreclosure proceedings have been instituted? What other recourse is there if the time allowable for filing a lien has expired? E. R.

Any person who by contract with the owner or with one whom the owner has knowingly permitted to improve his real estate, furnishes labor or material used for such purpose, is given a lien by the Illinois statutes. [Section 1.]

The contractor must file his suit within two years after completion. [Section 9.] As to third parties, however, he must file claim within four months. [Section 7.]

Subcontractors must serve notice on the owner within sixty days. [Section 24.]

If the owner wishes to dispute the lien his remedy is to serve notice under section 34, demanding that suit be commenced. If the lien claimant does not comply within ten days he forfeits $25.

"TENANT FOR LIFE."

Hume, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A will provides a widow with the income from a farm during her lifetime, and at her death, before crop matures, [1] would she be entitled to her share of the crop? 2. The privilege rent being a fixed sum, would she be entitled to any part of that in the above case? 3. How long after a will is probated can bills be paid by an executor? S. T.

1. Section 80 of the Chapter on Estates in Corpus Juris is in part as follows: "A tenant for life, or his legal representative, is entitled to emblements; that is, the crops planted by him prior to the termination of the life estate, in all cases where the life estate is terminated by the act of God, as by the death of the tenant. . . . The right includes only such crops as are produced annually by the labor of the tenant, and which are planted before the life estate terminates."

2. We do not understand the question.

3. The executor can pay them as soon as he pleases, but payment would be at the risk of additional claims being filed. Ordinarily he waits until the year for claims has expired.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS. — The Breton autonomist movement, which blazed into prominence two years ago with the dynamiting of a monument in Rennes, erected in celebration of the annexation of the province, has come to life again.

The Breton independence league, Breiz Atao — Breton equivalent for Sinn Fein—has launched a much more ambitious program of agitation and propaganda than anything yet attempted by the Breton autonomists —hitherto an obscure minority. It is published in their bimonthly organ, the Breiz Atao, which is surreptitiously circulated among foreign newspaper men and abroad.

Suspicions that the Breton autonomist movement is fomented and financed by Germany—at the time of the Rennes bomb incident a German newspaper man was expelled for alleged complicity—take on a certain plausibility from some features in the autonomist manifesto that the Breiz Atao publishes.

The section regarding international policy reads almost exactly like a German demand for revision of the peace treaties following the world war.

The first paragraph demands "the extension to all states of the right of self-determination promised by the peace treaties of 1919."

The second paragraph calls for "the revision of the 1919 treaties on a more equitable basis."

The third paragraph demands "the real recognition of the equality of the rights of all peoples, which is the sole possible basis for durable international accords allowing progressive disarmament and the reduction of military service."

That little Brittany, a very small part of France, and a part of that land since 1532, should pretend to have a foreign policy seems quite amusing to Paris. That that policy should read just like a set of Nazi resolutions which might have been adopted in any rally in Chancellor Hitler's reich is either amusing or significant.

Even more openly anti-French and pro-German is another article in the periodical. It begins:

"France seeks war! . . . It is not enough that the French octopus has extended its tentacles into Brittany, Flanders, Alsace, Corsica, and the country of the Basques. This nation wants to stay in the Saar, a country specifically German. That would be a prelude to the conquest of the left bank of the Rhine, that notorious natural frontier of France.

"But France feels that she has not won the sympathy of the Saar population and that they will vote to return to Germany. France feels that from that situation may come the war she seeks. So she feverishly proceeds with her military and diplomatic preparations.

"France, although armed to the teeth, realizing that Germany is getting back on her feet, cries out in alarm—what hypocrisy—to the league of nations, or to the countries that are in her pay, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, and so on. She rushes to war, wanting it as soon as possible because if she waits any longer she will be beaten.

"Now have a look at the map of Europe. We see a France dominating central Europe and the Balkans, encircling Germany with her vassals, checking the latter's movement either to the east or to the south and blocking Italy in the Mediterranean. Her dream of continental hegemony is realized.

"Her venal press incites the population against the boche, the infamous, barbarous, hereditary enemy of France —hereditary for 60 years. That is the final preparation for war.

"You, Breton, will be called to a choice place in the slaughter. . . Join us and help make Brittany free and neutral, fecund in peace and labor."

SPEAKING OF REDISTRIBUTION.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Your editorial on the "Distribution of Whose Wealth?" is all right as far as it goes, but there is one redistribution of wealth for which the great majority of us would be exceedingly grateful.

As every politician knows, the matter of the ownership of wealth as represented by investments in the machines of production is relatively unimportant compared with the matter of who gets the wealth produced by the machines. We are perfectly willing to let the bees own the hive if they will let us take the honey.

At present our political job holders of all classes, who constitute one-eighth of all workers and do about one-sixteenth of the work, collect in taxes and spend [most of it for their own salaries and some for vote catching purposes] nearly one-half of the entire national income. In other words, the rest of us, who constitute seven-eighths of the population and do fifteen-sixteenths of the productive work, have to get along on the remaining 55 per cent.

If there is to be a redistribution of national wealth, let's begin by paying our political office holders for their ability as producers instead of their ability as tax collectors. Then the rest of us could have an increase in income of at least 50 or 60 per cent. A. B.

DECORATIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—You gave space to "Undecorated Citizen" so that he might rail and rant about something of which he apparently knows nothing. He claims that no United States citizen may accept a decoration from a foreign government without violating the constitution.

The clause to which he refers is found in section 9, article 1. This clause prohibits persons holding any office of profit or trust under the United States from accepting any decoration or title from a foreign government without first receiving permission from the congress of the United States.

I did not read the article to which he refers, but if the persons involved were, as he says, private citizens, then this clause is not binding on them.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF CONGRESS.

Murphysboro, Ill., Sept. 10.—A great deal has been published about the extraordinary manner in which our national government is now and for more than a year has been conducted.

The fact that we are about to enter upon a gigantic scheme of building a forest 1,000 miles long and 100 miles wide with public funds is the greatest monstrosity yet proposed. The press has stated that the President has already directed that $75,000,000 be set aside as a starter of the project. The congress has never had this scheme before it, and there is no legislation whatever authorizing such an adventure or experiment. Where does the President get his authority to enter upon this scheme? Does he need any action by congress? If not, why go through the farce of electing congressmen?

If the President alone can fasten upon the country the spending of billions of dollars for such experiments, let us scrap congress and follow Hitler; he seems to be the president, chancellor and congress of Germany at the present time. We seem to be passing through a revolution not by force but by the use of money.

R. J. McElvain.

ADVICE TO NRA FROM NRA.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—A press report from Washington relative to the salaries of movie executives and players says:

"A star or executive is worth as much as the public can be led to think he is worth by paying to see his offerings," said the report. "If individual producers find it difficult to gauge in advance the possible value of these services, it is potently impossible for a code authority to exercise any more effective judgment in the matter."

This same principle should apply to any individual engaged in an honest, legitimate undertaking, who has no doubt spent much time, effort, and money in preparation for his life's work. Any limitation placed on one's earning capacity stifles all initiative, ambition, and morale in a real red-blooded individual.

WHY BLAME THE WOMEN?

Chicago, Sept. 15.—I protest the frequency with which you permit your editorial misogynist to pursue his campaign of detriment to women. Your editorial of today, "Polygamy in America," is just the current instance of his constant innuendo.

If the economic situation has gradually become such that it is no longer possible for the home to take care of its women, why blame the women? Most men and women know that with few exceptions the majority of women would prefer the establishment and supervision of a livable home.

SHIP QUIZ HEAD SEES FIRE DOOR AS DISASTER KEY

Inquiry Board Inspects Hull of Morro Castle.

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Dickerson N. Hoover, chairman of the federal board investigating the Morro Castle disaster, declared here today that he had found nothing to disturb his original opinion that the ship fire might have been confined to the writing room where it was first discovered if the fire door leading from that room to the lounge had been closed.

Mr. Hoover made this statement after he and other members of the board had made a four hour examination of the hulk, which is beached here.

The members of the inquiry board, who spent the last week investigating the disaster in New York, said they found the ship almost completely burned out.

Safety Devices Burned Away.

Mr. Hoover said the investigators found only one fire door which even looked as if it had started to close, and there was no evidence whether any one had attempted to close it deliberately or whether it had closed through the melting of the safety latches. Such devices had all been burned away.

He found some fire hydrants had been used and others had not. Those that had been used were on decks A, B, and C, from which witnesses said the fire had been fought.

Mr. Hoover said that the social rooms, such as the writing room, lounge, and smoking room, which filled deck B, where the fire started, had been burned into one open space supported by steel beams. On decks C and D the staterooms occupied by passengers were burned from stateroom to stateroom, through partititions which witnesses have already testified were wood or beaverboard.

Engine Room Untouched.

The engine room, which Chief Engineer Eben Abbott admitted he never visited after the alarm and which the engine room crew left within fifteen minutes, was found untouched by fire. When it was examined today it was still free of water and showed that it had been invaded only by considerable smoke.

Mr. Hoover said the inspection of the ship would serve in interpreting the testimony already given by witnesses and in reëxamining the officers of the ship who have already been questioned.

He said, for instance, that the testimony of Isadore Miller that the fire raged in No. 3 hold and may have started there was supported by evidence that the fire in that hold, below the staterooms and writing room and abaft the bridge, had been particularly intense.

Finds No Burned Polish.

As to inflammables, Mr. Hoover said there was no sign of any burned cans of polish, while the storeroom in the bow, where paint and other inflammables were kept, was never reached by the flames. The cans of paint were swelled and blistered, but none had burst or taken fire.

Mr. Hoover said the investigation would be resumed in New York Thursday at 10 a. m. The questioning of George I. Alagna, assistant radio operator, and remaining members of the crew and passengers will precede the reëxamination of the officers on the bridge as to the control of the fire and the handling of the ship.

Meanwhile the separate investigation being conducted by United States Attorney Martin Conboy and the federal grand jury continued. Assistant United States Attorney John C. Walsh today interrogated some thirty members of the Morro Castle's crew with a view to determining what importance their testimony before the grand jury will have.

Third Inquiry Postponed.

Perhaps the most important witness in the group was William Tripp, cadet engineer of the liner, who turned over to officials of the Ward line, owners of the Morro Castle, a private engine room log kept by him during the ship's final voyage. The line officials have given Mr. Hoover the original log and have supplied Mr. Conboy with a photostatic copy of it.

A third inquiry into the disaster—that by the special congressional committee investigating alien propaganda activities in this country—which was to have started today, was postponed until Thursday.

Business and Clergy Lash New York Lottery Scheme

New York, Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Business interests and the city's clergy joined today in a strong protest against the lottery scheme to raise relief funds as "degrading and shocking to the moral sense of the community."

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and other city officials were charged with lacking moral courage and with resorting to the easy way out in adopting the scheme proposed by James J. Lyons, borough president of The Bronx.

The protests arose after the municipal assembly today had quickly passed the three point relief fund tax program, including the lottery, which had been agreed upon as a compromise to raise 50 million dollars in relief funds.

"Vigorous Condemnation."

The Greater New York Federation of Churches voted a "vigorous condemnation of the lottery plan," Charles Trexler, president of the federation, announced.

The Society for the Prevention of Crime, through its president, the Rev. George Drew Egbert, threatened to take legal action.

"This cuts to the root of the whole gambling situation and results in a lowering of the moral tone of the city," said Dr. Egbert.

Pointing out that the plan had been hurried through the municipal assembly in less than twenty-four hours, he urged Mayor La Guardia to give opponents to it a hearing. He declared that a lottery violates the spirit, if not the letter, of the state constitution. He said that before the tax plan was adopted the society had telegraphed a protest to the mayor that "any attempt to relieve the situation by so-called lottery plans will inevitably sap the morals of our citizens and weaken the financial credit and standing of our city before the world."

Board of Trade Protest.

Percy C. Magnus, president of the New York Board of Trade, in a letter to the members of the board of estimate, said that "the moral sense of the community is shocked by such a proposal," and that "a lottery is beneath the dignity of our city."

Urging that a tax on subway fares be imposed to raise relief funds, Mr. Magnus, in his letter, protested against the lottery as follows:

"We do not believe any emergency exists which warants the substitution of gambling, which is unlawful, for taxation, which is a normal function of government. Have we sunk so low that the financial future of the metropolis is to be determined by the 'roll of dice' or the 'flip of cards'? Will the city set this example of disrespect for law by its evasion?

Questions Courage.

"Or are our elected officials motivated by expediency rather than courage? If this is the case, the New York Board of Trade observes that the city needs 'leaders' not 'good fellows.'

"A lottery is beneath the dignity of our city; it is an affront to its citizens and its business institutions; it would be a sad reflection upon its public officials."

Mr. Magnus also protested against the gross business tax of one-tenth of one per cent and the income tax an impost equal to 15 per cent of the amount paid as federal income tax on earnings in this city, as burdensome and unfair.

Protesting the tax on business, the Fifth Avenue association, in statement, declared that "business obviously has been made the scapegoat of the city," and that the "course of least resistance is being followed by the city in the matter of taxation."

The Lottery Plan.

The lottery plan was approved in the form of a concurrent resolution passed by both branches of the municipal assembly. Borough President James J. Lyons of the Bronx, its sponsor, insists that it may not be properly called a lottery. Aldermanic President Bernard S. Deutsch declared that it was a lottery when he refused to vote for it in the higher branch of the assembly. He said the idea of a municipally operated gambling device was "repugnant" to him.

As Mr. Lyons explains it, shares are to be sold at $2.50 each in the "Municipal Supplemental Relief association." Twelve trustees for the funds are to be appointed by the mayor, all to serve gratis. There are to be at least 13 officers of this corporation, who will be paid "generous salaries" as a means of distributing prizes.

The officers chosen must be members of the association, and their names are to be picked from a jury wheel such as is used in the selection of jurors. Not more than 44 per cent of the funds collected may be paid to officers. Expenses must not exceed 12 per cent, and the remaining 44 per cent goes straight into relief.

It is hoped to raise about $12,000,000 through the lottery.

GETS 1-14 YEARS FOR SLAYING OF HER EX-HUSBAND

Surprising even her own lawyers, Mrs. Ida Michaels, 52 years old, Bensenville, who had previously denied she killed her divorced husband, Jesse, last April 7, pleaded guilty to manslaughter late Monday. She was sentenced by Judge Max F. Allaben in the Du Page Circuit court in Wheaton to one to fourteen years in the women's penitentiary at Dwight.

Selection of the jury to try the thrice divorced woman for Michaels' murder was well under way when the widow held a whispered consultation with her lawyer, Craig Hood of Chicago Heights. Hood asked for a brief recess, at the close of which he announced his client had decided to plead guilty to manslaughter.

Michaels, who was 47 years old, died in the Elmhurst hospital, where he had been taken by Mrs. Michaels, who declared he had been injured in an automobile accident. Examination disclosed he had been shot in the back Ballistics tests established that the bullet had come from a revolver found in Mrs. Michaels' automobile.

POLICE TO CHECK ON SIX EXPELLED BY SLAIN TEACHER

Alumni May Hire Private Investigators.

Northfield, Mass., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—With pressure coming upon them and the school authorities from many sources to find the slayer of the Rev. Elliott Speer, headmaster of the Mount Hermon School for Boys, police today widened their search to include all persons who might have had any feeling against the dead man during the years he spent at the school.

Mr. Speer was shot through the window of his study in his campus home Friday night as he was at his desk. The assassin escaped on foot through the campus woods or by automobile.

Police today enlisted the aid of Edwin P. Thompson of Westerley, R. I., president of the senior council of the 1934 class. Thompson, with Dean Thomas E. Elder, went over a list of former students expelled during the two year Speer régime. He selected six names of boys whose whereabouts on the night of the murder will be checked. District Attorney J. T. Bartlett emphasized that these boys were not to be considered "suspects."

Albert E. Roberts, executive secretary of the board of trustees, said that if police were unable to solve the murder, alumni and the school itself would take a hand with private investigators.

Today police continued questioning school attachés. A checkup revealed that more than a hundred persons concerned with school affairs were either on the campus or close to it on the night of the murder. It is planned to take a statement from each of them.

Confer With Police.

Dean Elder and the Rev. R. M. Russell conferred with the police today. Mr. Russell has a pastorate in Larchmont and officiated at the Speer funeral yesterday in Englewood, N. J. The nature of his conference was not revealed. It was learned, however, that he was able to clear up several details concerning persons at one or another time acquaintances or associates of Mr. Speer.

It was indicated the hunt had been broadened today to include persons dwelling nearby not identified with the school. Police, it was revealed, are checking stories in Northfield Village and in the adjoining towns of Gill and Bernardston of men of unsavory reputation known to be proficient gunners.

Meanwhile efforts to find the shot gun which police think the slayers may have thrown away were not relaxed. A hundred students, divided into squads often, each led by a state trooper, went into the woods and hunted over hundreds of acres of wild country.

3 GET 10 DAYS IN BRIDEWELL AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the Safety court yesterday sent three motorists to the Bridewell for 10 days and fined them $100 each on charges of driving while intoxicated. He imposed two other Bridewell sentences, one for reckless driving and the other for leaving the scene of an accident.

The plea of Fred Bickel, 54 years old, of Long Lake, that it was his hay fever which caused him to appear intoxicated when he was arrested on Aug. 22 failed to save him from a Bridewell sentence.

The others convicted of driving while intoxicated are Fred Jettman, 35 years old, a farmer living near Arlington Heights, whose automobile struck another car Monday at Montrose and Elston avenue, and Orrin Starck, 34 years old, 1919 Washington boulevard.

Albert Thomas, 20 years old, 3303 Fulton street, who drove past a stop sign at Cicero avenue and Madison street, striking another automobile and injuring its driver, was sent to the Bridewell for five days on a charge of reckless driving. Simon Davis, 51 years old, 1341 Roosevelt road, a Negro, got a ten day sentence after it was testified that he fled after striking two other cars while driving the automobile of Grant Powell, 1340 Washburne avenue, also a Negro.

JEWS OF CHICAGO USHER IN SOLEMN YOM KIPPUR FAST

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Yom Kippur, or day of atonement, religious Judaism's most solemn and pious fast, began last night at sundown. It will continue throughout today. During the early hours last evening thousands of the Orthodox Jewish faith went to their west side synagogues while similar throngs moved toward Reform and Conservative temples in other sections of the city.

Among the Jews of all groups the ancient prayer of penitence and remission, known under varying forms as Kol Nidrei, is plaintively intoned by cantor, choir and congregation. This act of worship is evidence to the Jew not only of his promises made and kept during the last year but also an earnest manifestation of his vows for the coming year and admission of his sins.

Three Congregations Hear.

At the First Rumanian synagogue, Douglas boulevard and Millard avenue, the call to worship, uttered by Rabbi H. Goldstein, was heard simultaneously by three congregations within the one edifice. The call, a ponderous legal declaration, brought a hush to droning of the throngs. The rabbi, garbed in white kittel and white skull cap with a stolelike prayer scarf fringed in black over his shoulders, swayed forward and back as the ritual declaration was intoned in Yiddish.

Translated into English, the declaration follows:

"By sanction of the court on high and by sanction of the court on earth, with the knowledge of the Almighty and the permission of this congregation, we declare it now lawful to offer prayer with those who have transgressed."

The Kol Nidrei Proper.

The Kol Nidrei proper, in Rumanian Jewish ritual at least, is brief, but thrice intoned in Yiddish by cantor and choir with the cantor pronouncing a phrase and the choir repeating. It's translation follows:

"All vows and self-prohibitions, oaths, vows of abstinence and promise, vows with self-imposed penalties and obligations, which we may vow, swear, promise and bind ourselves from this day of atonement, until the next day of atonement, may it come to us in happiness: we repent them all. May they be absolved, canceled, and made null and void, without power or binding force. May such vows, self-prohibitions and oaths be considered as nonexistent."

Men in Prayer Shawls.

Responses and repetitions from the congregations, men with their heads covered and their prayer shawls filling the body of the synagogue, and women thronging the gallery, rose to awe-inspiring sonority. Rabbi Goldstein's dramatic Yiddish sermon brought great emotion to the congregation. It was a plea to the world to understand the Jew, an expression of hope that Hitler's Germany would experience a change of heart and a plea for faithfulness to the torah. Bernard J. Braunstein, past president of the congregation, reviewed progress of the past year, and President Lewis Cooper expressed gratitude to America for the opportunities this country offers his people. Today will be marked by the pious with complete fasting.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Henry Ford, who for thirty years has been known chiefly as a motor manufacturer, has become the outstanding impresario of the year in the broadcasting business. Starting out, after marked coolness toward the kilocycles, with Lum and Abner, now heard over W-G-N under another sponsor, Ford nine months ago engaged Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, who are currently heard twice a week on CBS. The venture seems to have pleased him, for by October there will be four programs, all of importance, extolling the virtues of the V-8. Mickey Cochrane will continue his baseball discussions until the middle of October. Then there's the world series, beginning Oct. 3. And on Sunday, Oct. 7, an ambitious one hour program will be launched on CBS. Details are being closely guarded, but this much is certain—the Detroit Symphony orchestra and outstanding guest stars will be presented. It seems likely that the Waring troupe will also fit into this sixty minute show.

The cost of these radio enterprises is difficult to estimate. The world series alone is likely to run to a quarter million dollars. The Waring shows cost about $30,000 a week for time and talent.

Sayle Taylor, the Voice of Experience, will tackle a problem on his Sunday broadcast that would have dismayed King Solomon. He will endeavor to advise a man who for 16 years has maintained two wives, two businesses, two sets of life insurance, and who has two sons by each wife. The bigamist has explained his dilemma and admits frankly that life is getting a little complicated.

Martha Mears, NBC oriole, was to say "I do" with Sid Brokaw, concert master of Ozzie Nelson's orchestra, yesterday. . . . And Mary Hunter, former W-G-N actress, is a bride. She will be back on the air with Goodman and Jane Ace Oct. 3 from New York. . . . John McCormack, the great Irish tenor, returns to the airways tonight at 8:30 o'clock via WENR-NBC. . . . Ruth Etting will be starred with Phil Baker in the picture, "The Gift of Gab."

RUTH HALE DIES; FORMER WIFE OF HEYWOOD BROUN

Famous as Supporter of Lucy Stone League.

New York, Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Ruth Hale, feminist, writer, and former wife of Heywood Broun, died in Doctors' hospital today. She had been ill three weeks with acidosis. She was taken to the hospital today for emergency treatment when her condition became worse.

RUTH HALE.

Long famous as an advocate of social reforms, Miss Hale won perhaps her greatest renown as a leading supporter of the Lucy Stone league.

She was born in Rogersville, Tenn., of a noted southern family. Her first newspaper work was in Philadelphia. Later she worked for the New York Times. Subsequently she became interested in the theater. Active in this country in war work, she went overseas and joined the staff of the Paris edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

She was married to Broun, newspaper columnist, in 1917, and had one son, Heywood Hale Broun, 16. Early this year she and Broun revealed they had been divorced in Mexico in 1933. For years previously they had occupied separate apartments. They explained the arrangement permitted each to be "boss" in his own home. During her illness Broun was at her bedside almost constantly.

Dunham Woods Riders to Hold Hunt on Sunday

Club Launches Season of Coursing

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE may be no long clear wind on the hunting horn and no sniffing and baying of hounds next Sunday morning in Wayne, but at 10:30 o'clock, just the same, the Dunham Woods Riding club members will be off on their first hunt of the season. Undisturbed by the fact that they are without hounds, they will go out to conquer the countryside and suggest that their version of the sport may revive the elegant name of "coursing."

Two dozen jumps have been laid out on a splendid run across the Dunham property. For the more timid riders who do not care for the thrill and neck risk of the jumps there are gates to permit them to follow the coursers in all safety. Most of the jumps can be viewed from automobiles, too, so the hunters are sure to have a gallery such as they might in England or Ireland.

Breakfast at Club Will Follow Hunt.

Following the hunt Sunday morning a breakfast is to be served at 12:30 at the club and in celebration of the opening the members will remain in the afternoon to play baseball and other out of door games. The Sunday morning hunts are to continue as long as the weather holds and a hunt ball will end the season with a bang.

Taking all the fences Sunday will be the Perry Drydens, the David and the Edward McDougals, George Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III., Henry Stanton, John L. Dole, and J. McWilliams Stone. Other members and their children will be following, using the gates.

The club's first fall dance will be held Halloween in the remodeled coach house adjoining the Dunham Woods club and will be one of the gayest parties of the season.

Conte and Contessa Morelli to Be Feted.

A visitor in Wayne who is certain to be entertained extensively not only out there but in the city and along the north shore is one who will arrive tomorrow, Contessa Belle Adamaro Adamara Morelli of Florence, Italy, who with her husband, the conte, is landing in New York today. They will visit the contessa's nieces, Mrs. John L. Dole and Miss Jane Dunham, who are the chatelaines of the old Dunham castle during the absence of their mother, Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham. The contessa, who was Belle Dunham, and her husband will be here until Nov. 1. Mrs. Dunham, who is in Peking now, plans to visit India, Palestine, and Italy before returning home next spring.

Eltings Await Visit of Lord and Lady Tennyson.

All of the members of the Elting family here in Chicago are anticipating the return of Lord and Lady Tennyson to this country the middle or end of October. Before her marriage last April 14 in Montecito, Cal., Lady Tennyson was Carroll Elting Donner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting.

Immediately following their wedding Lord Tennyson and his bride went over to his estate on the Isle of Wight just off the southern coast of England and there they have been all summer. Now they are preparing to come back to this country to take a house in Burlingame, Cal., for the winter. As yet they have not decided what boat they will sail on, but their sailing will be some time the latter part of October, and on their way across this continent they will spend at least a day with their relatives here.

The Howard Eltings were here last week en route from their farm in Ulster county, New York, to Santa Barbara, where they plan to spend the winter again. They will not have the Charles Garfield Kings' house as they did last year, but another equally attractive. Mrs. Elting left for the west coast the end of last week and Mr. Elting was off the night before last.

Eleanor Cushman Weds Charles H. G. Kimball Today.

Without doubt there are no two persons more interested in the coöperation of the weather man today than Miss Eleanor Cushman and Charles Henry Gallway Kimball. This charming daughter of the Arthur W. Cushmans and Mr. Kimball, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Riggs Kimball of Hinsdale, are to be married at 5 o'clock in the sunken gardens of the Cushman home in Winnetka and all they need to make the occasion perfect are sunny skies and a reasonably warm temperature.

The Rev. Samuel Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church is to read the service before an improvised altar at the west end of the gardens. There, after the ceremony, Mr. Kimball and his bride, Mrs. Cushman and Mrs. Kimball will receive their friends.

Miss Mary Cushman will be her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids are to be Mrs. Robert Fulton Jr. of New York, Miss Jean Armstrong, Miss Virginia Hobart, Miss Helen Bell, Mrs. John De Laittre [Carolyn Erminger] of Minneapolis, and Miss Antoinette Lackner.

Mr. Fulton will serve Mr. Kimball as best man and ushering will be Fred Griffiths of Montclair, N. J.; Louis Hall of New Canaan, Conn.; Byron Elting, Frederick Regnery, Jonathan Lattimer, and Edgar Stanton Jr., who is taking Mr. De Laittre's place as an usher. Mr. De Laittre unfortunately had to return to Minneapolis Tuesday, but he was here for several of the prenuptial parties, including the dinner dance he and his pretty wife gave for Miss Cushman and Mr. Kimball Monday night at the Casino.

Mr. Kimball and his bride are sailing Saturday on the Saturnia for Lisbon, Portugal. They will spend a month or six weeks in Portugal and Spain, with their headquarters at

Soft lights and dance music lasted until early this morning at the Saddle and Cycle club where the Misses Virginia and Margery Preston made their bow to society last night at a dinner dance given by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston and their daughters received their young guests before the windows across from the fireplace in the living room. Flowers everywhere and many balloons made the scene gay and colorful. The tables were placed on the porches, and after the Prestons broke up the receiving line the dancers crowded the living room ballroom.

Mrs. Preston wore a handsome gown of black crêpe with a silver bodice and a slight train and her daughters were beautifully dressed, Virginia in white velvet with a high neckline and a short train and Margery in pale blue and silver lame. The debutantes carried lavendar orchids. Their house guests, Miss Jane Maggard and Miss Jane Plummer of California, were enjoying an especial whirl.

A CHICAGOAN who went to Egypt on a trip asked the order clerk at a La Salle street brokerage house to keep him posted by cable as to his holdings. After he had a number of lengthy and expensive cables from him he cabled back an order for stock and added, "Quit verbosity." The order clerk puzzled over this for some time, and looked in all the code books. Finally he sent back a long cable reading: "Do not understand the last part of your cable. What did you mean by 'Quit verbosity'? What code are you using?"

OCCUPANTS of a motor coach, leaving the Fair, sighed with relief when a mother and her five small children with assorted bundles finally got aboard and were seated.

The bus had gone only a short distance when the eldest boy shouted in alarm: "Ma, I forgot the suitcase. I left it on the other bus."

Fellow passengers became interested in the family's predicament. Stop the coach, go back, wait and report the loss—what was the best thing to do? Suddenly the small boy yelled again as another bus tore past:

"That's the one I left the suitcase on," he shouted. "Can't you catch it, mister?" he begged the driver.

The coach driver, although skeptical at the lad's assurance, obligingly started pursuit. Near Michigan avenue he overtook the other bus and shouted to its startled driver to stop. All passengers craned their necks as the small boy clambered out, boarded the other coach and triumphantly dragged the lost suitcase from under an upper deck seat.

"You're a swell driver. Thanks, mister," he grinned as he returned to the arms of an admiring family.

"And you'll make a great detective some day," the driver called back as the bus ground forward.

Women's Club Leaders Plan Safety Drive

Meet Today to Draw Up Trafic Campaign.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Declaring that reckless automobile driving must pass out of vogue as definitly as the flapper, officials of 16 important Chicago women's organizations are meeting at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Chicago Athletic association to formulate plans for a safety campaign in conjunction with the recently founded Women's Safety bureau of the Chicago Motor club.

The bureau, with Mrs. Willis M. Graham as chairman, represents as strong a personnel of club women as has ever been gathered together in Chicago for a civic purpose.

"Ultimately we find that the matter of safety is an individual problem," Mrs. Graham explained yesterday. "It must be brought into the home. The work of engineers in providing better highways, better and safer automobiles, has helped immeasurably. The enactment of proper laws and proper law enforcement are other important factors. Yet with all this if we do not have the coöperation of citizens individually we fail.

"It is the purpose of the Women's Safety bureau to formulate specific projects for the delegates to our meeting tomorrow to carry back to their own organizations. Through this medium it has been estimated that we will reach approximately 600,000 women."

First on the list of the bureau's objectives is the lessening of accidents to children of pre-school age. To accomplish this the bureau will call upon mothers individually to support the Motor club's play yard program. Accidents among children of school age have been cut sharply by the safety factors involved in the schoolboy patrol and the work of teachers in the schools, Mrs. Graham has pointed out, but accidents among children of preschool age have not been reduced.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, has given his enthusiastic endorsement to the new women's bureau.

"Despite the toll of children's lives taken by automobiles annually we still find too large a proportion of children playing in streets. The safety message has not yet entered the home with sufficient force. By means of accident prevention we can, no doubt, eliminate almost entirely deaths among children from automobile accidents. We need a wave of public feeling which women, headed by Mrs. Graham, can inspire.

GREEN IS NOT A MIXTURE OF YELLOW AND BLUE

A mixture of blue and yellow pigment will make a green pigment, but a mixture of blue and yellow light will not make a green light. Pigment is not color; it is something which absorbs all the colors of white light except certain ones. An object does not possess color; it only reflects color. Therefore, mixing blue and yellow pigments does not produce green color, but it does produce a mixture of pigments capable of absorbing all the colors of white light except green. If blue and yellow light are mixed the resulting color may appear blue-gray, fawn, or even white.

Business Men's Symphony to Reherse Friday

Under the direction of a new conductor and under new business conditions the Chicago Business Men's Symphony orchestra will begin rehersals for its fourteenth season in the Lytton building auditorium on Friday night. The date of its first concert has been tentatively set for Nov. 15.

George Dasch is the new conductor, succeeding Clarence Evans, who held the post for thirteen years, or since the orchestra was organized in its present form by the late George Lytton, its president until his death last December. Mr. Dasch is a Chicago musician, long a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and former director of the Little Symphony.

Continued use of the auditorium, its rehersal room for more than a decade, has been tendered the orchestra by Henry C. Lytton, eighty-eight year old president of the Lytton Building corporation. Under the new business methods, all the 110 memberships of the orchestra will be paid ones, and associate memberships will be received. It is thus planned to make the organization at least partly self-sustaining.

Avern B. Scolnik, attorney and former vice president, is now the president of the orchestra. Hubert S. Conover, investment broker, is vice president; Dr. Walker Priest, physician, is secretary; and Wayne Saggars, head of industrial relations for the Commonwealth Edison company, treasurer.

"A Century of the Dance," the ballet pageant which has music by Felix Borowski, ballet direction by Edward Caton, and musical direction by Jacques Samossoud, will open at the Ford Symphony Gardens, A Century of Progress, tomorrow night. Three performances will be given each evening, at 7:30, 8:35, and 9:40 o'clock.

Naples Prays Royal Heir May Be Born Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NAPLES, Sept. 18.—Four queens and numerous princesses and duchesses are assembled at the royal palace here tonight while the entire seething city feverishly awaits the birth of Crown Princess Marie José's baby, who will be the grandchild of Belgium's famous war king, the late Albert, and possibly the future king of Italy.

Adding to the popular fervor tonight is the fact that tomorrow is feast day and the anniversary of St. January or San Genaro, Naples' patron saint, and thousands are on their knees in churches here praying that the royal infant may be born on the notable anniversary.

Tonight there was a long procession of pious people and monks to the Naples cathedral, where they were met by Cardinal Alessio Ascalesci, surrounded by his clergy. This procession initiates the celebration of the anniversary, which will culminate tomorrow with the miracle of the liquefaction of San Genaro's blood before the pious masses in the cathedral.

Queen Giovanna of Bulgaria, sister of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, the husband of Princess Marie José, arrived in Naples today, adding her presence to that of Queen Mother Elizabeth of the Belgians, Queen Elena of Italy, and ex-Queen Mary Amelie of Portugal. The Belgian ambassador to Italy, Prince Albert de Ligne, also arrived in Naples today.

Queen Elena today minutely inspected all preparations which have been made for the birth of the royal infant and its baptism as Princess Marie José took her usual auto ride through the fields west of the city and was recognized by the populace, among whom the cult of motherhood seems to have reached such a pitch that nothing else than the princess' baby is talked of in the cafés, restaurants, and public places.

Big crowds also stand tonight outside the gates of the royal palace, idly watching the change of the guard and gazing at the royal apartments where the baby will be born.

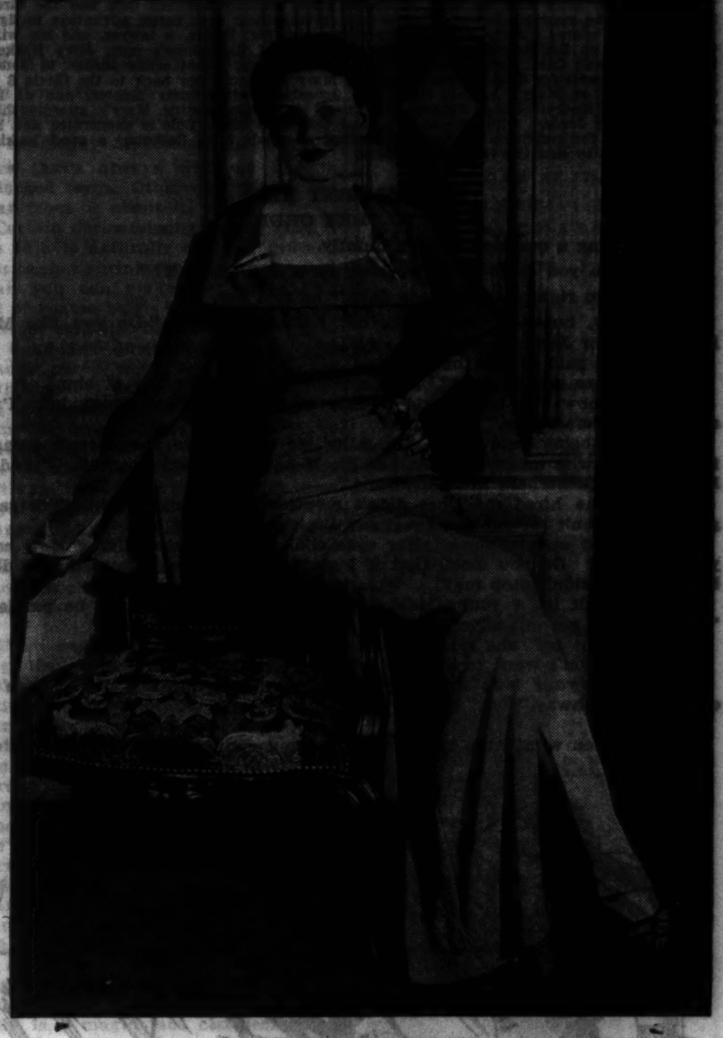
Among Silk Sensations



Long, loose sleeves with revealing slits to match the slit in the skirtline are featured in this smoothly fitting dinner dress of thick, dull crepe in bright blue, from a Chicago shop. Decorative clips accent the corners of the square cut neckline.

Silks Step Out in Dazzling New Riot of Colors

BY RHEA SEGER.

Sound effects this week by the new fall and winter silks. As the big parade swings by you'll see silken splendor with all the fashionable emphasis, new silks, ravishing new colors, gleaming metallic brocades and opulent lengths of satin that look like liquid moonlight.

One fashion show alone made the spectators blink. Primrose taffeta, cleverly cut, with revealed shoulderlines, with V seaming at the back of the skirt to accent the deep V of the décolletage, featured one of the new long, trailing sweeps. Another breathtaking beauty of dove gray satin clings ardently to the silhouette.

You must have smooth streamlines this winter if you wear these beautiful new clothes. Better shop for the new fall underlayers right away. Until you have seen what classic simplicity in satin can do to make your envious sister clothes hounds "O" and "Ah" you've missed more than you realize.

Silk has been draped in every fashionable silhouette in this showing. Long slinky affairs, wide ruffled models that remind you of pagodas, the wider picture dresses like grandmother used to wear before the war.

One deep blue silk the color of Concord grape was made with perky ruffles in tiers of three, then an acid accent of jade green for a sash. Another new color is called stratosphere, the clear high purple of a Ziegfeld Follies backdrop.

Huge plaid taffeta crossed with gold and cut sinuously with diagonal seams was also a glittering success. Dull white silk crepe trimmed with gleaming brocade fashioned another unusual costume, the dress simple, long, and suavely clinging, the skirt slit and faced back with dull lapis blue to match the lining of the longish white coat.

BLAZING GUNS

By WILLIAM MacLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Mary Landis inherited the Lazy 2 ranch from her uncle. It adjoins the Circle 3 T ranch, owned by Chet Radbourne, powerful boss in the county, and Mary's legal guardian. He has been stealing Mary's cattle and trying to force her to marry him. To escape his tyranny Mary marries Cole Sanborn, fearless young outlaw and suspected train robber, within an hour after meeting him. There is bitter warfare between Cole and the Circle 3 T brand. The marriage is one in name only, giving them both better advantage to fight their common enemy. Mary stays in Jonesboro with Mr. Peters, a lawyer, and his wife. Cole drops in on Radbourne. A fight ensues. Two of Radbourne's men, Jerry Haskell, his foreman, and Curt Jordan, are injured. Cole escapes. Chet sends Jordan to Jonesboro to lie in wait for Cole. Jordan captures Mary and sends her back to the Circle 3 T. Cole, unaware of Mary's plight, rides into Jonesboro with Rusty Hunter, one of his trusted men. He gets Judge Fairley to sign an order terminating Mary's guardianship. Cole encounters Jordan, who fires at him, and Cole kills him. Cole is exonerated and his position with the public is improved. Radbourne sends Slim Calhoun, a good looking young outlaw, to ride the range with Mary.

INSTALMENT XXI.

PAID TO OBEY ORDERS.

Mary flung a question at Slim bluntly.

"How do you come to be working for the Circle 3 T?"

"Jobs are right seldom these days," he told her.

"I know, but——" She broke off, to ask another. "Do you like Mr. Radbourne—or Jerry Haskell?"

"I'm not paid to like them."

"What are you paid for?" she demanded, looking directly at him.

"Right now I'm being paid to ride with the prettiest young lady I've seen since I left Texas," he parried.

"You're being paid to be her jailor, to make sure she doesn't escape from a man who means to ruin her life if he can," Mary accused. "And I heard that southerners are chivalrous."

"When he hired me Chet didn't mention any young lady," Slim said gently. "I don't reckon you could say I'm yore jailor."

She pulled up her horse. Her eyes challenged his stormily. "How can you say that? Do you mean that if I start to ride away, across the Fiddleback, you wouldn't stop me?"

"I couldn't let a young lady go off into the desert alone," he parried. "You'd never get out alive."

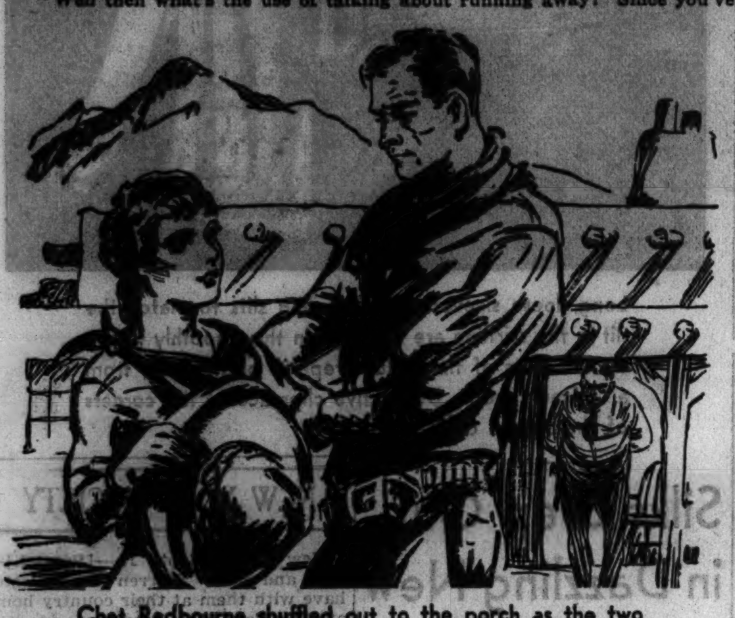
"I thought so," she said bitterly.

"If you don't want to be here, why did you come back?" he asked.

"Because your boss dragged me here an hour ago. I didn't have a chance to get away."

"No."

"Well then what's the use of talking about running away? Since you've asked me, I'll say that Chet Radbourne is my idea of something spewed up from hell. But as long as I'm taking his pay I won't work against him."



Chet Radbourne shuffled out to the porch as the two young people drew up at the house after the ride.

"For thirty dollars a month he has bought you body and soul then?"

Slim Calhoun looked with cool eyes at this glamorous girl, caught so hopelessly in the net woven for her. If the desperation of her case touched him he gave no sign of it.

"I wouldn't say that," he replied lightly. "But when my trail don't go the same way as his I'll tell him so. That may be right soon, and then again it may not."

"I've heard you quarreling with Jerry Haskell. I don't see why, if you don't like him ——"

"I don't like a thing about him. But I'll ask you a question, Mrs. Sanborn. If I get my time and go down the road, will it help you any?"

She shook her head. "No. No, it won't. Nothing will help me, unless ——"

"—— unless yore husband whips Chet and the Circle 3 T, and you can see right off he has no chance to do that."

"You think he hasn't," she said, and her voice pleaded for a reversal of judgment.

"It's a fifty to one bet against him. Any one with horse sense will tell you that." A sudden light gleamed in his eyes. "But that rapscallion of yours is a sure enough go-getter. He's liable to pull off a miracle, and by Jacks, I'd like to see him nail the old weasel's hide to a fence. For two bits I'd throw in with him."

"Why don't you?" Mary asked, a glow running through her lithe young body. "You don't belong with these . . . murderers."

"Don't I? What do you know about me? And about where I belong? And I don't reckon we'd better call names, Mrs. Sanborn. Cole has the rep of being a killer just as much as Jordan has—or Chet himself, in a different way."

The girl felt the warmth drain out of her. What this man said was true. The man she had married was known as a bad man too. But she defended him none the less.

"He doesn't kill for pleasure—or for money. If he has killed bad men, I'm sure he couldn't help it."

"Maybe so," the Texan assented. "I've heard he's a square shooter in his way."

"Then why don't you join him? He can't be as bad as the men you are with now."

"I'm lined up on the other side. A fellow can't jump around like a toad."

Calhoun spoke with curt decision, but his mind was not so decided. He did not like his environment at the Circle 3 T. He was an outlaw from his native state. A wild young hellion, he had known the riproaring life of trail's end towns. For months he had hung out in the brush on the edge of a big outfit's range and rustled the stock of absentee owners. While on a drunken spree he had helped hold up a gambling house in San Antonio. But at the worst he had played his hand openly and aboveboard. There was something about the Circle 3 T atmosphere that got under his skin.

First, there was the old man. Radbourne was not a wholesome scoundrel. His methods were cruel and sinister. More than once Slim had been on the point of quitting the outfit. All he needed was a push from outside. But it had to come from Radbourne and not from this girl.

Yet she had given him impetus to start him on the way. There was a point about which he had been curious. Now he meant to find the answer.

This determined upon, he at once moved the conversation back to a safer channel. He pulled up and pointed with his quirt.

"There's a big rattler. See. There by the bush. Hold yore horse steady."

From his holster he drew a .44, took deliberate aim, and fired. The reptile collapsed.

"A good shot," she said.

"Just a mite low, but it did the work." He looked at the sun. "Don't you think we'd better be heading for home, Mrs. Sanborn?"

"For home?" she echoed bitterly. "All right. We might as well turn back."

He disregarded her ironic comment. All the way to the ranch he was full of irrelevant and cheerful talk.

Chet Radbourne shuffled out to the porch as the two young people drew up at the house after their ride. Slim lifted Mary to the ground.

In her soft curved cheeks pink was glowing. The eyes of the girl sparkled with life.

"Thanks for bringing me home safely," she said with a touch of almost gay malice.

Lightfooted as a deer, she walked past Radbourne into the house, paying no attention to him.

The owner of the Circle 3 T lowered his bulk into a chair, overflowing in every direction.

"The young lady certainly has got a sunset in her cheeks," he said to Calhoun, with his mocking te-he-he of a giggle. "Maybe I hadn't ought to send a respectable married woman out with a wild rapscallion like you. We don't want a scandal on the Circle 3 T."

"That young lady grades A-1, Chet," the cowpuncher said, looking straight into the jeering eyes of his employer. "There won't be any scandal about her anywhere."

"Not if I have her chaperoned by a model young Christian like my Texas man, eh? I'll bet you'd like to take on the job permanent, and let my longhorns stray. Did she tell you how she'd feel about that?"

"She didn't mention it."

"Well, she's surely made a complete recovery, whatever your treatment is," Radbourne said. "Here she was mooning like a sick calf. One ride with Dr. Calhoun, and she comes back pretty as a painted wagon. You'd ought to hang a shingle out, Slim. 'Young lady specialist. Cures guaranteed.' I'll bet you got a fine bedside manner, te-he."

"I'll give you my recipe," Calhound said. "Treat her decent. When she saw I was a white man, not looking for any personal advantage, she perked right up."

Prime escorts for tender, juicy drumsticks and meaty breasts are fat and golden corn fritters. It happened first in the old south, while slaves still beat their biscuits before the household arose, and dining and wining excellently was not only a pleasure but a social obligation. Skillets, and pans, and ranges have been mightily improved. But even in a century of progress no one has yet been able to improve on that original inspiration—fried chicken all set around with crunchy corn fritters.

So, while the fried chicken controversy started by Mr. McCutcheon still battles around Chicago, we'll sidestep the war and go in for the fritters.

Probably the fluffiest and lightest sort of corn fritters are those fried in deep fat, but the sort which is pan fried in the skillet, in the fat just used to fry the bird, is likewise delectable eating. The batters for the two are slightly different, but the putting together is the same. This one which follows is for deep fat frying. To mix it up for the skillet simply add ¼ cup more flour.

Corn Fritters.

[Grand Escorts for Fried Chicken.]

1 cup flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

½ teaspoon salt

1½ cups fresh cooked or canned corn

2 eggs, well beaten

¼ cup milk

1 tablespoon melted fat

Sift together the flour, baking powder, and the salt. Combine the eggs and milk and stir them into the dry ingredients. Add the corn and the melted fat. Now drop the batter by spoonsful into deep hot fat, which has been heated to between 365 and 375 degrees F. Or you may test the temperature by using the fat when it is hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 60 seconds. Fry the fritters until golden brown, then drain on rough paper and serve them hot around a platter of fried chicken.

And now, after promising to stay clear of the fried chicken discussion, I just can't do it. For I've been wondering if you have discovered that one of the speediest ways is that of frying the chicken itself in deep fat? I choose first to steam the chicken sections until tender. Dip these in beaten egg, then in crums or corn flakes, and finally lift them into the deep hot fat. Fry to a beautiful brown, drain, and serve spanking hot. If corn fritters aren't on the docket, let broiled tomato slices stand in as substitutes.

Or, one day present your fried chicken with "puffs" for running mates. Any rich biscuit dough will do. Roll it thin, cut it into squares, and dump these into deep hot fat. Cook until golden brown and serve said puffs in swirls of gravy as flatterers for fried chicken. Crisp fried toast is almost as much fun.

Cintra while they are in Portugal, and will be at home after Nov. 15 at 11 Scott street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushman gave the bridal dinner last night at the Indian Hill club, and the bridal party is lunching there informally today. Among the out of town guests who have been attending most of the wedding festivities are Miss Eleanor De Laittre and Robert Mitchell of Minneapolis; Miss Isabel McMullen of New York, and the Philip Pillsburys of Minneapolis, who, however, are living in Chicago now. Mrs. Cushman's cousins, the Charles P. Haughs of Kansas City, Mo., also will be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buss entertained at cocktails yesterday afternoon in their Lake Shore drive apartment for Mr. and Mrs. William Blake. The former Elizabeth Channon Bendix and her husband are visiting her mother, Mrs. James H. Channon, until Friday when they will return to New York, where they have an apartment at 272 Park avenue.

The first fall fashion show meeting of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will be held today at noon at the Fortnightly. Mrs. John W. Gary is president of the board.

Murray-Fearing Wedding in East Next Monday.

Next Monday afternoon in Bronxville, N. Y., Miss Isabel Sutherland Murray, daughter of Mrs. William A. Murray of 4812 Woodlawn avenue, will become the bride of Munroe Fearing of Ravinia, son of the J. F. Fearings of Greenwich, Conn. The service will be performed at 4 o'clock in the lovely old Reformed church in Bronxville, where the Fearing family has worshiped for several generations. Dr. John Powell, an old friend of the family, will read the ceremony.

Miss Frances Andress, formerly of Chicago, but now of New York City, will precede Miss Murray to the altar as maid of honor. Ernest Walker Smith of Farmington, Conn., will be best man for Mr. Fearing. After the wedding there is to be a small reception at the home of Mr. Fearing's sister, the Carol Lyttles, in Scarsdale.

Miss Murray has chosen to be married in the east since several members of her family live there as well as all of Mr. Fearing's family. Miss Murray and her mother will leave for the east on Saturday. After a wedding trip Mr. Fearing and his bride are coming back here to make their home temporarily at Mrs. Murray's home, since she is to be away most of this winter.

Miss Martha Warren, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Homer S. Warren, will be Miss Euniceanne Schmidt's only attendant at her wedding on Sept. 29 to John Bradshaw King Jr. Among the parties for Miss Schmidt are a shower to be given by Miss Priscilla Sims a week from today; the bridal dinner which the bride's parents, the Lawrence Frederick Schmidts, will give at the Drake hotel the night before the wedding, and a house party that Miss Warren will give this weekend at her parents' home in Lake Geneva. Among the guests will be Miss Sims and her fiancé, John Ford Evans.

Exmoor Club's Harvest Home Party Saturday.

A large order of young turkeys direct from Iowa will be delivered at the Exmoor club tomorrow or Friday in preparation for the harvest home party the club is to have on Saturday evening. An annual event, the dinner is always one of the most anticipated affairs of the year. To date more than 650 reservations have been made for Saturday night.

Another special feature will be the erection of a canopy over the dancing terrace so that the party can be out of doors at least in part. A few of those who will be entertaining groups of their friends Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hill Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay H. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Younglove, Mrs. Herman Hettler, and Dr. and Mrs. Franklin Martin.

Gay orange folders were in yesterday's mail for the harvest home party the Skokie club is to have the evening of Sept. 29. Dinner is to be served at 7 o'clock and then, the weather permitting, there will be dancing on the terrace.

A number of the juniors interested in the White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street are to be sales girls Friday for a special hat sale. The shop contributes to the support of the Children's Memorial hospital. Some of those who will assist are Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., Mrs. A. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. John Hurley, Mrs. Eugene Cary, and Miss Louise Brewer.

Miss Peggy Hambleton departed very suddenly night before last for a visit that she has been anticipating for some time. She has gone to Hollywood to visit her friend, Miss Helen Hayes, and the latter's husband, Charles MacArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Fenton and their daughter, Miss Honore White, will move in to their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive from Lake Forest on Oct. 1.

Adults Should Learn When to Ignore Children

Too Many Disciplinarians Will Cause Chaos.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A mother who must leave her 4 year old daughter with loving grandparents while she goes to work, writes:

"I have had a great deal of trouble with her eating habits. Too many people tell her all at once that she must eat. She should eat! Deaf ears are turned to my pleas to let her alone, to give her her food and make no comments. Meal times grow more and more trying." And I'm tempted to add, "My mother, who does most of this spoiling, is the one who complains most about the result."

"Too many people telling her all at once what she must eat." This mother has put her finger upon the cause of much of the troublesome behavior that arises in a family where the mother is away all day and several adults have charge of a small boy or girl. Tantrums develop, defiance sprouts, obedience goes by the board, bathing and dressing and undressing, as well as eating, become scenes of conflict instead of simple, taken-for-granted routine. All because "too many people tell a child all at once what she must do."

And the thing that makes it hardest for a mother to correct the management of the grownups is that it is all done with the best intentions in the world. But how utterly misguided it is.

It's curious how the presence of a child in the midst of certain grownups will instantly arouse in them a mania of direction-giving and correcting. Let enough eyes be centered on a young child, and he will scarcely be able to move without doing something that calls forth admonitions or advice.

Letting children alone, learning to ignore them at the right time, is one of the gentle arts of child raising. Peace and quiet for the child and his elders follow in its train.

For those who are in charge of 4 year olds, our fully written leaflet, "The Five Year Old Turns a Corner," is a helpful preparation. It will be sent on receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Lasky to Use T. R.'s Words in Capital Film

Plans White House Mob Scene Backgrounds.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Jesse Lasky, producer with the Fox studio, is going back to the original Roosevelt of American twentieth century history to embellish his current film, "The White Parade." Lasky secured permission from the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial association to use words written by Teddy after his convalescence from a hospital. The words were a tribute to American nurses. They will appear as a foreword to the film. They are taken from the John J. Leary Jr. book, "Talks with T. R."

Walter Wanger, now launched as independent producer after many years with the largest Hollywood studios, has signed Lew Stone to play the part of the President—"a fictitious President"—in the story "The President Vanishes," which was bought from proofs of an anonymous novel that will reach bookstores in another month or two. The story concerns the kidnaping of an American chief executive by rivals to keep him from addressing congress in a plea to avert American entrance into a war. Wanger has sent an emissary to Washington to try to get official permission to film mob scenes of thousands of men and women trying to get at the President of the United States in a rush against the White House.

Paul Kelly and Peggy Conklin will provide the romantic thread for the story. Miss Conklin recently was in "Pursuit of Happiness" on the New York stage and this will be her first movie.

Gertrude Michael is slowly getting back into activity after several days' illness with ptomaine.

Requiem mass for Mrs. Dorothy Perry, young wife of Stepin Fetchit [Lincoln Perry], was held today at the Colored Catholic church. Besides her husband, she leaves a son, Jimajo, 4.

Joe Breen, assistant to Will Hays and director of the film industry's self-censoring system here, says that more pictures of exceptional entertainment value have been turned out since July 15, when censorship within the industry took effect, than in any previous period of three times the same duration. Breen and his staff of seven critics have thrown out five completed movies as not of sufficiently good taste to be seen by the public. In addition eleven stories submitted for consideration as plots have been rejected since July 15.

Lanny Ross' valet is Martin Quist. Martin Quist, a Scandinavian athlete and trainer, brought many foreign track and field athletes to this country and was one of the trainers at the Olympic games in Los Angeles in 1932.

A typical Hollywood first night was staged with the movies electrical effects wholly outglaring the California moon last night when Max Reinhardt, European impresario, put on "Midsummer Night's Dream" to an audience of 20,000 in Hollywood [outdoor] bowl. Nearly all Reinhardt's actors were from the movies. John Boles was master of ceremonies and introduced celebrities as they approached the bowl by the quarter-mile entrance up the foothill from Highland avenue. Eight hundred police were used to handle the crowd and the turnout of bejeweled and befurred society and movie luminaries. Reinhardt's backers got $5 a ticket for box seats. Let Hitler tie that one.

Parents Have No Right to Deprive Daughter of Beaux

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My childhood was spent in a strict Christian home. My parents were so strict they would not permit me to have a man friend until I was twenty-seven years of age. To escape, I married the first man that asked me. And my marriage turned out a horrible mess."

The above extract from a letter received on a late day in the year 1934 makes one wonder whose is the real fault of the manless existence until twenty-seven years of age. An adult person of the named years could scarcely put the blame on her parents for her beauless existence, no matter how strict they were. In other ages, perhaps, but not in our day. A young woman of twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six surely has the right to dictate whether she is to be an old maid or not, regardless of how parents feel on the subject. Theirs is not the right to say to a daughter of such marriageable years: "You shall not have beaux!" One who submits to such tyranny is weak-willed, indeed.

A daughter has identically the same right to have men friends and a number of them, if she chooses, and the better to judge the sex, as her mother had before her. The wonder is that any parents can get away with this kind of murder in this day and age. Murder it is, too. Murder of the girl's right to happiness.

It's almost axiomatic that paternal tyranny of this sort leads to disastrous marriage. How can a young woman know men for companionable marriage if she never sees them in domestic surroundings, as in her home, where, we repeat, she has the right to entertain them? How can she know men at all, denied their friendship under any circumstances? There evolves from such parental denial a woman unfitted for wifehood. Not knowing men for faulty human beings (as are our own sex), she enters marriage with the most preposterous ideas and ideals about them. She, herself, is as hard to live with as is the man her restricted judgment chooses.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. Frank G. Schaefer of Lake Shore drive today is announcing the engagement of her daughter Dorothy to John Thomas Janszen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Janszen. Miss Schaefer attended the Chicago Latin School for Girls and Smith college. Mr. Janszen, who lived formerly in Cincinnati, attended the University of Dayton and Loyola university.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glendon announce the engagement of their daughter Mary Janet to John Carey Trussell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Trussell of Jacksonville, Fla. Miss Glendon is a graduate of Northwestern university, where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, and Mr. Trussell is a graduate of Cornell and Kent College of Law and a member of Delta Chi fraternity. The wedding will take place in December.

SHORT-SUITED SLAM TRIES.

When the bidding has been one no trump, two no trumps, four no trumps, and the responder's hand consists of three tricks, but contains no ace, it is inevitable that two of his tricks consist of king-queen and king-queen. If his remaining trick is composed of two kings, I proved yesterday that he owes it to his family to bid seven no trumps. However, things are not so simple if his third trick consists of a king and a queen-jack holding.

When Responder's Values Include Q J x as a Half Trick.

With

Sp. K Q x   Di. K x x x
Ht. K Q x   Cl. Q J x

you can count on your partner for the four aces and the king of clubs as the basis of his slam try; but with all these high cards, even a small slam is not certain, though, of course, it must be bid. With opener's hand thus constituted:

Sp. A x x   Di. A x x x

two diamond tricks may be lost, and there is no play for grand slam. Only if the opening bidder were able to bid six diamonds over five no trumps could a grand slam be reached. In that event he is marked with the following cards, possibly arranged 4-4-3-2:

Sp. A x x   Di. A Q x x
Ht. A x x   Cl A K x

so that grand slam should be bid. He cannot, you see, have exactly five primary tricks: he must have either four and a half or five and a half. With the former, he had no business to try for slam over your first minimum raise. With the latter, you have all the aces and queens and are gambling only on the break of the diamond suit. If responder's diamond holding were K J x x he would have a certainty for seven no trumps, having thirteen top tricks. The situation and bidding development described above is the only one which should lead to a grand slam, when responder holds an aceless split hand, the values of which include a queen-jack combination. Give him 4-4-3-2 distribution, as

Sp. K Q x x   Di. Q J x x

and the grand slam could be reached in two ways:

[a] If the bidding went one no trump, two no trumps, four no trumps, five spades, six spades. Now, we do not care about the club losers in opener's hand, and seven spades would be a reasonable chance, depending only on the break of that suit. Opener, moreover, may have A J x x or A 10 x x, not merely A x x x, as promised by his raise.

[b] If, over five spades, opener bid six diamonds, marking him with A K x x, now we have a near certainty for seven diamonds. Only a first round ruff or five trumps in one opponent's hand would upset the big slam.

So be careful to develop short-suited slam bidding, especially for grand slam, by visualizing your partner's holdings in top cards and ascertaining his four card suit or his support for your four card suit. Then, if all is well and your 4-4-3-2 distribution fits for suit play, or, more rarely, your top card holdings are great enough to overcome two split hands, you may bid the maximum.

When Responder Has Two Combinations of Queen-Jack.

If his three tricks are in the form of two K-Q and two Q-J holdings, small slam must certainly be bid, but a grand slam would be a very bad risk. Even 4-4-3-2 distribution will not help materially, as discards will not help, or cannot be known to help. You know your partner has the four aces and one of the kings of your Q-J suits; however, winning a finesse against the missing king will not clear the suit unless one of you also has the ten. Your partner must have six primary tricks—four aces and two kings—for the big slam to be independent of a finesse. With such cards he would have bid two no trumps originally. So abandon grand slam ideas with a hand of this composition. Be grateful for the small slam, which is practically undefeatable if the hands have been properly bid. However, since I dislike the word "never," I will cite a possible exception. If I were playing in a total cumulative score team match, in which I felt almost sure that we were behind, and that desperate efforts were needed to gain points in large swings, if the following hand came to me toward the end of the game:

Sp. K Q x   Di. Q J 10

and the bidding was one no trump by my partner, two no trumps, four no trumps, I would consider it strategically advisable, though technically unsound, to bid seven no trumps, hoping to recapture a lost match by successfully finessing against the missing king. In neither suit need I worry about the ten if the finesse against the king is successful.

Jimmy Webster, 18 years old, of Omaha, an infantile paralysis victim, arrived here yesterday and enrolled at the Chicago Art institute. He hopes to become famous as a sculptor despite his handicap.

Jimmy's father died several years ago and his mother was unable to help him in his boyish art ambitions since there were five other children to feed, so Jimmy was sent to St. Vincent Hospital School for Crippled Children at Billings, Mont. He attracted the attention of one of the sisters who aided him to enter Father Flanagan's Boys' home in Omaha.

H. B. Banta, soap manufacturer of Burlington, Ia., told of the boy's talent decided Jimmy should attend the Chicago Art institute and offered his tuition. Now Jimmy is looking for a job so he can make the rest of the way by his own efforts.

Enlarged Pores Require Prompt Remedial Care

Improving Circulation Is the First Step.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It isn't the poor we have with us in beauty land, for there always seems to be money for cosmetics. It's the pore that's always with us and in enlarged form. Otherwise, we do not hear from or about it.

Certain dermatologists claim that if the skin is naturally coarsely grained you cannot shrink the pores any more than you can make soft, silky hair out of coarse hair. Which sounds reasonable enough. Nevertheless, I have in mind two instances of naturally coarse pored skin being conquered with the will to have finer skin plus the help of cosmetics. However, if the skin is clear, although it may be coarsely grained and of healthy color, one need not feel out of the running. But this is not the pore trouble that is poured into our ears daily. It's the coarsely pored condition that harbors secretions on the one hand, or lets loose a super oil flow that makes the whole face look greasy. For this condition there are remedial measures.

First, one simply must realize that sluggish circulation is the cause at the bottom. Where the circulation is not active there is nothing to force the secretions out of the pores. There they remain, blackheads, and from them pimples develop and, worst of all, the pores become more distended and skin appears coarser. If you let the condition run along for years there is the dickens to pay to get the pores shrunk back to anywhere near normal. As soon as one notices this coarsened skin is the time for action. Don't wait to see what will happen.

As said before, you simply have to do something to stir up your circulation. These fall days you can walk and, believe it or not, a brisk hike daily is a magic face clarifier. Anyway, do some daily exercise. Drink oodles of water and register intense cleanliness internally. Then come your pore lotions.

DONOGHUE WINS WRESTLING POLL; 1,145,845 VOTE

GETS 176,000 AT LAST MINUTE TO PASS MALONE

Six Leaders to Meet Commission Today.

BY ARCH WARD.

George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the Chicago park district, has been voted No. 1 man in the poll conducted by THE TRIBUNE to pick judges for the Jim Londos-Ed Lewis championship wrestling match at Wrigley field tomorrow night.

A whirlwind finish that brought him 176,000 votes carried Mr. Donoghue to victory. His total was 213,521. Capt. Willard L. Malone of the Austin police district, who had led the poll for several days, was second with 179,426. Capt. Malone's total was approximately double that received by Frank Harmon, who finished third.

The other three sportsmen on the list of the six who will be submitted to the Illinois athletic commission this morning are Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining company; Gen. John V. Clinnin, former president of the National Boxing association, and Leonard Hicks, manager of the Morrison hotel.

Close behind came Laurance Armour, Paul Prehn, Avery Brundage, Walter Gregory, Sidney Strotz, Edward Klein, and A. H. Vondenbosch.

Sports Poll Marks Broken.

The total vote shattered all records for sports polls. It reached the staggering figure of 1,145,845, nearly twice the number that cast ballots in the coast to coast voting for football coaches that preceded the recent football game between the College All-Stars and Chicago Bears. More than 350,000 votes were brought into this department Monday alone. Thousands more arrived yesterday morning in the mail. Letters postmarked before midnight were accepted.

While thousands of votes were cast outside Chicago and outside Illinois, no out of town newspapers participated in the poll as they had in the coaches' contest and all-star major league game a year ago. All votes were sent directly to THE TRIBUNE.

The six leaders—Donoghue, Malone, Harmon, Clark, Clinnin, and Hicks—will meet with the six referees who have been summoned by the commission and with members of the state athletic board at a luncheon today to discuss rules governing the title match. Two of the six will be chosen to serve tomorrow night, but their identity will not be known until the wrestlers enter the ring. The referee likewise will not be appointed until just before the bout. All officials must be at the ringside when the show begins at 8:15 o'clock.

Rule in Case of No Fall.

If either Londos or Lewis wins a fall within 90 minutes the judges will have little to do except in case of a foul. If neither pins the other's shoulders to the mat, however, the judges and referee will return a decision.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, will referee the 30 minute exhibition wrestling match between Jim McMillen, former Illinois football player, and Don George, who used to play for Michigan. It had been planned to have Dempsey work the Ross exhibition bout, but Barney suffered a cut over his eye in his match with Jimmy McLarnin Monday night and will be unable to appear on the card. He will be at the ringside and will be introduced.

The show will open with a four round boxing match between Henry Rothier, a popular Golden Glove welterweight of two years ago, and Eddie Steigal of the stockyards district. This replaces the Stuhley-Dukelsky match which had to be canceled when it was learned Monday that Dukelsky had a fractured jaw, incurred in his fight with Lou Brouillard. Another four rounder brings together Geno Salvatore of La Salle, Ill., and Johnny Stanton of Minneapolis.

Rodak Near Weight.

Then comes the ten round battle between Leo Rodak of Golden Glove and C. Y. O. fame and Everett Rightmire of Sioux City, Ia., a fast coming featherweight who has lost only one bout in 87. Rodak has agreed to come in at 128 pounds, slightly below his best fighting weight. If he fails to make that limit he will lose a $250 forfeit and will have to work off the excess suet before Rightmire will get into the ring. Rodak yesterday was at 129, so he anticipates no trouble.

The windup of the boxing end of the program brings together King Levinsky and Art Sykes, both of whom aspire to Max Baer's title. They are scheduled for ten rounds.

LEWIS, LONDOS AGREE ON RULES FOR TITLE BOUT

Wrestlers Confer with Athletic Commission.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Positively and absolutely Jim Londos, heavyweight champion of the world, and Ed [Strangler] Lewis, challenger, are going to wrestle on the up and up tomorrow night at Wrigley field. The "positively" was Champion Londos' reply yesterday to Chairman Joe Triner's question at the rules meeting in the Illinois athletic commission offices and the "absolutely" was Lewis' laconic response.

This heavyweight bout, ladies and gentlemen, is a bona fide contest or Messrs. Londos and Lewis not only spoke a few wrong words yesterday but they also signed affidavits which were witnessed by the full quorum of commissioners, officeholders, wrestling referees, reporters, and hangers-on. The whole proceedings were taken down for the permanent records.

Rules Are Discussed.

Ostensibly the meeting was called to discuss the commission's rules on wrestling. The discussion was held, but prior to this, Joe Triner, George Getz, and Packy McFarland, sitting en banc, and facing across the table Lewis, Ed White, Londos' manager, and Londos, satisfied themselves that everything was as it should be for the impending championship.

This bout is not an exhibition. It is a contest and as such comes under the stringent requirements of the commission.

That Chicago has accepted the Lewis-Londos match as a contest is proved by yesterday's ticket sales. More than 4,000 of the $1.20 tickets were sold and only approximately 6,500 of the original section of 15,000 tickets remain. All are reserved. At the present pace these tickets will be sold before tomorrow night. Continued fair weather also has brought out prospective spectators.

The demand for all priced seats, $2.40, $3.60, and $6, continues. However, there are choice locations remaining. These tickets will be sold to first comers. None is held back. If you wish to see the greatest boxing and wrestling show ever produced visit one of THE TRIBUNE Public Service offices. These are located at 1 South Dearborn street, in the lobby of Tribune Tower, and at the Hall of Science, A Century of Progress. The office of the ticket manager is located in Room 530, Tribune Tower.

Arrangements also were made yesterday to sell tickets at Wrigley field starting at 9 o'clock this morning. Many have called the baseball park and it was thought advisable to open a ticket office at Addison and Clark streets.

Withhold Final Appointment.

Licensed wrestling referees present at the commission meeting yesterday were: Samuel Clapham, Leo Kallis, Charles Lavine, Emil Thiry, Tony Hajdich, James C. Kallas, and Ted Tonneman. Three of these men, it was indicated yesterday, will be appointed as referees. However, the man who will referee the Lewis-Londos match will not be notified of his appointment until the principals enter the ring.

The same procedure will be followed in selecting the two judges. Six judges

COMMISSION LAYS DOWN THE LAW TO CHAMPION, CHALLENGER

Jim Londos and Strangler Lewis, who meet for the world's wrestling championship at Wrigley field tomorrow night, hear the commission review the rules which will govern the match. Seated, left to right: Londos, the champion; Joe Triner, chairman of the commission, and Lewis, the challenger. Long Delayed Polo Series Starts Today

New York, Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Polo at last reaches the feature of its season tomorrow afternoon when the opening match of the East-West championship starts at 4 o'clock on the International field at the Meadowbrook club in Westbury, Long Island.

Capt. Wesley White, international referee, is scheduled to make the opening throw-in that brings together the picked teams of the east and west, which have been trying to get together since Sept. 8. Postponed three times by a long stretch of wet weather, the opener finds the players of both sides faced by a heavy field tomorrow, but both ready for action.

Stay Away Rain.

A final inspection of the ground and a conference of players and officials took place late this afternoon. It was agreed that if the rain holds off until 4 o'clock, the match will be under way.

There was considerable encouragement during the afternoon in the way the playing surface stood up on Mitchell field under the hoofs of the West's final workout. The westerners, riding through eight shortened periods, did not cut up the surface as badly as had been feared and at the game's conclusion the players expressed themselves as satisfied conditions would be fair in tomorrow's game on the big field.

No Change in Lineups.

The West—Eric Pedley, Elmer Boeseke Jr., Cecil Smith, and Aidan Roark—took things easy in a game of 5 minute periods against Stephen Sanford, E. A. S. Hopping, Tom Mather, and Ray Guest, with Lin Howard splitting with Mather, and won, 11 to 1.

There were no changes in the lineup for either side. The East, seeking the championship lost last year at Chicago, will send the following into action: Michael Phipps, No. 1; Jimmy Mills, No. 2; Winston F. C. Guest, No. 3, and Bill Post II, back.

Birds Beat Millers, 12-6, in Playoff Series Opener

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Columbus today whipped Minneapolis, 12 to 6, before three thousand in the opening game of the association playoff.

Friends yesterday, opponents tomorrow. Don George, once holder of the heavyweight championship, and Jim McMillen, former Illinois and Bear football star, shake hands at the commission. They meet in the semi-windup wrestling match at Wrigley field tomorrow night.

6,500 SEATS AT $1.20

are now left for The Tribune's all-star wrestling and boxing show tomorrow night at Wrigley field. That's all that remain of the 15,000 that went on sale Monday.

All are reserved. And here are the bouts you'll see for your $1.20:

WRESTLING

JIM LONDOS vs. STRANGLER LEWIS, for heavyweight wrestling championship of the world.

DON GEORGE vs. JIM McMILLEN (30 minutes).

BOXING

KING LEVINSKY vs. ART SYKES (10 rounds).

LEO RODAK vs. EVERETT RIGHTMIRE (10 rounds).

HENRY ROTHIER vs. EDDIE STIEGEL (4 rounds).

JACK DEMPSEY (referee).

There also are plenty of good seats remaining at $2.40, $3.60, and $6. Get tickets at The Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower, and the Hall of Science at the World's Fair. At 9 o'clock this morning a ticket booth will be opened at Wrigley field.

Tigers Lead by 7½ Games; Beat Yanks, 2-0

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—(AP)—For the second time in as many days the Tigers shut out their only remaining challengers for the American league pennant, the New York Yankees, winning, 2 to 0, today to advance another step toward clinching the flag.

Lynwood Rowe set down the Yanks with six hits. The triumph put the Tigers seven and a half games in the lead. Four more victories will clinch the flag for Detroit.

Hank Greenberg, the New York boy who plays first base for Detroit, accounted for the first Tiger run off Red Ruffing in the fourth inning. He broke the scoreless tie by hammering his 25th home run of the season over the left field wall. Rowe drove in the other run in the fifth. After Billy Rogell had singled and Pete Fox had sent him to second with a sacrifice, the pitcher singled to center to score the runner. Score:

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 18.—(AP)—A seventh inning that kept a crowd of 9,000 screaming saw the Nashville Vols come from behind, score 13 runs on the New Orleans Pelicans, and win the first game of the playoff series to decide the Southern association pennant winner. The score was 17 to 11.

CUBS, PHILLIES SPLIT; CONSIDER THE NOVELTIES!

Ump Chases Warneke; Klein, Babe Herman Play

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18.—The Cubs this afternoon won a game from the Phillies, 7 to 3, then lost one, 8 to 1 in an afternoon of novelty events.

Here are some of the unusual things that happened:

Don Hurst of the Cubs made four hits in the first game and also two errors, one of which was for the book, inasmuch as it was recorded when Johnny Moore fanned and Gabby Hartnett dropped the third strike, only to find when he picked up the ball that Don was standing in his regular fielding position dreamily contemplating the first sunshine that has smiled on Philadelphia in days.

Lon Warneke of the Cubs was deprived of a chance to register his 22d victory of the year when Umpire Reardon bounced him out of the first game for using wicked language.

Klein, Babe Herman Play!

Chuck Klein and Babe Herman both played in both games for the Cubs. Moreover Babe played first base in the second game, the first time he's done it for the Cubs, though he played there during his minor league days and for a year with the Dodgers. Babe looked good and may be given the job next year. Chuck played right field in the second game and did it infinitely better than he used to play left field regularly for the Cubs. Chuck failed to get a hit, skinning his season average down to .306.

Stanley Hack averted a shutout by knocking his first homer of the year in the ninth inning of the second game. It was the only Chicago hit not made by Babe Herman or George Stainback, each of whom had two singles.

Homer No Novelty.

Among the items that did not come under the head of novelties was Gabby Hartnett's No. 20 homer in the first game. In reviewing this game you may or may not consider it a novelty that Bud Tinning allowed only five hits in seven and two-thirds innings after succeeding Warneke in the first game.

FIRST GAME

Several misadventures and a hit by a Cub alumnus got the Phillies off to a two run lead in the first inning. With one out, Bartell reached first on Hurst's fumble and Chiozza walked. Then Warneke loosed a wild pitch, both runners moving up. Moore singled to center, scoring Bartell and Chiozza. Camilli flied to Cuyler.

Klein led off the Cubs second with a strikeout, making it three in a row for Johnson, who had sunk Galan

BRITISH YACHT LEADS DEFENDER 2 TO 0 IN SERIES

Wins by 51 Seconds in 2d Race.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 18.—The Endeavour, British challenger, won again today in the America's cup series and there is no joy in this yachting community tonight. The victory, gained in the record breaking time of 3 hours 9 minutes and 1 second for a triangular course, was achieved in a fashion indicating clearly that the invader is the better boat.

With the standing two to nothing in favor of Thomas Sopwith's sloop and only two more victories needed to cinch the series for England, the odds are 10 to 1 against the American defender, Rainbow, skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt.

Not far from here Paul Revere gained fame 160 years ago by waking up citizens with a warning that the British were coming. It is too late for a modern Revere to follow suit. The British have arrived and there is a well founded dread that they have conquered. The America's Cup, a silver mug worth about $500, appears destined for a journey home after an absence of 83 years.

Wins by 51 Seconds.

As it crossed the finish line triumphant for the second day in succession, the Endeavour again was given a heartening blast from the sirens of the accompanying fleet. But it was a severe test of sportsmanship. The opinion is growing that the English boat will make a clean sweep of the series, and nobody fancies a runaway contest. The third race will be held tomorrow.

There were only about 300 yards separating the two yachts at the end, the Rainbow finishing in 3:09:52, just 51 seconds behind. That is equivalent to winning by a nose in a horse race, but the disheartening feature of the race to Americans was the confident manner in which the challenger kept the advantage almost from the start. The Rainbow was always close up, but never a threat.

The race today was over a triangular course, in contrast to the windward and leeward contest yesterday. The distance was the same, thirty miles. With a sturdy twelve mile an hour breeze blowing the two sloops tacked east for ten miles, then turned for a ten mile beat into the teeth of the northwest wind, and made the final ten mile leg with the wind blowing them along at a brisk pace.

Rainbow Away Better.

The time, a record for America's cup contests, led experts to declare that the Endeavour and the Rainbow were among the fastest boats ever to compete in the ancient struggle.

The best time previously made in a Cup contest was recorded four years ago to a day, Sept. 18, 1930, by Enterprise, the American boat which beat the Shamrock V. in four straight races on the occasion of Sir Thomas Lipton's last challenge. Enterprise covered the course under Vanderbilt's direction in 3 hours 10 minutes and 13 seconds in the fourth race of that series.

Both yachts broke the cup record of 1:19:58 for a 10 mile windward leg set by the defender Reliance in 1903. Endeavour covered the beat in 1:18:19 and Rainbow was timed in 1:19:34. Endeavour became the second English boat in the 83 years history of the series to win two successive races. In 1920 Lipton's Shamrock IV. outsailed the Resolute in the first two races, only to be defeated in subsequent heats and the series.

Endeavour was the first to the starting line and had her mainsail set before the Rainbow was towed into place. President Roosevelt, aboard Vincent Astor's yacht Nourmahal, waved a cheery greeting to Skipper Sopwith as the Endeavour passed and just before the start the Nourmahal dipped its colors to the gallant challenger.

Endeavour Loses Big Jib.

Misfortune again overtook the Endeavour at the start, when her big jib ripped at the clew. A hole several feet square was visible from the press boat, but Sopwith got away with the damaged canvas and did not elect to make a change until the challenger rounded the first bouy. Here he set up a quadrilateral jib. Just as the quadrilateral was substituted the bigger canvas gave way and flopped into the water.

Sopwith later said the loss of the big jib prevented the Endeavour from making better time on the last leg and enabled Rainbow to make up 41 seconds nearing the finish.

There was another close start with the Rainbow over the line three seconds in advance of the Endeavour. Vanderbilt has proved himself a master handler at the get-aways, leading the challenger over the line in each of three starts made to date. Skilful handling by Sopwith, however, quickly put the British sloop into an advantageous position.

Yachting enthusiasts, uttered exclamations of admiration as the two vessels maneuvered down the first ten mile stretch. It was a great duel of wits, they said, and although the amateur crew aboard the Endeavour handled sails with less facility than the professionals on the Rainbow, the superior speed of the challenger kept her ahead.

Trouble at Mark.

FEHRING TWISTS KNEE IN PURDUE CHARGING DRILL

Tackle Probably Will Be on Shelf Ten Days.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Ted Fehring, junior tackle, twisted his knee during charging practice at Purdue today. He is expected to be out of uniform for at least ten days.

The Boilermakers got their first taste of scrimmage later in the afternoon. Wayne Sandefur was shifted from guard to tackle to fill Fehring's place. A combination that had Duane Purvis and Jim Carter at half backs; Dick Sandefur at full back, and Dan Toriello at quarter back, worked on the offensive most of the time.

SOPHS PUSH N. U. VETS.

The hardest workers in Northwestern's football camp these days are last year's lettermen who are endeavoring to stave off the threats of sophomores.

In scrimmages to date these newcomers have led a spirited assault against the lettermen, thus making the competition for positions much harder than it has been for several seasons.

This situation is true both in the back field and line, indicating that the starting lineup this year may possess a liberal sprinkling of first year men. Park Wray, Jim Green, and Abe Epstein, tackles; Bill Henderson and George Wilson, ends; Carl Devry and Frank Riley, guards, and Bob Swisher and Bill Mole, backs, are the leading aspirants among the new men.

Arrival of his specially constructed shoulder pad enabled Capt. Al Kawal to join the squad for the first time.

IOWA HOLDS SCRIMMAGE.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Iowa football men sweltered through a third consecutive day of scrimmage today as the mercury stood around the 80 degree mark.

The so-called varsity had little difficulty in gaining ground through a third eleven, Oze Simmons, Fort Worth, Tex., Negro half back, and Dick Crayne, veteran full back, leading the attack. Fred Radloff, tackle, was outstanding on defense.

ILLINI SEEK PASSERS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Although Jack Beynon will be the chief passing resource for the Illini, Bob Zuppke hopes to have other players taking their turns at throwing. This was evidenced today by the attention he gave Wilbur Henry, Les Lindberg, and Cliff Gano, all of whom were worked on the aerial game.

After two days of scrimmage Zuppke gave lighter drills today. Tomorrow the Illini will cease their two a day practices as university instruction begins.

BADGER SOPHOMORES FAST.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Sophomores continued to hold down nearly half the positions on the first two teams as the Badgers went through a stiff scrimmage this afternoon.

Russ Callahan, Wausau end; Emmett Mortell, Appleton half back, and Eddie Jankowski, Milwaukee full back, all sophomores, continued to run on the first string. Mortell's broken field running and the hard plunging of Jankowski kept the defensive team in considerable trouble.

GOPHERS SCRIMMAGE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—The only bright light of the first Minnesota scrimmage today was the showing of George Roscoe, reserve back last year, and Vernon Oech, sophomore guard. With Oech opening big holes in the line, Roscoe made the most impressive gains of the day.

1,000 WATCH HOOSIERS.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Blocking was stressed again today as Indiana drilled before a crowd of 1,000, the largest turnout for an ordinary practice in years. Blocking of backs showed improvement. Vernon Huffman called signals and did most of the ball carrying, along with Don Veller and Roy Eads.

REGECZI HURT AT MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—The results of a dummy scrimmage, intended only to warm up players for tomorrow's official scrimmage, but jarring in its actual effects, gave Coach Harry Kipke some concern tonight. In that drill the two dozen best boys on the squad worked and when it was over John Regeczi, the man looked upon right now as Michigan's most valuable, was undergoing treatment for a knee injury on the trainer's table.

Regeczi was hurt as he fell when tackled and apparently twisted his right knee—the knee that helps propel his towering punts.

OHIO STATE SCRIMMAGES.

Columbus, O., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Scrimmage in a light form was served to more than 50 perspiring Ohio State candidates today at morning and afternoon sessions. Between times they were given a dozen new plays to think about. The first string backfield was kept intact throughout the day, but there were numerous shifts on the line. The backfield was composed of Smith and Heekin at half back, John Kabealo at full back, and Frank Fisch and Stan Pincura at quarter back.

The squad temporarily lost the services of Regis Monahan, captain and guard, who was called to Pittsburgh by the critical illness of his younger brother, Raymond.

TRY MAROON FIRST TEAM.

What looked like a possible first team took shape at University of Chicago's football practice yesterday. Coach Shaughnessy spent considerable time with an eleven composed of the following candidates:

Quarter back, Ed Cullen; half backs, Jay Berwanger and Rainwater Wells; full back, Ewald Nyquist; ends, Bob Perrets and John Womer; tackles, Merritt, Bush, and Sam Whiteside; guards, Edmund Wolfenson and Prescott Jordan; center, Capt. Ell Patterson.

This group includes only two sophomores, Whiteside and Jordan, but two others, Wells and Perrets, are playing unfamiliar positions and a fifth, Wolfenson, is back in school after a lapse of a year.

SPALDINGS VS. BREWERS.

The Spaldings will meet the Bismarck Brewers in a Chicagoland Major league softball game at Spencer Coal field tonight. In a curtain-raiser, the Portage Park Panthers will play the Portage Park Eagles.

HOME—STILL A CHAMP

LEWIS, LONDOS AGREE ON RULES OF TITLE BOUT

will report to the arena and the judges for the championship bout will be appointed after Lewis and Londos have stepped into the ring.

Principal agreements yesterday pertaining to the rules for the championship match were:

1. A wrestler accidentally thrown from the ring has 20 seconds in which to come back free of the ropes without assistance. Once inside the ring he must be prepared to defend himself from his opponent.

Coaching Is Permitted.

2. When the referee orders the wrestlers to break their holds because they are in or under the ropes, the men will meet again in the center of the ring on their feet.

3. The man in charge of each corner will be permitted to coach by hand signals and may stand up in front of his chair.

4. The referee cannot award the match because of injury. When one wrestler claims he cannot continue because of injury the commission will order a physician into the ring to examine the wrestler. The physician's examination will determine the verdict.

5. Any hold which strangles is barred. However, an interpretation at Lewis' request, brought out this fact, that if an opponent twists his head in a lock so that he makes that hold a strangle hold, the wrestler applying the grip will break the hold immediately, but he will not be disqualified for applying an illegal hold.

George and McMillin Attend.

Don George and Jim McMillin, who will appear in a 30 minute time limit match, also sat in at yesterday's rules interpretation. In answer to a question by George, it was agreed that flying tackles are permitted when the shoulder is used.

Striking with the fist or elbow is not allowed, but striking with the forearm is permitted.

Art Sykes, King Levinsky, Leo Rodak, and Everett [Young] Rightmire, principals in the two ten round boxing bouts, also reported at the commission offices yesterday. All boxers and wrestlers will weigh in and be examined tomorrow afternoon.

Lewis Continues Workouts.

Lewis reported at Trafton's gymnasium later in the afternoon for another round of wrestling with his partners. Ed will not let up in his training. Not only did he put in more than a half hour on the mat yesterday but he will work out again this afternoon. In contrast, Londos has finished his heavy work and now is continuing with light exercises to prepare for defense of his championship.

Londos yesterday entered the final stage of preparation. This consists simply of taking a good rest. Between now and the moment he steps into the ring tomorrow night he will endeavor to store up as much energy as possible, using only light calisthenics to keep his muscles limber. He will enter the ring perhaps 30 pounds lighter than Lewis.

WESTROPE BOOTS TWO LONG SHOTS HOME IN FRONT

Cloido Returns $59 and Wild Turkey $81.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jocky Jack Westrope was in his glory at Lincoln Fields yesterday and the faithful fans who backed his mounts were in the money.

He climbed into the saddle on Cloido, a 3 year old from the stable of Mrs. Tom Marshall of Chicago, and won the third race at a mutuel payoff of $59.22.

An hour later he was wearing the silks of the Brentwood stable of Nashville and was aboard Wild Turkey, a 3 year old daughter of Hourless-Martin Bird. Wild Turkey came from behind and ran right smack dab into the winning post and paid off the Westrope followers to the tune of $81.34 for a two dollar investment.

Big Day for Westrope.

It was Westrope's biggest day since he went down in a spill at Hawthorne nearly six weeks ago which put his riding career in jeopardy. He had to show great skill to get both the long shots home and had to drive through treacherous openings with them in the stretch in order to be up in time to win.

He took every chance there is to take on a race track and his finishes on both long shots were works of art. He clearly outrode his rivals and was far enough in front to laugh back at them when the battles were ending.

Wild Turkey's chances until Westrope started riding her with whip and heel at the head of the stretch did not appear at all rosy. Pre-War, a son of Man o' War, and Miss Corinne, a fleet mare from Texas, were far out in front.

Wild Turkey Rallies.

The field was scattered out and running in Indian file. Wild Turkey was among those present in the rear guard. Westrope finally aroused her at the turn into the home stretch. She passed one leader afte ranother. She flew by Pre-War in such conquering fashion that he dropped out of it and was not even in the money.

Twenty strides from the finish line Wild Turkey's victory was assured. She went on to hold Miss Corinne safe and win by a head. Even Up had also moved up from far back and he finished third.

Wild Turkey ran much like her old daddy, Hourless, once ran when he was racing to a championship on his famous drives in the stretch. She broke from an outside post position and ran the mile and a sixteenth 1:45 1-5, which was the fastest race at the distance run this season at Lincoln Fields.

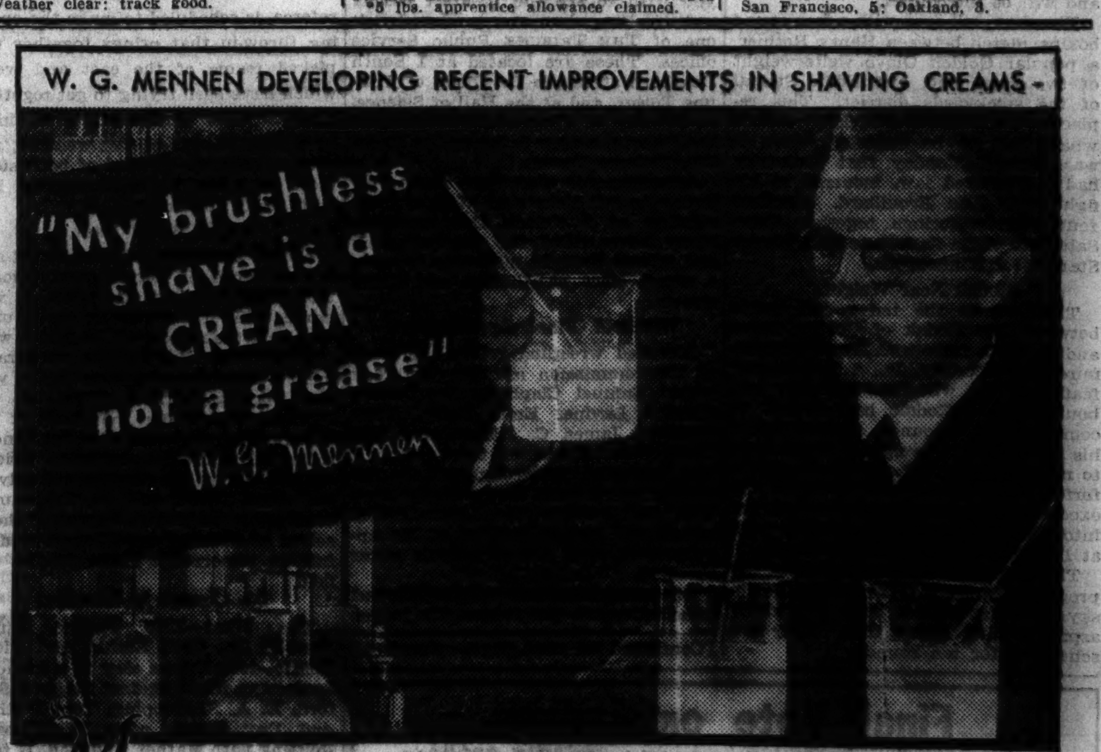
W. G. MENNEN DEVELOPING RECENT IMPROVEMENTS IN SHAVING CREAMS -



"My brushless shave is a CREAM not a grease"
W. G. Mennen

MOST MEN hate grease. That's one big argument against the old type of brushless shave. Clogs your pores; makes you feel and look greasy too.

"So we didn't put out a brushless shave until we could give you one that's a cream. And did Mennen Brushless catch on! Flocks of letters poured in. Men wrote 'At last a brushless that's not greasy! A brushless that makes shaving a pleasure.'

"Mennen Brushless improves your shave in no less than FIVE ways:

"1. Wilts whiskers—smooths the path of the razor. The blade sails over the skin. No yank! No pull!

"2. Shows white on the face—so you can see the path of the razor.

"3. Washes off easily—being highly soluble, it doesn't clog razor or wash-basin.

"4. Economical—it goes further.

"5. Protects the skin—particularly good for dry, easily irritated skins.

GIANTS DIVIDE DOUBLE-HEADER WITH CINCINNATI

Lose First Game in 10th, 2-0; Take 2d, 4-2.

New York, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Giants squeezed out an even break with the last place Cincinnati Reds in a double header today and maintained their 3½ game lead over the idle Cardinals in the National league pennant race.

Cincinnati won the ten inning opener 2 to 0 when Chick Hafey's homer broke up a mound duel between Benny Frey and Fred Fitzsimmons. The Giants came back to take the second game, 4 to 2, aided by the wildness of Tony Freitas and Allyn Stout. Score:

In the WAKE of the NEWS

WAKE MAIL BOX.

DEAR WAKE: Jim Londos is faster, younger, and, above all else, a smarter mat general than Strangler Lewis. Although Strangler has experience and weight to his advantage at Wrigley field Thursday night, I can't believe he will throw Londos again. The Greek is stronger and heavier than in their last engagement ten years ago. He now can cope against any weight.

When Lewis defeated Londos it was before Jim was champion. Jim now has all the confidence and prestige of a champion and is a rightful favorite. He has everything to lose and will battle the harder to retain his title. Londos in the first 65 minutes is my prediction. Nebraska Russ.

As an old time follower of wrestling I cannot see any one except Lewis in the coming bout. True, it has been ten years since the pair met, but don't you think Londos, whether he realizes it now or not, will be affected by an inferiority complex? Somewhere in that hour and one-half (or less) Londos, under a punishing hold, will remember the fourteen times Lewis forced his shoulders to the mat in previous engagements. Age is a great leveler; Londos is heavier and stronger than he was, but Lewis has something on him, both physically and mentally. L. B. Sweet.

I've already voted for judges for the Londos-Lewis wrestling match tomorrow night, which balloting is causing such a furor. So far little has been said about the referee, the man who will judge of fair or foul tactics while the combat is in progress. Therefore I'd like to remind the state athletic commission of the long experience as an arbiter of Emil Thiry. Fair Play.

Time to Study Now.

Visiting a Big Ten campus in quest of football information, we saw an athlete whom we had known in his undergraduate days emerging from a fraternity house with one of those small wall book shelves. "Where you taking that?" we asked. "Home," he replied. "I overlooked it when I left last June."

"Time to study now that you've graduated?" we ventured as a rib.

"O, yes," he replied in the same vein. "I'm very conscientious that way. Always saved all my textbooks while I was in college. Thought I'd like to read them some day."

The Die Hards.

The horn of the hunter is heard on the hill,
The blasts of cold autumn blow bitter and chill;
Deserted the landscape, all bleak and forlorn,
Not long now till winter will whitely be born;
But look, through the tempests, the winds and the blasts,
What weird quartet struggles, the elements outlasts?
Behold, n'er surrendering, still driving off—and Cuyler in the opening inning. Babe Herman drew a pass and rode in on Hartnett's 20th homer, a high shot over the right field fence. Hurst singled to center and took second on a passed ball. English walked. Warneke fanned. Hack singled over second, filling the bases, but Galan's fly to Davis ended the session.
The grim final foursome that ends the year's golf! Bob Dicktom King.

The Bouncing of Warneke.

It was in the home second that Mr. Reardon bounced Warneke. With one down, Walters and Todd bumped Lon for singles, the second of which was spurious because Klein stood and watched it fall at his feet. Lon had been a little sour on Reardon's guesses on balls and strikes, anyhow, and while pitching to Johnson he became very saucy in the language he fired at the sensitive Reardon. The umpire in his best Hollywood manner, ordered Lon to get out of there.

Tinning hastily was warmed up and and was hot enough to complete the fanning of Johnson. Davis, however, singled to left, scoring Walters. Bartell forced him.

In the third inning Babe Herman again got a scoring enterprise started. Babe drew a pass with two down and scored the tying run on Hartnett's double off the wall in right center. Hurst got the second of his amazing series of hits, scoring Hartnett. English also singled, but the inning ended with Tinning's foul to Walters.

Hurst Hits Again.

The Cubs went out in order in the fourth and fifth innings, but in the sixth Hurst's third single and subsequent singles by Tinning, Galan and Cuyler netted two runs.

The Cubs added their seventh in the ninth. Klein walked with one down, went to third on Babe Herman's single to right and scored on Hartnett's long fly to J. Moore. Hurst came through with his fourth hit of the game, a single to center, putting the Babe on third. English walked, filling the bases. The inning ended on Tinning's fly to G. Davis.

SECOND GAME

A Cub alumnus also drove in two runs in the first inning of the second game. This time it was Camilli instead of Johnny Moore. Bartell and Moore beat out infield hits and both scored when Camilli drove a double off the fence in right center.

Walters, Wilson, and Collins made successive singles for a run in the second inning after which Bush retired the side without further damage.

Johnny Moore got back into the alumni spirit in the fifth. G. Davis and Bartell walked, moved up while Chiozza bounced out and scored on Moore's single to center. Camilli flied to Klein. Then Chuck made a nice one

Root Appears in Sixth.

Root took over the pitching job in the sixth. A double by Walters, a single by G. Davis, errors by Hack and English, a double by Chiozza and a single by Johnny Moore gave the Phils three runs before O'Farrell and English halted the march by breaking up a double steal.

The Cubs almost scored a run in the eighth. Stainback led off with his second and the Cubs' fourth hit, a single to left. Phelps batter for O'Farrell and grounded to Walters, who threw the ball past second, Stainback reaching third and Phelps first. English then lined into a double play, Cabilli unassisted. Root fanned.

Hack led off the ninth with a homer over the right field fence, the fifth Cub hit. Galan, Cuyler, and Klein were easy outs.

Losing pitcher—Kennedy. Umpires—Summers and Hildebrand. Time—1:53.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Vernon Kennedy, just imported from Oklahoma City, enrolled in the White Sox baseball school yesterday but it was necessary for Prof. Jim Dykes to toss him out of the class room before the lessons were completed. The young man proved a skilled pupil for a good portion of the afternoon but couldn't solve some problems which arose in the eighth so Les Tietje was called in. Before the belated flurry was stilled the Athletics had scored five runs, which definitly settled everything. The score was 6 to 0.

Until Kennedy fell apart before the team of which he once was a member, he was steady enough to hold his own with Bill Dietrich, one of Connie Mack's numerous youths.

Athletics Finally Score.

After wasting three hits in as many innings the Macks produced another pair in the fourth, and this time made a run. Foxx opened with a drive off the wall in left, but Conlan grabbed it on the rebound and held it to a double. Higgins slapped a single to right on which Foxx came home. McNair then flied to Radcliffe and a double play followed Finney's snappy bounder to Hayes.

Kennedy might have encountered additional annoyance in the fifth if he hadn't received help from the A's. After F. Hayes had fanned to start the inning, Dietrich spanked a triple to left center, but in his haste to get there neglected to touch second. He was called out when the Sox threw the ball to that station.

Appling Gets a Hit.

The Sox did not get a hit until the second inning. Appling singled with one out, and Hopkins did the same with two out, after which Madjeski popped to McNair. They also got two hits in the third.

Kennedy led off with a roller Higgins wasn't able to pick up. Conlan and M. Hayes flied out, and Simmons scratched a hit through second. This situation offered Bonura a chance to express himself, but he struck out.

In the sixth Kennedy again escaped a possible jam, mainly because he slipped over three strikes on Foxx. The inning started with Williams' single to left. Johnson popped foul to Madjeski and right after this Foxx was embarrassed by having the third strike called on him. Then Higgins singled, putting Williams on third, but McNair flied to Bonura. The best the Sox could do in their half of the sixth was a pass, which went to Bonura with one out. The next two gentlemen failed to slap the ball out of the infield.

Macks Go to Sleep.

The Macks' seventh, which was unusual because of their drowsiness on the bases, opened with Finney's single to center and F. Hayes' safe bunt toward third. In anticipation of a bunt by Dietrich, Finney took a big lead off second and was nipped when Madjeski snapped a throw to Appling. A moment later Kennedy picked F. Hayes off first. Then Dietrich walked and the inning closed with Cramer's fly to Simmons. Dietrich tempted the Sox to do something in the seventh when he started by giving a pass to Hopkins. Nothing happened.

The grief suffered by Kennedy in the eighth started with a pass to Williams, who moved along on Johnson's bunt. Foxx singled to right to score Williams. Higgins walked and Kennedy did the same thing, except in the opposite direction. Tietje took over the mound vacancy and walked McNair, filling the bases. Foxx scored on Finney's force of McNair. Finney was trapped off first base, but in the rundown Jack Hayes made a wild throw, Higgins scoring and Finney taking third. Finney went home on F. Hayes' drive into the left field seats. Tietje then walked Dietrich and Cramer, but fanned Williams.

Ted Lyons and Milt Gaston will face the Athletics in today's double-header. Mack will use George Caster and Joe Cascarella.

Endeavour Sets Record to Defeat Rainbow in 2d Race

stops, preparatory to breaking it out instantaneously should the jib collapse. Vanderbilt got away with a double head rig, but soon hauled down the staysail. He thought better of this stratagem a few minutes later and ran out the staysail again.

The sloops were racing along swiftly and the spectator boats were unable to keep up with them. Official craft were hard put to follow the pair.

Rainbow's afterguard nearly lost the defender's reaching jib at the 10 mile mark, narrowly escaping the same fate that had befallen the Endeavour at this point. Vanderbilt's professionals, however, held fast and the racing was soon resumed at full tilt with both flying quadrilaterals. Endeavour had a 15 second advantage setting out on the second leg and she was away in the windward berth—the favored position.

Sopwith Staves Off Threat.

They averaged about eleven knots [eleven nautical miles per hour] on the first leg and rounded the first buoy in 54 minutes. The Endeavour at that time had a lead of 22 seconds or approximately one hundred yards.

The second ten mile stretch against the wind was a rigid test of the rival skippers' seamanship. Vanderbilt strove frantically to overcome Endeavour's lead with a series of speedy tacks, but Sopwith met each challenge and maintained his advantage. In yacht racing, it may be explained, the losing boat must make the first shift against the wind and conventional tactics call for the leading vessel to follow its adversary's moves closely and to duplicate them. Sopwith obviously did not lose in this give and take.

Americans' Hope Rises.

Both tacked to port as they cleared the mark, veered to starboard, then swung back to the port tack again, remaining in that position for 40 minutes. American hopes bouyed at 12:30 o'clock when the breeze waned, for Rainbow had proved herself the better craft in light currents. Endeavour, however, held her advantage, swinging about to the starboard tack at 12:38. This maneuver afforded spectators their first opportunity to definitly ascertain the position of the sloops and revealed Endeavour leading by nearly quarter of a mile.

Vanderbilt put out a quadrilateral jib, which has been nicknamed the Greta Garbo by his Swedish crew presumably because it is a handsome piece of canvas. But the Garbo didn't close the gap between the two sloops. Probably all Hollywood couldn't have beaten the Endeavour today.

Endeavour rounded the 20 mile mark at 12:54:36, having increased her lead on the ten mile beat to windward, where Rainbow was considered to be at an advantage, to one minute and 34 seconds. Endeavour lost several seconds starting down the close reach home when her afterguard encountered difficulty in sheeting the reaching jib, while Rainbow's professional seamen accomplished this maneuver with dispatch and ease.

Rainbow Closes In.

As they scudded down the homeward stretch, the Rainbow picked up speed and neared the blue hulled challenger. Steadily the minute and one-half lead held by the Endeavour was cut down, but its advantage was never in danger.

The sea was smoother than yesterday and the fleet watching the race was larger. The sky was overcast and sprinkles of rain doused the spectators at intervals. The wind freshened to a brisk fifteen miles an hour at times.

Through binoculars the rival skippers could be watched at the wheels of the big sloops. Sopwith, grim determination written on his ruddy features, gripped the wheel firmly, his feet far apart and braced against the roll of the ship. Vanderbilt, tense and excited, barked orders at his crew scurrying about the deck.

There were no lucky breaks for either boat throughout the race. It was a fair test, the authorities conceded, and the aspect for the American defender is dismal indeed.

Vanderbilt's hopes tonight apparently rest entirely on the chance of zephyrs for the remainder of the series. The Rainbow demonstrated last Saturday that it can best the challenger in light weather. In Saturday's race, which was declared no contest when both yachts exceeded the time allowance, Rainbow held a three-quarters mile advantage. Yesterday in fresh winds she was beaten by 2 minutes 9 seconds, and today she again found the challenger more than a match in brisk currents.

President to Stay for One More Cup Race

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newport, R. I., Sept. 18.—President Roosevelt will remain here until tomorrow afternoon, watching at least a part of the third race of the America's cup series, and then leave for the summer White house at Hyde Park, N. Y., arriving there in time to keep appointments Thursday morning.

The President, who is a guest of Vincent Astor aboard the yacht Nourmahal, watched another victory over the America's cup defender, Rainbow, by the British challenger, Endeavour, this afternoon and made his first comment on the races since his arrival here last Saturday.

"I have never seen two closer or better sailed races in any cup series," the President said.

Now Back To Work.

Mr. Roosevelt is a great yachting enthusiast and has attended all the America's cup races in recent years. There are many people who marveled at his courage in coming to this mecca of the Morgans, Astors and Vanderbilts while a great textile strike was raging and the use of federal troops, as well as federal boards, was being urged.

Now that it appears the nation has little hope of retaining the sacred America's cup, the President is free to devote his attention to other pressing problems, including the demand of textile strike leaders that NRA Administrator Hugh S. Johnson resign. There was speculation after the announcement that Mr. Roosevelt would see at least a part of tomorrow's race as to whether he would not see the series through if the Americans seemed to have a chance. However, the spokesman from the seagoing White House stated definitly the President would leave for Hyde Park tomorrow afternoon.

President Knows the Signals.

Earlier in the day the President himself had messaged that he intended to pull out tonight, displaying, at the same time, his expert knowledge of seamanship. Marvin H. McIntyre, White House secretary, shouted from the presidential tender, U. S. S. Cuyahoga, "Are we shoving off tonight?" The signalman on the bridge of the Cuyahoga then semaphored the question.

Apparently before the signalman of the Nourmahal had even understood the question, Mr. Roosevelt, who was sitting on the quarter deck, wigwagged back: "Y-e-s." The Cuyahoga's signalman said he did a good job of it.

WHO REALLY WON M'LARNIN BOUT? NEW YORK ASKS

New York, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The big question along Broadway and cauliflower row today was who really won the Jimmy McLarnin-Barney Ross welterweight championship fight.

In pubs, cigar stores, and poolrooms the fight faithful gathered to agree or disagree with the decision that cost Ross his title at the end of 15 rounds. The payoff was on McLarnin, but a majority of fight writers at the ringside, backed by a considerably larger number of spectators, thought that Ross should have had a draw at the worst and kept his title.

GLEN VIEW HOLDS TWA DAYS' GOLF MEET SATURDAY

Strong Field Will Bid for 24 Trophies.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Twenty-four trophies will be awarded in the 26th annual Twa-days tournament at the Glen View Country club Saturday. The meet, one of the oldest on the Chicago district golf calendar, has attracted the leading players from Chicago clubs. Prizes will be presented by Jock Hutchinson, club professional.

The list of trophies is headed by the Auchtermuchty, the Laigh and Lang, the Clamjhewit, and the Cairngorm. The Auchtermuchty cup will be awarded to the player winning low net, while the Laigh and Lang trophy will be given to the low gross winner for 18 holes.

The eight member teams of the Northwest Golf league moved half way through the stretch run yesterday at Bunker Hill, with the home club in front by a point and a half, and only one more series of matches, at Westward-Ho on Oct. 2, remaining to be played.

Bunker Hill, defending the title it won last year, added to its season total yesterday with the most convincing decision of the day, a 23 to 4 victory over Rolling Green. In the other matches Westward-Ho defeated Park Ridge, 14½ to 12½; Kildeer won from Medinah, 21½ to 5½, taking nine points by forfeit, and Ridgemoor defeated Edgewater, 15 to 12.

In the season standings Bunker Hill leads with 117 points, followed by Park Ridge, 116½; Westward-Ho, 111; Kildeer, 106; Ridgemoor, 77½; Medinah, 77; Edgewater, 76, and Rolling Green, 75.

Art Sweet of Ridgemoor led the individual scorers yesterday, knocking down a 34—34—68, three under par. Bud Graham of Ridgemoor shot a 73; Bill Walrath of Kildeer, a 74, and Pick Wagner of Kildeer, a 75. Sweet and Graham had a best ball of 64 in their match against Hi Fargo and T. A. E. Vyse of Edgewater. Fred Lietzow, chairman of the league, holed out a 175 yard iron shot on the first hole for a five, after having explored the woods with his first four shots.

Brookwood Country club will hold its annual Ballyhoo invitational tournament today. A field of more than 200 is expected to compete in the event, in which prizes for 18 and 36 holes will be awarded.

F. T. Salamns led the gross scorers in the Forty club's annual golf tournament yesterday at Knollwood, shooting a 79. M. E. Guthrie was the low net victor with 99—30—69, and Morton Mavor took the driving contest with a 220 yard wallop. A. G. Petit Jr. and L. T. Donohue comprised the best ball twosome with 83—8—75.

The Chicago Oil Men's club, the membership of which represents the entire petroleum industry in the metropolitan area, will hold a golf tournament at Olympia Fields today.

Newsom Gives Up 1 Hit; Loses to Red Sox, 2-1

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 18.—(AP)—For nine innings today Buck Newsom held the Boston Red Sox hitless, but he weakened in the tenth, yielded two passes and a single, and the Browns were defeated, 2 to 1.

The winning run was scored by Bishop, who with Werber had been walked by the St. Louis pitcher before R. Johnson singled. Until the tenth Newsom was almost invincible. He struck out nine men. Boston's first run, in the second, came on two walks, an error by Melillo and a fielder's choice. Score:

16 govt. issues	108.21	108.09	109.46	102.44

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—United States government bonds showed marked improvement on the stock exchange today and imparted strength to other sections of the list. Issues of the government group finished 18-32ds higher to 6-32ds point lower on dealings of $4,040,000. Total turnover for the listed bond market was $11,517,000.

Treasury 3¼s, due 1946, an issue comparable to the new 3¼s offered in exchange for called fourth Liberty 4¼s, rebounded above par again. The called fourth 4¼s closed at 100 13-32ds, up 2-32ds on the day. Prices on the four year 2½ per cent notes also offered in exchange for called fourth 4¼s continued well above par in the unlisted market.

Domestic List Irregular.

Domestic corporation bonds were irregular on the stock exchange. Final prices were up 4 points to down the same amount. A feature of the day was the heavy buying of various Paramount Publix issues, with resultant gains of 1¾ to 2⅜ points on the news of a tentative reorganization plan for the corporation.

Foreign loans pointed higher. German issues generally showed moderate recoveries, a few of which were extended to 2 or 3 points. French government, United Kingdom, and Austrian government loans were strong. Heavy buying of Latin American bonds provided a feature.

Argentine Bonds at New Highs.

Argentine bonds, which have led in the recovery for several days, scored further new peaks for the year. The market for Colombian and Uruguayan loans was bid up sharply, the former on private advices that foreign exchange restrictions will be relaxed as a preliminary step toward the composition of differences between the government and holders of its bonds and those of its departments and municipalities. There is also current discussion of increased debt payments by Uruguay.

American Crystal Sugar.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly send me information on American Beet Sugar? Was told the name was changed.—Mrs. K. R. L.

Answer: The name of American Beet Sugar company has been changed to American Crystal Sugar company. It is the second largest sugar refiner in the United States. In addition to refining, the company grows sugar beets on 32,000 acres of land in Colorado.

In the 1932 season the company revised its beet purchase contracts to reduce the sharp fluctuations in earnings caused by changes in the price of refined sugar. Farmers are now paid on a sliding scale basis, dependent on the price of refined sugar rather than on a fixed basis.

The company's sales allotment under the agricultural administration act is 2,892,159 bags of sugar [100 pounds each] for the current fiscal year. The four year record of earnings follows:

Yr. ended March 31.	Production [bags].	Net income.	Inc. per com. shr.
1933	2,740,546	*75,000	*1.16
1932	2,589,736	*1,286,000	*4.54
1931	2,443,643	*1,765,000	*2.52

*Loss.

The company operated profitably in six of the nine years prior to the 1931 year.

Current assets on March 31, 1934, totaled $8,197,000, and current liabilities, including $2,100,000 bank acceptances, were $3,717,000. On June 15, 1934, it was reported that bank loans were down to $1,300,000 and that they would be eliminated by Aug. 1.

On March 5, 1934, $2,033,000 of the $2,885,000 debentures due Feb. 1, 1935, were deposited in assent to the plan to pay 20 per cent cash on maturity, and extend the balance to Feb. 1, 1940.

Funded debt on March 31, 1934, totaled $2,964,100. There were outstanding 48,400 shares of $100 par preferred on which nothing has been paid since 1926, and 363,996 shares of common. On June 15, 1934, the management said that no disbursement on preferred stock accumulations would be made for at least a year.

Canadian Bond Payments.

Investors' Guide: I have ten coupons of Canadian Railway bonds, payable in gold. Are these worth more than their face values? Is there any premium on same?—M. D. T.

Answer: No. Interest on obligations of Canadian companies which are stamped payable in United States gold coin is currently being paid only in United States lawful currency.

COURT ORDERS GRAND JURY QUIZ OF J. L. MARKS

Creditors Tell Troubles in Deals with Firm.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday charged the federal grand jury with investigating the records of J. L. Marks, president of J. L. Marks & Co., bankrupt instalment security house, to determine "whether or not a crime has been committed" in the conduct of the company's business.

Attorney Michael Gesas, Marks' counsel, offered to waive immunity for his client, declaring Marks is willing to testify before the grand jury.

This followed a meeting of general creditors before Judge Barnes, which was featured by evidence showing part payment of obligations in oranges, refusal to execute orders of customers, and high pressure sales policies.

Gets Nice Big Orange.

Meyer Jacobson, 2903 Cortez street, a former salesman, testified that he followed the advice he gave customers and purchased stocks through the Marks company, but was unable to get any better treatment in collecting on the sale of such stocks than his customers received. After the bankruptcy in September, 1933, Jacobson approached Marks for some of the funds due him. He fared somewhat better than many others—Marks gave him an orange, "a big orange," and a dollar.

Miss Harriett Schuettge, 1029 Lunt avenue, said that Marks' organization had taken over a collateral loan of hers held by a loop bank. The evidence disclosed that a portion of the securities never even reached the Marks office, but were sold immediately on being taken out of the bank.

Tells How Delivery Was Avoided.

Mrs. Maude Trenchard, 514 Addison street, a former saleswoman, said the company's practice when a customer's account was paid up was to send out a high pressure salesman to load him up on stocks that "were not very good" to such an extent that the customer would owe the company money and delivery of the paid up stocks could be avoided.

Marks could not answer the query put to him by Donald H. McGilvray as to what happened to the $3,500 of receivables which the auditor, appointed by the court to examine the books could not locate. When reminded that his overdraft on the company's account was $66,543, Marks contended that he had deposited real estate mortgages with the company for which he had received no compensation, but was unable to explain why no such entry had been made on the company's books.

The hearing is scheduled to be resumed Oct. 18.

FHA TO SPEED HOUSING PLANS IN CHICAGO AREA

Mortgage Insurance in Effect Nov. 1.

BY AL CHASE.

Official announcement that the second step in carrying on the new national housing act—the insurance of mortgages for new home building—will be placed in operation in Chicago by Nov. 1 was made to more than a thousand contractors, architects, building material men, bankers and other business representatives at a luncheon yesterday at the Palmer house by Ward M. Canaday, director of public relations of the Federal Housing administration, Washington.

The luncheon was the principal feature on an all day conference between FHA officials and Chicago business men, at which Mayor Kelly read a proclamation announcing the formal launching of a better housing campaign. He urged all real property owners to act at once.

Urges Property Owners Act.

"Every property owner who puts men to work and creates a demand for building materials and services will find himself repaid many times in personal, as well as community benefits," the proclamation stated. "Your participation in the better housing campaign of the FHA means better business, better surroundings and better living for every citizen of this community. The opportunity and the challenge are yours! I call upon our citizens of Chicago to coöperate and participate to the greatest possible extent."

The mayor, after reading his proclamation, injected another angle of federal housing into the conference by referring to the long delay in spending in this area any part of the 25 million dollars allocated for Chicago slum low cost housing projects by the PWA housing division.

Kelly Wants Federal Money.

"We don't want to brag," he said, "but we want the world to know we're on our toes in Chicago." He turned to the Washington official by his side and grinned: "If you don't turn that 25 million dollars loose, we'll go down and take it away from you."

Following an outline of the potentialities of the first section of the national housing act—the repair, remodeling and modernization of properties—Mr. Canady sprung a surprise on his listeners by announcing that instead of waiting until next spring, as had been announced from Washington, the home building feature would get under way in Chicago by Nov. 1. He said it probably would be handled through the local office of the FHA.

This second step, as outlined in the national housing act, provides for the federal insurance at the full face value of mortgages for new construction made by local lending agencies and to insure mortgages on existing homes as well. Only amortized mortgages on not more than 80 per cent of the value of house and lot will be accepted.

George Rossetter, a member of the executive committee of the local FHA, presided at the luncheon. Regional directors from all parts of the country were present. Percy Wilson, director for Illinois and three adjacent states, spoke.

Following the luncheon, representatives of loop, outlying and suburban banks held a meeting presided over by Percy Wilson, at which they unanimously approved of the FHA modernization program.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today. Prices were unchanged at 2.86c for spots. Refiners seemed little disposed to make fresh commitments, although it was believed that store sugars could be obtained at the quoted level, or at a point or two more.

Futures held steady during most of the session, but eased slightly near the close under liquidation, promoted by the dullness in the spot market. Final prices were 1 to 2 points net lower. Sales were 9,000 tons. Prices:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
Sept.	1.85	1.85	1.85	1.85	1.87
Dec.	1.91	1.91	1.90	1.90	1.91

Refined was unchanged at 4.75c for fine granulated with resale offerings at about 10 points less. Withdrawals were of moderate proportions, and while some new business was reported it was supplied through resale offerings.

STUDY UNIFORM BANK EXAMINING TO BOOST LOANS

Treasury Weighs Plan to Liberalize Credit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—Recommendations on uniform examination of banks and reclassification of bank loans looking to credit liberalization as discussed by a recent conference of chief examiners of the national bank and federal reserve systems, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and regional managers of the Reconstruction Finance corporation will be submitted within a few days to Secretary Morgenthau.

He said today that he had talked over the matter with Dr. Jacob Viner, one of his staf of experts. Two principal moves that would tend to liberalize banking credit, one of the big objectives of the New Deal, are considered:

1—Approval of a uniform and simplified system of bank examination by the four agencies and a standard form of examination report.

2—Reclassification of loans so that slow credit could be broken down as long term but sound loans and those that were doubtful or bad.

Want Longer Term Credits.

Speakers before the recent conference of examiners expressed a belief that a reclassification of loans would be beneficial, pointing out that the country could not be maintained on a ninety day credit basis, and adding that sound long term loans had a proper place in the investment portfolio of every bank.

Bankers were frightened from long term loans by the fact that bank examiners frowned on this type of credit. The President has said that a "rule of reason" should be employed in examining bank loans.

Another report expected shortly will be that of a committee of experts headed by Dr. Viner, studying a wide range of economic conditions and data including taxes, banking, monetary policy and many others.

Consider Central Bank.

The experts were said to be considering the idea of a central bank and the modification of the federal reserve system as an alternative, the idea in either case being a centralization of credit.

The report on taxation may form the basis of treasury recommendations to congress. It was understood that a definite program would be offered. Dr. Roswell Magill, one of Morgenthau's agents who studied the general subject of taxation in Europe, submitted a voluminous report which will also be the basis for recommendations. If congressional committees investigating the tax question desire Magill's presence, he will be available, Morgenthau said.

PLAN RFC LOAN TO LIFT M. & ST. L. RECEIVERSHIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—The reorganization committee for the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad is completing a plan to remove the company from receivership with the aid of a 4¾ million dollar loan from the RFC. Announcement is expected soon.

The plan would exchange 22 million dollars of adjustment 5 per cent noncumulative income bonds and 220,000 shares of no-par common stock for the company's present $44,879,000 of bonds outstanding. The present issue of $25,792,600 par value of capital stock would be wiped out.

The company owes the government two million dollars as a result of loans contracted after the lapse of federal wartime control represented by notes in default.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

The city of Syracuse, N. Y., plans to offer soon a new issue of $2,000,000 of tax anticipation notes authorized today by the common council. The notes will mature in six months. The $1,500,000 of notes due Oct. 15, 1934, will be paid out of current tax collections.

Only one bid was received by Cuyahoga county, Ohio, for its issue of $4,248,000 of 4½ per cent refunding bonds, due variously from 1949 to 1959. This bid was from the State Teachers' Retirement fund. Action on the bid will be taken today.

No bids were received by the city of Los Angeles for its issue of $2,000,000 of water works bonds. The issue was dated Oct. 1, 1934, and due from 1935 to 1974. Sale is expected to be made to the Public Works administration. Under the terms of sale the rate of interest, to be named by the bidders, was limited to 4¼ per cent.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc., have been awarded a new issue of $100,000 borough of State College, Pa., funding and refunding bonds, dated Sept. 15, 1934, and due serially from 1935 to 1949. The price paid was 100.88 for the bonds as 3¼s. Public offering will be made today at prices to yield 2 to 3.05 per cent. The borough reports total bonded debt of $130,000, including this issue, or about 4 per cent of the assessed valuation.

Sioux Falls, S. D., independent school district indicated that it will take action today on bids for its issue of $600,000 of 4 per cent bonds, due Aug. 15, 1937, to 1954, after it has examined bids from contractors on the school construction. The Public Works administration bid par for the entire issue. A syndicate comprising Thrall, West & Co., Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood, and the First National Bank of Minneapolis, bid 100.16 for $167,500 of the bonds, due from 1937 to 1941, and the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company of Sioux Falls bid 100.02 for $100,500 of the bonds, due from 1937 to 1939.

A new issue of 3 million dollars of tax anticipation notes, due Dec. 20, 1934, has been awarded by the city of San Francisco, Cal., to E. O. Huttlinger & Co. of San Francisco. The bankers bid par, plus a premium of $25 for the notes to bear interest at 0.06 per cent.

U. S. MAY CHECK INVESTMENT OF CAPITAL ABROAD

Peek Urges Control Over Movements.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—Federal supervision of capital movements to and from the United States for investment purposes and a system for keeping the government currently informed of all such transactions were among suggestions made to President Roosevelt by George N. Peek, his special adviser on foreign trade, in a report made public today.

GEORGE N. PEEK.

Peek recommends that prior to any regulatory action, we take an "inventory" of our present creditor status with the world, a step he called "necessary for a complete understanding of our international investments." He could not say at what time action along the lines suggested by his report might be expected. He would not attempt any "forecasting about what the responsible authorities will do in the future," he declared.

Will Question Investments.

It became known, however, that the securities and exchange commission is preparing to send out questionnaires prepared by Peek's staf as the first step in the inventory. It is hoped to determine from these inquiries the nature and amount of American investments abroad and by whom held.

The report was on the subject of international credits for foreign trade and other purposes, and traced, on the basis of previous government estimates, the history of capital movements to and from this country from 1896 to the close of 1933.

It was described by Peek as "an explanation of the form in which the increase in net debt was evidenced by international investments or loan transactions." In an earlier report to the President, Peek placed the increase in the world "debt" to the United States at 22 billion 645 million dollars during the same period, and added:

"Our national assets will be diminished by the amount of this debt which is not paid."

Roosevelt Approval Seen.

The present report, dated Aug. 30, was discussed by Peek and the President at a Hyde Park conference over the Labor day week-end. This, and the act that the report itself is introduced by quotations from the President's message to the world economic conference at London, left little doubt that Mr. Roosevelt had given it his approval.

"We have no adequate national bookkeeping system for our foreign financial relations," Peek said in his report. "We have no adequate knowledge of our investments in foreign countries or of foreigners' investments in the United States. An inventory is necessary for a complete undestanding on our international investments.

"We are undertaking to develop balance sheets between this country and each of the countries with which we are dealing or with which we propose to deal. As indicated, certain information is not now available to the government.

Analyzes American Position.

Even more critical than the report of the trend of investment capital movements through the years was a statement given to reporters in connection with the report. This stated that, through lack of knowledge of our international position, we had continued to accumulate quick liabilities and slow or frozen assets.

The report made much of the fact that in 1933, for the first time in our history, the amount of capital moving to and from the United States in settlement of investment transactions was as large as that needed for settlement of all commodity and service transactions combined.

The total movement of capital for dollar settlements last year was placed at $8,046,000,000. Of this amount, 41.6 per cent was attributed to investment transactions and 41.8 per cent for commodity and service items. In 1919 the total movement was $19,584,000,000, of which 70.7 per cent was in settlement of commodity and service items, and only 7.6 per cent for investment transactions.

U. S. CERTIFICATE ACCEPTANCE BY DISTRICTS TOLD

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that subscriptions for the two year 1⅛ per cent treasury notes offered in exchange for $524,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, amounted to $514,126,000 at the closing of the books last week.

They were divided among the federal reserve districts as follows: Boston, $14,272,500; New York, $382,307,500; Philadelphia, $10,027,000; Cleveland, $12,988,000; Richmond, $4,247,000; Atlanta, $7,408,000; Chicago, $40,616,000; St. Louis, $15,521,500; Minneapolis, $10,422,000; Kansas City, $6,158,000; Dallas, $3,964,500; San Francisco, $5,051,000; treasury, $1,142,000.

Gloom Prevents Celebration of Coast Exchange Birthday

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 18.—(AP)—The San Francisco Stock exchange was 52 years old today, but there was no celebration. Brokers, in last years hilarious on the exchange's anniversaries, let the day pass without festivity. Many expressed pessimistic views on the future outlook, asserting government regulations had cramped business on the exchange.

100% Nichols Has to Drive Money Away

BY HOWARD WOOD.

J. M. [Hundred Per Cent] Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood, discloses that he has been turning away big new accounts not only from Chicago, but from as far away as Denver, Colo.

Among the wouldn-be new depositors of the Englewood bank that have been turned away were a big oil company and a leading middle western utility concern. These rejected accounts ranged from $2,000 to $35,000. The reason, says Mr. Nichols, is that there is no sound and profitable place to invest such deposits.

"Just for the sake of argument," writes Mr. Nichols to one rejected new depositor, "let's turn the tables around and put it in this way:

"Suppose I were to walk into your office and lay down $35,000, for which you would give me a receipt with an understanding that I might like to have back a part, or all, of it at any time. Where in the world would you invest it that you could make a small profit and, at the same time, be reasonably sure of meeting my demand?

"Surely not in government bonds with a market supported in very much the same fashion as Mr. Insull supported his. Like any other business man, I too am interested in making a profit, but I am afraid the time has come when there is no longer a safe place in which to invest the depositors' money.

"We are not going out of the banking business—not by a long shot. The chances are we shall be one of those left in it when these financial acrobats get through with their experimentations."

Briton's Forecast of Boom Doesn't Convince Dopesters.

Ever since Maj. L. L. B. Angas, British brokerage house economist, hopped into the limelight last month with a flat footed prediction that the United States was on the brink of a big boom as a result of the New Deal pump priming the financial district has been arguing on ths subject. Most of the American dopesters disagree with their British contemporary on the ground that public psychology is a more important factor in bringing about business recovery than merely increasing the amount of money and credit.

"The predominant opinion refuses to believe that the 'pump priming' process will become successful in starting a healthy business cycle, as long as the American business man is kept in his present frame of mind by the policies of the administration," writes H. T. Reccius, economist for Toerge & Schiffer, members of the New York Stock exchange.

"The business man is afraid of the conflicting experiments and the doctrinaire attempts at reform of the economic system which he knows. He is afraid for his potential profits, which he feels threatened by the juggling of the dollar, by unfair taxation and unreasonable social burdens. He is afraid of the interference with his management of his own business, emanating from what he thinks is a one sided favoring of labor and all kinds of social schemes and fancies."

Recalls Court Decision on Federal Constitution.

Joseph A. Reuss, Naperville attorney and banker, observed Constitution day by sending in this excerpt from a decision by Justice Breese of the Illinois Supreme court in 1867:

"I cordially concur in the sentiment that the constitution of the United States was designed by its framers, and has been hitherto so understood by the people, to be the same protecting instrument in war as in peace; that a state of war does not enlarge the powers of any one department of the government established by it, nor has any one of these defendants any right to urge 'necessity' or 'extraordinary emergencies' as a plea for usurpation of orders not granted.

"The first is the tyrant's plea, and the other places the dearest rights of the citizen at the mercy of a dominant party, who have only to declare the 'emergency' which they readily can create, pretexts for which bad men are keen to find and eager to act upon.

"There can be, and there should be, no higher law for the conduct of the government in its relation to the citizen than the constitution of the United States."

Justice Breese was concurring in an opinion favoring the plaintif, a man named Johnson, who was seeking damages against the marshals for arresting him on Aug. 26, 1862, without proper service of process. Johnson belonged to a secret society which was pro-south and had actively engaged in discouraging army enlistments in Illinois.

BRITISH MOTOR FIRM CUTS MELON AS TRADE BOOMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Evidence of a boom in the British motor industry was shown today when the directors of the Austin Motor company, Ltd., meeting in Birmingham, decided to recommend the payment of the following dividends and cash bonus for the year ended July 31, 1934:

Twenty per cent on preferred and ordinary "A" shares. Twenty-five per cent dividend on ordinary shares, and a 75 per cent cash bonus on ordinary shares.

The directors also recommended that $2,250,000 of reserve be capitalized and distributed to holders of ordinary shares in the proportion of three fully paid ordinary "A" shares for every one now held.

Italy Orders Mortgage Converted Into 4 Per Cents

ROME, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A sweeping conversion of the bonds of building associations and mortgage companies through the issue of 4 per cent bonds guaranteed in principal and interest by the government was decreed by the cabinet today at a session presided over by Premier Mussolini. The decree, a further step in the government's deflationary campaign, is to provide interest rates on securities of the institutions involved.

Total Twice This Year's Payments.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—A mysterious 882 million dollar fund out of which crop reduction benefits will be paid to farmers has been quietly set up by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., inquiry disclosed today.

HENRY A. WALLACE.

The huge fund, about which no announcement was made, was created by the two cabinet officers out of money in the treasury "not otherwise appropriated." Wallace and Morgenthau acted under broad authority given them in the agricultural adjustment act to juggle funds as needs arise.

Size of Fund Not Explained.

The great size of the fund, which also went unexplained, raised the major question here. Total AAA disbursals for benefit payments and all other purposes to date amount to only 404 millions. Wallace and Morgenthau have now earmarked more than twice that amount for spending in the crop year just starting.

Most of the 882 millions was set aside by Wallace and Morgenthau last Wednesday, inspection of treasury records show. On that date they authorized the diversion from the treasury of an additional 467 millions, bringing the total thus set aside for benefit payments up to 882 millions, of which 873 was reported today as still unexpended and in the hands of the AAA.

Move Puzzles Observers.

Officials could not explain why an amount almost double that used thus far was earmarked for benefit payments unless the administration is contemplating some vast expansion of its payments to farmers as a drouth relief measure. Theoretically the 882 millions is to be paid back to the treasury by the AAA when processing taxes come in.

In some quarters it was believed that only the 467 millions which Wallace and Morgenthau "appropriated" for the AAA last week will be used for benefit payments. The sum shown on the treasury books, however, as credited to the AAA today stood at 873 millions and no official breakdown of the purposes for which this sum is to be spent was forthcoming.

Sets Needs at Start of Year.

The law under which Wallace and Morgenthau acted is section 12-B of the Agricultural Adjustment act. It provides that the two cabinet officers at the beginning of each crop year shall estimate the amount necessary for AAA benefit payments. Morgenthau is then empowered to advance this amount to Wallace and receive payment as processing taxes come in.

It is assumed that this is what the two cabinet officers did last week when they allocated the 467 millions to AAA. Even if this should turn out to be the only part of the 882 millions which is available for benefit payments, it would still be an increase of 100 millions over the benefit payments made last year.

DOLLAR FIRMS AGAINST POUND, FRENCH FRANC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—Foreign currencies eased against the dollar here today. The pound was ⅛ cent lower at $5.00⅞, while the French franc closed at 6.67½ cents, down ¼ point. Value of the dollar in terms of the franc was 58.69 cents compared with 58.67 yesterday.

The Canadian dollar was unchanged at $1.030⅝, the Italian lira held firm at 8.68½ cents, and the Dutch florin was steady at 68.66 cents. The Swiss franc lost 2 points to 33.04 cents.

In London the price of bar gold advanced ½ penny to 140 shillings 6 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $35.19, compared with $35.18 yesterday. Bars valued at $3,414,045 changed hands.

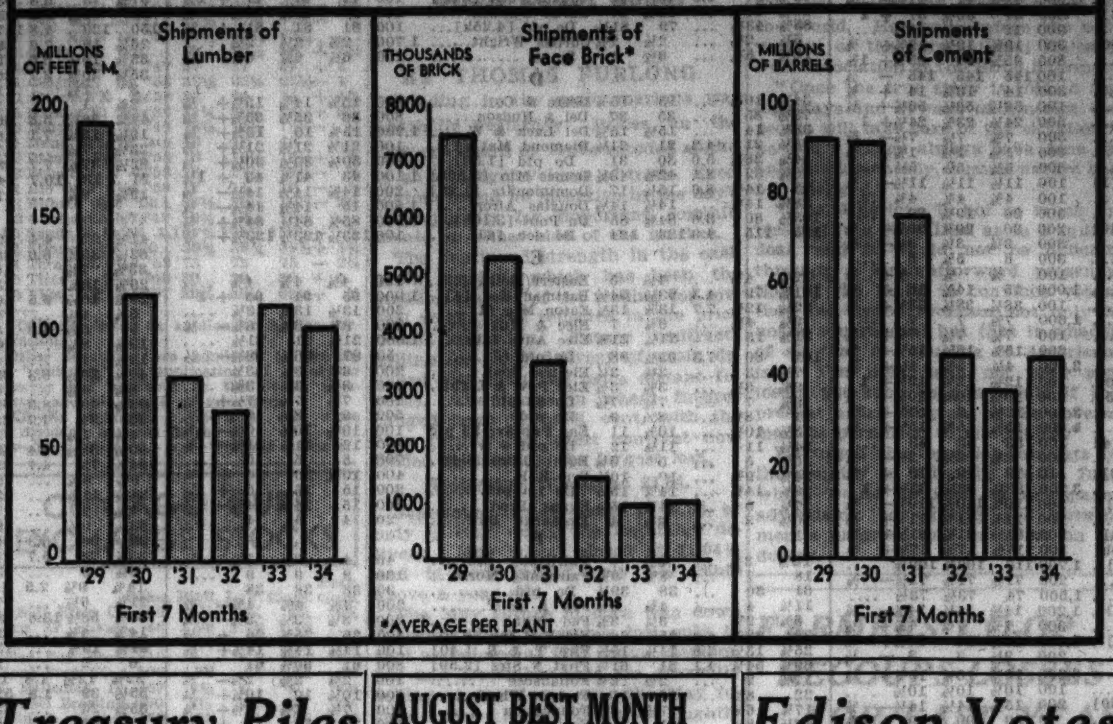
Reichsbank Gold Reserve Shows Gain in Last Week

BERLIN, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Reichsbank's gold and foreign currency coverage increased last week to 2.15 per cent, according to statistics today. The gold reserve increased by 36,000 marks to 75,000,000 marks [about $30,000,000, figuring the mark at 40 cents].

Demand for Building Materials Continues at a Low Level



Treasury Piles Up Over Billion Ounces Silver

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—The government has amassed silver holdings of almost a billion ounces in accordance with its new silver reserve program, treasury department figures indicated today.

At the same time treasury figures revealed that the Roosevelt administration has increased by more than 100 million dollars the amount of silver currency in circulation. Silver has been forced out and other money retired.

Despite its already extensive silver operations, the treasury is pushing ahead with the ambitious program outlined in the silver purchase act of 1934. Its most recent action was to round up on last Saturday reports on all outstanding stocks of silver in this country.

Compile Reports on Holdings.

These reports were called for last month, and Sept. 15 was set as the deadline for filing them. They are expected to give the treasury its first definite indications of how much silver there is in the country and where it is located. These facts will be vital if the treasury should decide to broaden its silver nationalization program.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said today that figures from the reports had not yet been compiled. Many of the reports mailed shortly before midnight Saturday are just reaching the treasury, and, in addition, many large commercial holders of silver were given extensions running as late as Oct. 15 on the filing of their returns.

Hide Real Silver Figures.

Silver already rounded up by the treasury is being cloaked by the government behind a series of ambiguous figures so that the public cannot tell exactly what the status of the treasury's silver operations are.

Silver holdings of at least 750 million ounces, however, are clearly shown by treasury reports, and the hidden holdings are believed to run this figure well up toward the billion ounce mark.

The known holdings of the treasury are 650 million ounces in the form of standard silver dollars and subsidiary silver coins such as dimes, quarters, and half dollars, and about 100 million ounces in silver bullion. Of this bullion about 12 million ounces has been purchased as "newly mined" silver, that is metal mined in this country since Dec. 21, and the other 80 million ounces of silver has come in through the silver nationalization program.

Buy Silver in World Markets.

In addition to these known silver holdings, the treasury has acquired by direct purchase in world markets a secret amount of silver under the silver purchase act of 1934. Since much of this silver was bought on future contracts, it does not yet show up in the treasury's reports.

Since the treasury is paying 64½ cents an ounce for "newly mined" silver and 50 cents an ounce for nationalized silver, these two phases of the purchase program alone have already cost approximately 48 million dollars. This cost has been defrayed by issuing new paper currency against the silver taken in.

This payment method accounts for a part of the increase in silver currency in circulation since the coming of the Roosevelt administration. Since March 1, 1933, the total amount of silver certificates in circulation has inreased by 75 million dollars, the amount of small silver coins by 30 million dollars, and the amount of standard silver dollars by 2½ millions.

This is the result of a definite program of the treasury to push out silver currency and force other types of currency into retirement.

AUGUST BEST MONTH FOR UNION PACIFIC IN LAST FOUR YEARS

Union Pacific system's net operating income for August amounted to $2,660,942, compared with $1,520,631 in the preceding month and $1,960,285 a year ago, gains of 75 and 35 per cent, respectively. This was the best record since 1930. For the first eight months of the year net operating income totaled $10,415,414, compared with $9,053,227 in the corresponding period of last year.

Chesapeake & Ohio reported a surplus after charges of $2,219,572 for August, compared with $3,356,746 in 1933. For the first eight months surplus was $18,074,169 compared with $16,894,970 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Roads announcing net income for the first seven months of the year, and comparisons with a year ago, included the Pennsylvania with earnings of 83 cents a share, against 58; Reading, $1.58, against 80 cents; Illinois Central, loss of $2,330,588, against a loss of $1,260,957; Chicago & North Western, loss of $6,351,710, against a deficit of $6,969,070; Santa Fe, profit of $3,312,036 against a loss of $1,656,804; and the Baltimore & Ohio, a loss of $2,552,162, against a deficit of $1,822,293. It is reported that the Rock Island line will show an improvement of almost $700,000 in gross revenues during August compared with the corresponding month of 1933.

U. S. BUYS LESS CATTLE AS RAINS HELP PASTURES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—(AP)—The farm administration's cattle buying program is being brought gradually to a close. Rains throughout the midwestern drouth area have so improved grazing land that AAA officials decided it would not be necessary to purchase as many cattle as originally planned.

At one time it was thought ten million head would have to be taken out of the parched area, killed and processed for relief needs or shipped to green pastures in the south. Now however, officials believe 7,500,000 will be the maximum number to be purchased.

In gradually curtailing the buying program, all drouth states have been placed on a weekly quota basis. When the quota is exhausted a new one is alloted. In no state has buying been stopped altogether, officials said. The curtailment of the program also extends to shipping cattle into other states.

CANADIAN WHEAT SMUGGLED HERE; TEN ARRESTED

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Deputy United States marshals coöperating with customs border patrolmen arrested ten persons today in a drive to stop wheat smuggling from Canada into the United States. Those under arrest are farmers or farm laborers from the vicinity of Hansboro, Sales and Ellsbury.

Officers said they expected to make additional arrests during the day. Those apprehended will be required to post $1,000 bond or go to jail if they are ordered held to a grand jury by a commissioner before they are to be brought for hearings, officials said. Cases of those bound over will be presented to a grand jury Sept. 26, P. W. Lanier, United States district attorney said.

Edison Votes Usual Dividend of $1 a Share

Directors of the Commonwealth Edison company yesterday declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1, payable Nov. 1 to stockholders of record Oct. 15. The action followed within a few hours rumors that the amount was due for trimming.

The rumor grew out of a decline of Commonwealth Edison stock to a point below $40 per share. Whether directors would maintain the annual dividend rate of $4 was questioned, because that would mean a 10 per cent return for stockholders.

Attribute Weakness to Market.

Company officials, who at that moment were planning to declare the regular payment, said they could see no reason for reducing the rate. They were inclined to attribute weakness of the stock to market conditions in general and of public utilities in particular.

The third quarter, low earning period of the year, was considered a logical occasion for dividend reduction.

Consolidated figures issued by the company last night showed net income for the first eight months of the year running behind the comparable 1933 figure. This also was true for the first six months and July, despite a rise in gross. August, however, produced a gain in earnings.

The offset of gross revenue improvement in the net earning column is attributed to mounting taxes and larger pay roll expense resulting from compliance with the National Recovery act.

Question Legality of Tax.

The levies include a 3 per cent federal tax on sales and the state's 2 per cent retailers' occupational tax on electricity. Legality of the latter is being questioned by the company before the Illinois Supreme court.

August gross revenues were $5,997,932, against $5,631,916 in 1933. Comparison of net for the month shows a rise from $79,440 to $149,150.

For the first eight months gross was $49,975,312, compared with $47,345,140 in 1933. Net income for the same period shrank to $3,985,961 from $4,397,421. This compares with the net of $3,540,226, or $2.18 a share, for the first six months of 1934 and with $3,987,986, or $2.46 a share, for the first half of 1933.

Net earnings exceeding $5,000,000 would be needed to cover [illegible] three $1 dividends for the first nine months.

Consumers Co. Stockholders Fight Control

Efforts are being made by a group of leading stockholders of the Consumers company to prevent the firm's present management from retaining complete control of its affairs under the pending reorganization program, it was disclosed yesterday.

A bill seeking reorganization of the company under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act was filed several months ago and is now pending in the United States District court. The movement started by the stockholders' group seeks the appointment of a disinterested trustee to administer the company's affairs under the reorganization.

Ask Support for Plan.

Support for the movement is asked in a letter sent to all stockholders by the De Sota Securities company, Horace J. Bridges and Erwin Huebsch.

De Sota Securities is the representative of the B. A. Eckert estate. Dr. Bridges is president of the Chicago Ethical society and a prominent clergyman and civic leader.

Basis of the effort to limit control of present officials during reorganization was the cancelation in 1932 of a contract under which several firms and individuals had agreed to subscribe to new stock in the company. The letter asserts the directors, several of whom were obligated under the contract, acted to the detriment of stockholders in approving the cancelation.

Events leading up to signing the contract are recalled in the letter. The firm was under Insull management when the contract was entered into in March, 1931. Several Insull firms were among those agreeing to subscribe to new stock the Consumers company was to issue.

Other Subscribers Relieved.

When the Insull firms were unable to carry out their end the company's finance committee relieved other subscribers of the obligation to subscribe to the stock. Several officials approving the cancelation were themselves obligated under the contract, the letter asserts.

Hearing on the company's projected reorganization is scheduled for Sept. 25, and the stockholders are asked to join in resisting the effort of present officials to retain control. It is planned to place before the federal court evidence which has been taken in the state courts in the suit brought to rescind cancelation of the contract.

Stockholders are requested to sign forms empowering sponsors of the letter to act on their behalf.

N. Y. STATE GETS 75 MILLION LOAN AT ⅞ OF 1 PCT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—New York state borrowed $75,000,000 today for a period of eight months, paying at the annual rate of ⅞ of 1 per cent. Controler Morris S. Tremaine allotted the loan to forty banks and banking houses in individual amounts ranging from $5,000,000 to $100,000.

Tremaine opened the subscription books shortly after midday, and by 3 p. m. subscriptions were in hand for more than $200,000,000 and the books were closed. The borrowing took the form of the sale of an issue of revenue anticipation notes, dated Sept. 20, 1934, and due May 15, 1935. Proceeds will be used for current operating expenses in anticipation of the collection of taxes and revenues.

Tremaine said the state had $100,000,000 of notes outstanding, all of which mature by March 10, 1935. The principal note maturity before then is one of $50,000,000 on Jan. 25, against which revenue collections of $25,000,000 have already been impounded. The controler indicated that in all probability the state would do no more financing during the present calendar year.

MIDDLE WEST PEACE PARLEY PLANNED TODAY

Seek to Avoid Fight in Court Tomorrow.

Warring attorneys for various factions in the pending reorganization of Middle West Utilities company today will try their hand at holding a peace conference, it was learned last night.

If they fail to compose certain of the differences which are keeping them miles apart, the hearing tomorrow before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson is likely to develop into a cat and dog fight, accompanied by all the legal pyrotechnics befitting such an occasion.

Court Displays Skepticism.

Judge Wilkerson has consistently displayed a judicial attitude of skepticism, demanding to know exactly the prospects of completing the pending reorganization before approving any proposal. He named Daniel C. Green temporary trustee in bankruptcy and indicated a permanent selection as soon as a successful reorganization appears likely.

The only way to avert fireworks, observers said, is through postponement of the hearing or dodging pertinent issues unless some of the differences are composed.

The apparent breakdown of the noteholder plan for raising new money to buy banking creditors out of the picture served only to bring another issue to the fore in an already complicated situation.

Common Shareholders Want Voice.

Attorney Orville J. Taylor has come out with the flat assertion that common stockholders never will consent to any reorganization which does not leave them some representation in the new company without their putting up more cash. He proposes a 10 per cent interest for the old common stock. Even this would mean only one new share for fifty old shares.

No such proposition has been admitted to consideration by the secured creditors or noteholders. Both contend that stockholders actually have no equity in the company and intimate that they are fortunate to have purchase rights.

Threats to "force the issue of insolvency" have been made by noteholders. If this point can be proved, stockholders will be left without any voice in a reorganization.

But creditors actually are skittish on the subject. They are most hesitant to make any attempt to read out of the company some 115,000 common and 22,000 preferred stockholders, many of whom are customers of Middle West operating companies.

Deny Option Given Up.

Vague remarks such as "crossing bridges when they are reached" and "We have all day tomorrow to talk it over" were as much as attorneys cared to volunteer. It was not known whether common stockholders would be asked to sit in on any conferences which might be held.

Attorney Robert N. Golding, representing the noteholders, denied his clients have officially given up their option to buy out secured creditors for 51 cents on the dollar. Terms of the option provide cancelation if one-third of the required $11,340,000 has not been raised by Nov. 1, which Golding said "is a long way off." At present, however, no plan for taking up the option has been put in operation.

Attorney Herbert Friedlich, representing secured creditors, denied knowledge of any plan for the banks to clip Taylor's wings by withdrawal of the 3,000,000 shares of common stock deposited with his committee. He said the banks are interested solely as creditors and do not intend to become involved over the stock originally posted with them by clients as collateral for loans.

STOCKS STAGE MILD RALLY FOR CONTROL GROUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—With the securities commission visiting the floor to look over its machinery the stock market indulged in a cheerful little rally in light dealings today. The rally, however, spent its strength largely in the morning, for prices were inclined to sag in late dealings after some good sized markups were registered among leaders. Volume dipped about 100,000 shares from yesterdays' level, total dealings reaching only about 540,000 shares.

The market looked to steels and rails to set the pace. They gave a good account of themselves on the upward tack. It was ironical, however, that recent selling in United States Steel issues was resumed to check the recovery at a time when the market showed signs of raising itself and going some place.

Gains Plentiful at Close.

Despite the late recession of speculative zeal there was an abundant sprinkling of fractional net gains for pivotal stocks and scattered through the list were plus signs of a point or more, mostly in higher priced shares, favored by an absence of nearby offerings.

Although the upturn reflected a whimsical change for the better in sentiment, the fact remained that nothing developed materially to alter the general attitude toward the market. Short covering, it was reported, continued to aid, but that the rally failed to get very far was due to the absence of any real outside demand.

Recovery of shares of U. S. Steel did as much as anything else to hearten the market. At their highs for the day the common was raised a point and the preferred more than 2. In the subsequent selloff the common was shoved down to a fractional net advance, while the senior shares finished with a gain of more than 2 dollars.

Rails Share Rise with Steel.

Rails vied with steels to lead the rise, with Union Pacific taking the lion's share of advance, 1⅜, on its good August earnings report. Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern, and other prominent carriers were limited to fractional appreciations.

Tape watchers were afforded diversion by inordinate activity in a few stocks. Two examples were Paramount and McLellan stores, both in receivership. McLellan common ran up a turnover of 31,600 shares to reach the best price in more than three years, with a net advance of better than a point. The preferred climbed more than 3 points but settled back later for no gain on the day. These antics started the story around that a buyer for the store chain had been found.

A feature that put the soft pedal on the rise to some extent was heavy selling of United Aircraft, which broke to a new low for 1934. This was augmented by pressure on some of the sugars, notably Great Western.

Seemingly fatigued after yesterday's spurt, mining shares shunned the limelight in a quiet and irregular market. U. S. Smelting landed in the plus column by a narrow margin.

COTTON PRICES DROP ON HEDGES AND STRIKE REPORT

Buying of around 20,000 bales of May cotton early yesterday at New York which the trade attributed to operations by the AAA, presumably replacing sales of spot cotton by purchases of futures, resulted in a moderate advance, but the market started to ease as soon as the buying ceased. Later increased southern hedging pressure and also reports of a probable extension of the textile strike became effective and the close was about the bottom.

Net losses of 6 to 11 points were recorded in Chicago and 2 to 11 points in other markets. Messages from the south quoted spot cotton as selling in the interior well above a parity compared with futures. PRICES OF EGG FUTURES ADVANCE; BUTTER GAINS

Egg futures gained ⅛ to ¼ cent on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, despite free selling which carried prices off from the best figure of the day. Butter was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher in the face of bearish statistical reports.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 18.—The inactivity of many wool manufacturing plants as a result of the textile strike and the limited demand for goods are causing a continued lack of demand for wool in the Boston market. Consequently, foreign wool markets afford principal current source of information on the trend of wool prices. Cable reports to private concerns in Boston from Australia indicate prices at Sydney unchanged, from the close of last week, and the opening prices at Melbourne about on a par with Sydney.

MARKET CZARS PLAN TO PROBE SHORT SELLING

Federal Commission Visits New York Exchange.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—The securities and exchange commission paid its first visit today to the inner circles of the chief market place that will come under its complete control on Oct. 1, the New York Stock exchange.

After more than two hours spent on the trading floor and in various other departments, Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the commission, gave assurance that the commission is not drafting its rules with the idea of clamping down on the exchange or causing the market to dry up.

While they are in New York the commissioners will discuss the problems of short selling with officials of the stock exchange. Describing the commission's attitude toward short selling, Kennedy said: "We are trying to keep an open mind, hearing arguments on both sides of the question. We will want suggestions from all sources."

Outlaw Bear Raiding.

Bear raiding, he pointed out, is outlawed.

The visiting group included all five commissioners: Kennedy, Ferdinand Pecora, James M. Landis, George C. Mathews, and Robert E. Healy; John J. Burns, counsel for the commission; David Saperstein, chief of the exchange and trading division; Frank J. Meehan and Leon Cohen, assistants.

They were taken in tow by officers and governors of the exchange to observe the routine of executing orders, particularly the work of the specialists. Only one member of the commission, Pecora, previously had observed the market first hand.

Kennedy expressed some disappointment at the dullness of the trading. The educational tour will be continued tomorrow at the New York Curb exchange and in visits to the Produce exchange, securities market, to over-the-counter dealers, and to commission houses.

Tells Commission's Plans.

Discussing the commission's plans, Chairman Kennedy said:

"We don't intend to get out any rules without full consideration. Temporary postponement of final rules on some questions beyond Oct. 1 is to be expected. I don't think that it is felt that the commission has either promulgated rules or indicated an attitude that would cause a drying up of the stock market."

When the commission has authority to investigate unusual fluctuations in the market it is likely that it will publish the findings of its inquiries, Kennedy added.

14 FIRMS ON BIG BOARD FAIL TO REGISTER STOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—Fourteen corporations whose stocks are listed on the New York Stock exchange have failed to apply for registration under rules of the securities and exchange commission, it was disclosed today by publication of a supplementary list of applicants through the New York Stock exchange. A total of 1,205 issues have applied.

These are exclusive of foreign governments and corporations and domestic bankrupt companies, for which the exchange itself will file. The exchange also may apply on behalf of the other delinquents.

The stocks include four banks, one railroad, one insurance company, and eight utilities or industrials. The group follows: American Agricultural Chemical corporation of Connecticut, Art Metal Construction, Butte and Superior Mining, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, Fifth Avenue Bus Securities corporation, Mackay companies, Prairie Oil and Gas, Prairie Pipe Line, United Aircraft and Transport, Fifth Avenue Bank of New York, First National bank, Bank of New York and Trust company, Rossia Insurance, and the United States Trust company.

FREIGHT VOLUME OF ROCK ISLAND GAINS SHARPLY

Loadings of the Rock Island last week totaled 23,781 cars, compared with 17,854 in the preceding week and 20,051 a year ago. With the exception of the week ended Sept. 1, when traffic increased because of the impending holiday, and the week of June 30, when there was temporarily a heavy movement of grain, this was the heaviest week since October, 1932.

Other loadings for last week included 12,261 for the Wabash, a gain of 1,171 over the preceding week and 475 over a year ago. The Southern Pacific reported 25,892 against 23,325 and 25,185; Frisco 14,719 against 12,672 and 12,850; Pere Marquette 8,501 against 7,019 and 8,261, and the Illinois Central 26,657 against 25,842 and 27,456.

GRAINS RECEDE MODERATELY IN QUIET TRADING

Futures for Early Delivery Show Least Loss.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Trading in the grain markets was apathetic yesterday. Prices on the Chicago Board of Trade receded slightly on a meager volume of trade. Speculators found no incentive in the day's developments for important commitments on either side of the market.

The continued strength in the cash grain market, which has been the striking feature of the trading for several weeks, was reflected in the price trend yesterday. Future contracts calling for early delivery of grain declined less than the more distant futures. The losses in wheat futures ranged from ⅛ to ⅜ cent, with the May future, the latest contract now traded in showing the largest loss.

September Wheat at $1.04.

September wheat closed at $1.04, or only ¼ cent under the December delivery. May wheat closed at $1.04½ and is now selling only 2½ cents above a year ago.

The May future in corn was down ⅝ cent, while December lost only ⅛ cent and closed at 77⅝ cents. September and December oats are currently selling at premiums over the May future. The latter declined slightly more than the earlier deliveries yesterday, with losses ranging from ⅛ to ⅜ cent. September rye moved counter to the general trend and advanced 1¼ cents, while the December contract improved a fraction. With Canadian rye selling out of line for importation and holders of Polish rye showing no inclination to sell out, the market for the grain is showing a better tone.

U. S. to Buy Pacific Wheat.

News of the tentative plan of the federal government to purchase from 5,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels of soft wheat in the Pacific northwest for relief purposes was regarded as significant by grain dealers.

Normally, because of high freight costs, wheat from that area does not compete with other sections of the country. In recent weeks, however, it has been competing in the eastern and southeastern markets with the red winter wheat of the middle west.

Another important development is the speeding up in the seeding of the new winter wheat crop in the southwest. Great concern over the outlook for next season's crop had been felt because of the aridity of the soil in the southwest and the delay in preparing the land for the fall planting.

With the drouth definitly broken in that region by the recent rains, seeding is now progressing more satisfactorily. The soil is in favorable condition, and in Kansas about 10 per cent of the acreage is said to be already planted.

Reports from southern Illinois state that farmers are busy sowing wheat and that a larger acreage is indicated.

MUTUAL BENEFIT FIRMS ORDERED TO MAKE CHANGES

The Beacon Mutual Benefit association, 6 North Clark street, was ordered by the Illinois department of insurance to levy assessments in the future only in accordance with the mutual benefit act, to settle claims only in accordance with the provisions of certificates and in conformity with the statute, and to discontinue immediately the acceptance of advance assessments, according to a report issued yesterday.

The management was also ordered to revise its investments in mortgage loans prior to July 1, 1935, in order to comply with the 1933 investment act for mutual benefit associations.

Directors of New Home Benefit association, 330 South Wells street, were ordered to see that personal checks of officers recorded as assets be deposited in the regular manner to the credit of the association. Attention was called to the fact that officers were not properly bonded and that records of the association were inadequate.

The report disclosed that the guarantee fund had fallen below statutory requirements, and reminded officers that all disbursements as well as all assessments, must be authorized by the board of directors. The association also was ordered to make its investments in accordance with the law.

French Broker Is Elected to Board of Trade Here

LARD PRICES HOLD DESPITE DECLINE IN GRAIN AND HOGS

Despite the weakness in grains and a sharp recession in hog prices at the stockyards there was relatively little pressure on lard futures yesterday.

Scattered selling by commission houses was quickly absorbed by cash interests and closing prices were unchanged from Monday's finish. A continuous good demand for cash lard was reported, while New York cleared 1,133,000 pounds for export.

Offerings of bellies were slightly larger, with the close unchanged to 5 cents lower. Dry salted meats continue to be taken freely by distributors. Cash lard was quoted at $9.40, loose $9.42, and leaf $10.50, while bellies were held at $14.60. Prices follow:

URGES AD CAMPAIGN TO TELL TRUTH ABOUT CHEAP POWER PLANS

A subscription to raise a $1,000,000 fund for newspaper advertising to tell the "true" story of the New Deal and its cheap power program of the Tennessee valley and elsewhere was urged yesterday by Carroll B. Huntress, president of the Appalachian Coals, Inc., of Cincinnati, O., one of the largest coal marketing organizations in the world. He spoke before the convention of the International Railway Fuel association at the Hotel Sherman.

"Once the true story is told in the highways and byways of America the people will take care of the situation," he said. "They always have done so, and, fundamentally, human nature has not changed.

"The American is not so much interested in a New Deal as in a square deal, and it would not be difficult, through a straightforward presentation of the facts, to convince voters that the hydro program not only is not a square deal but that it smacks of all that is repulsive to Americanism. You men have not seen any losses yet such as you would if the present hydro program of the government is permitted to materialize."

He urged the financial interests of the country to subscribe to the fund which would be used in newspaper advertising to explain the government's program and its affect on industry.

FARMERS' CO-OP RECOUPS LOSSES FOR LAST YEAR

$683,128 Profit Made in July and August.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Net profits of the Farmers' National Grain corporation for July and August this year more than offset the coöperatives' losses for the 1933 fiscal year. This was revealed yesterday by C. E. Huff, president of the corporation, in his report to the board of directors attending the organization's annual meeting at the Palmer house.

In reporting a steady and substantial growth of the coöperative grain marketing movement, Mr. Huff said: "Operations of the corporation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, showed a loss of $662,503, after charging off liberal depreciation and absorbing a number of nonrecurring losses. The capital of the corporation, $1,048,200, was unimpaired, surpluses totaling $64,178 and reserves $910,583.

Handle 40,000,000 Bushels.

"During the period from July 1 to Aug. 31, 1934, however, the corporation handled 40,169,108 bushels of grain, in the face of the shortest cereal crop within two generations, and made a net profit of $683,182, more than equal to last year's loss."

The Agricultural Adjustment administration was commended for its contemplated plan to buy between 5,000,000 and 15,000,000 bushels of soft wheat in the Pacific northwest area for relief use during the coming winter, by stockholders of the Farmers National Grain corporation in a series of resolutions passed yesterday afternoon. The resolution points out that this would remove the price depressing surplus from that territory, and its threat to the eastern price structure.

The stockholders voted to request President Roosevelt and Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, to use the powers granted them by congress to keep out foreign produced grains so as to expedite the restoration of parity farm prices, unless and until it is shown that existing domestic supplies are inadequate.

Work for Parity Prices.

The stockholders pledged support to any reasonable plan that will bring parity to agriculture. They also urged legislation at the next session of congress extending and redefining the rights of coöperatives on contract markets "including limiting, trading under future contract." The aim is to eliminate excessive speculative transactions, with their menace to commodity values, according to the resolution.

C. H. Huff was reëlected president for the fifth time. G. C. Johnstone of Bloomington, Ill., was selected as first vice president, succeeding W. H. Settle of Indianapolis, Ind., who retired from the board. L. L. Hague of Cherokee, Okla., was reëlected secretary.

START TRADING IN TOBACCO FOR DELIVERY LATER

New York, Sept. 18.—The New York Tobacco Exchange, Inc., will begin trading at 11:30 tomorrow morning at 90 Broad street, when John W. Hanes, of Charles D. Barney & Co., president of the new futures market, lets his gavel fall.

This will be the first time transactions have been made in tobacco futures on an organized market in the history of the industry. It will be preceded by brief ceremonies in which a representative of the city administration and officials of the exchange will participate. Representatives of the department of agriculture, of other exchanges and of leading brokerage and trade interests are expected to attend the inauguration of trading.

The initial transaction is expected to be in tobacco for January delivery, and the price will be based upon spot quotations for flue-cured leaves of the type officially designated as the contract basis by the exchange.

HOGS DECLINE AS FRESH PORK HALTS UPTURN

Reduced Supply Adequate for Trade Needs.

The hog market turned reactionary yesterday and lost 10 to 15 cents of Monday's advance, with the close sluggish and at the lowest level of the day. Failure of the fresh pork trade to continue the advance started at the opening of the week made smaller interests cautious, and sellers found that the reduced receipts were adequate for all immediate needs of the trade.

Buyers forced a decline in the face of a 21 per cent decrease in receipts for the first two days of the week at the leading packing centers. The run at eleven markets for Monday and yesterday at 121,000 head showed a decrease of 33,000 compared with the first two market days of last week, a decrease of 25,000 compared with a year ago, and a 61,000 shortage compared with two years ago.

Supplies Abnormally Low.

The movement of supplies has again dropped to record lows for this time of the year, and sellers contend that only a heavier movement of spring pigs can hold off a recovery in hogs. Some hogs were carried over for later in the week by farmers who refused to accept lower bids in face of the dwindling supplies.

Trading in pork was reported to be a little slower at Monday's quotations, with top light loins up to 17 cents as against 15 cents at the close of last week and 25 cents at the high spot two weeks ago.

Selected 220 to 250 pound butchers cost packers $9.60 yesterday, including the $2.25 tax to the federal government, leaving $7.35 for the farmer on the market for top grades of hogs. Farmers obtained an average of $6.85 for droves that cost packers $9.10, while for packing sows that cost the packer $8.35 to $8.90 farmers were returned $6.10 to $6.65.

Cattle Average Lower.

Very few grain fed steers were in yesterday's cattle receipts and these met good demand at strong prices. Weakness was found in spots in the market for the oversupply of cattle that had been fed only on grass, and some sellers considered the market for stock under $7 slightly lower in some instances. Native offerings of these kinds came in competition with the 2,500 western grass cattle. About 31 per cent of yesterday's commercial cattle consisted of stock right off the range.

A string of 50 medium weight steers averaging 1,250 pounds topped the market at $10.25, but comparatively little of the supply was of the class to sell above $9.50.

The bulk of steers cashed within the range of $5.50 to $9, with some common natives of beef merit downwards to $3.50. A few ill bred steers sold at $3 and less.

About 12,000 of yesterday's 18,000 sheep receipts came off the range. Prices were strong and in places packers paid more for lambs than at the low time of Monday.

Selected native lambs to packers ranged upwards to $6.75, as against a top of $6.50 to these interests the previous day. The bulk cashed at $5.50 to $6.50, with buck lambs at $4.50 to $5.50 and culls at $5 and below.

TRADE TREATIES TO AID ILLINOIS SELL CORN, HOGS

Hope to Gain Foreign Markets for Lard.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Illinois will profit most from the reciprocal trade treaties now being negotiated in the sale of her corn and hogs. But if the Illinois farmer expects new markets for his products, Washington holds out little hope for him.

L. A. Wheeler, chief of the foreign service of the bureau of agricultural economics, who is seeking to guard the interests of the American farmer at treaty parleys, said today the administration's chief concern in obtaining preferred status for its exports was not to find new customers but to recover its old ones.

The Cuban pact has been completed and under consideration are treaties with Brazil, Costa Rica and other small Central and South American nations.

Chief Treaties Still to Come.

These treaties, Wheeler said, are curtain raisers for the big ones to follow: treaties with the United Kingdom, Germany, the Netherlands, and Italy. The first two countries are considered by Wheeler as America's A1 export customers. Cuba, Germany, and the United Kingdom, in the old days, probably bought more American lard than all the rest of the world put together, Wheeler said.

"And that is because," he explained, "the corn belt can produce it cheaper and better than any other nation in the world. Illinois, Iowa and Missouri are especially equipped to throw corn into hogs and fatten them in such a way that they produce a quality of lard which our foreign neighbors need to save them from undernourishment."

Britain Uses Much Lard.

The flow of corn belt lard into Great Britain, Wheeler continued, has continued unabated, and it would have continued into Cuba and Germany, he added, if those nations hadn't fallen upon evil days economically.

"The last two put tremendous duties on American lard," he said, "for the probable reason that their trade balance wouldn't stand the imports.

"Take Cuba as an example. In 1929 that nation imported 80,000,000 pounds of lard. There was only a cent and a half per pound duty. But by last year they had increased the duty to ten cents per pound, and the importation of American lard fell to 11,000,000 pounds. Now that the duty goes back approximately to where it was in 1929 we can expect a steady improvement in the Cuban lard market.

"The situation is similar in Germany. Officials there have imposed a duty on American lard as stiff as that of Cuba."

URGE RESUMING SILVER FUTURES TRADING IN N. Y.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 18.—A group of "die hard" silver members of the Commodity Exchange, Inc., are circulating a petition to reopen a silver futures market here, which they intend to place in the hands of the governing committee as soon as enough names are attached. Meanwhile other members are actively pushing plans to create silver futures markets in Toronto and Montreal.

The plea for a reopening of the silver market here is based on the theory that there is nothing in the President's decree to prevent trading in silver futures nor to deter traders from importing metal to make deliveries under the contracts entered into.

The proponents of this scheme argue that while American trading in silver futures has undeniably been much reduced by the government's nationalization of all metal in this country on Aug. 9, and will never be restored to its former levels unless existing laws are changed, the volume of business representing foreign dealings in metal can be recaptured owing to the less satisfactory facilities in London and Shanghai.

Why work in air that's Drier than the Sahara?
